"Well, the next morning Mother brewed it about five minutes, just as se had been in the habit of doing with offee without paying special attenion to the directions printed on the backage. It looked weak and didn't lave a very promising color, but nevertheless father raised his cup with an air of expectancy. It certainly did give him a great surprise, but one, for he put down his cup with look of disgust.

"Mother wasn't discouraged though and next morning gave it another 'rial, letting it stand on the stove till boiling began and then letting it boil for fifteen or twenty minutes, and Many Eskimo this time we were all so pleased with it that we have used it ever since.

"Father was a confirmed dyspeptiand a cup of tea or coffee was to him like poison. So he never drinks it any more, but drinks Postum regularly. He isn't troubled with dyspepsia now and is actually growing 'at, and I'm sure Postum is the cause of it. All the children are allowed
