As it is proposed to make this publication a notional and not a local work, it will unflinchingly sdvocate all questions affecting the Common interests of our Colonies as an Integral portion of the British Empire.

An experience of several years in supplying the reading public of Canada with the serial publications of the United States, convinces the projector of this periodical, that they are entirely inadequate to the wants of the majority, and little calculated to form or improve the literary taste of a people escentially different in their feelings and principles from those for whom these Periodicals are prepared; and believing that the enterprise will meet with encouragement from those for whose pleasure and information it is designed, he trusts that the experiment will realize his expectations.
