

OPPORTUNITIES.

Work while yet the daylight shines, man of strength and will; Never should the streamlet glide useless by the mill. Wait not till to-morrow's sun beams upon the way, All that thou canst call thine own lies in thy to-day. Power and intellect and health may not always last; "The mill cannot grind with the water that is past."

Oh, the wasted hours of life which have drifted by, Oh, the good that might have been, lost without a sigh; Love that we might once have saved by a single word; Thoughts conceived, but never penned, perishing unheard. Take the proverb to thine heart, take and hold it fast. "The mill cannot grind with the water that is past."

OLD FOGYISM.

The rubs, disappointments and sorrows of a hard world make lotus land a necessity, and what most interests us is always seen through a lotus land mist. Youth looks forward, age backward, through this magical haze. What is ambition in the one becomes old foggism in the other, and both are living in air-castles and develop their best thoughts and actions in this unreal abode. Fashion has changed much, but it has not changed the deeper tissue of the heart, or the deeper nerve organization of the brain. It has written the ban against sentimentalism, but real sentiment remains untouched by its decrees. Fashion itself has its old foggy dreams, and the world-hardened cynical old dowager herself, who has closed her ears to praise or censure, nods paralytically before her fire, and finds her lotus land in the flaming coals. An old foggy is not old, though he be a patriarch as to years; age may have shriveled his flesh, robbed him of his teeth and distorted his joints with rheumatism, but the sap of youth is untouched in his heart. He is the real and only successful alchemist; he has discovered the virgin earth called "old foggism," and by its aid is enabled to convert all the baser metals of life into pure and uncorrupted gold. (Boston Gazette.)

—Half an hour after a painter had finished painting the front steps of a house on Fremont street, and had put up a board with the warning "paint!" in large letters, a boy came along and gave the job a thorough looking over. Had the painter painted, or had he not? Did that sign on the board mean paint on the steps or around in the back yard? He pondered over these things for a long five minutes, and then decided to investigate. If this was an old gag, all right, if it was a new wrinkle he wanted to catch on early.

Without stopping to spit on his hands the boy boldly advanced up the walk, removed the board, and walked up the five steps and down again. He left tracks and he smelt paint, but it needed more than this to convince him. A woman came around by the side-gate. She had the broom raised over her head in both hands. She brought the brush part down on the boy's head as if she meant to drive his heels through the pine planks, and as he fell against a tree-box and rolled into the gutter she yelled: "Them steps has been painted!" "Y-es," replied the boy as he started off for a walk, "but I wouldn't hardly have believed it!"

—No woman will love a man better for being renowned or prominent. Though he be the first among men, she will be prouder, not fonder; as is often the case, she will not even be proud. But give her love, appreciation, kindness, and there is no sacrifice she would not make for his content and comfort. The man who loves her well is her hero and king. No less a hero to her, though he is not to any other; no less a king, though his only kingdom is her heart and home. It is a man's own fault if he is unhappy with his wife, in nine cases out of ten. It is a very exceptional woman who will not be all she can to an attentive husband, and a very exceptional one who will not be very disagreeable if she finds herself willfully neglected.

—"I should like to write for your paper," said a brisk young man who asked to see the editor. "Bless you, my boy," said the penpusher, emerging wearily from a wrestling match, catch-as-catch-can, with the name of a Russian general, "you need not write for it; just hand your money to the cashier, first door to the right, and he'll send it to you all right," and he plunged into a sea of exchanges, while the young man, after falling into the coal closet and walking into a wardrobe, managed to find the door leading to the street and escaped with what money he had about him.

It is impossible to ascertain how far virtue will predominate until opposed by temptation.

WOLFVILLE, APRIL 16.

THE BOOKSTORE!

Eagle Building, Wolfville, MAY 19th, 1885.

Riel has been captured and the papers announce that the Rebellion in the North West is practically at an end. This is encouraging news and makes all loyal people feel good, but it is only a cipher in comparison to the joy we have felt during the last few months as we have supplied our customers with Room Paper at less than cost and seen them depart full of that joy and happiness which can only come to those who feel that they have done a good deed.

True it does not pay in dollars and cents to sell at cost but it does pay in the satisfaction we have of making families happy and homes clean and pleasant.

And still the great work goes on. People are coming daily and hourly to buy. They do so and go away happy. Probably never in the history of Wolfville has Room Paper been sold so cheaply as now. We have been (and will continue till our present stock is exhausted) selling our papers at the same prices as we paid for it at the factory in England. You cannot afford to lose the opportunity.

Just think of it, Room Paper at one-third the price you have been paying all your lives. Oh verily, in the words of Burdette, what is home without its wall paper.

We have no second price and ours is a "bona fide" cash sale. Come early! come 3 or 8 times a day, but come! and we will make you smile.

Ever keeping in mind the fact that we must work for the welfare of our customers we have after two years of patient waiting been enabled to secure the services of Mr. John F. Herbin to carry on a Watch Making and Jewellery business here. We can assert confidently that although he has spent two years and a half in the west he is perfectly harmless and that he can clean and repair your watch and repair your Jewellery with that neatness and thoroughness which can only be attained from a life-long study and practice of the trade. Give us a call and see for yourself. All his work is guaranteed and must give satisfaction.

When you come for your room paper at one-third the usual price bring that Watch that wont go and that clock that points to half past six and strikes 25 when it is only 3:15 and you will be able to get to Church in time to make a full inventor of Deacon Smith's wife's spring bonnet and silk dress and Squire Jones' whole outfit before your beloved pastor has thought of commencing on sixtieth. Oh yes time is a great herb but must be correct in its habits to be properly appreciated.

By the way, if John wants a new School Book you might also bring some change with you for we can fit him all out for the next term in about two minutes; and who knows but that he may some day be some kind of a governor if he lives and uses our books to advantage.

Ours is a work of love and we are bound to do it so long as people have homes to beautify, children to educate, and watches, clocks and jewellery that wont keep time.

Don't forget, we live in the Eagle Building and it is next door to the Oni n House.

Beware of cheap imitations. Ask for the Western Book & News Co.'s and see that our name is on the sign over the door. None other is genuine. Yours, muchly,
