Victoria, B. C., Paper Criticises Mrs. Tate for Exaggerating Indian Practices – What the Lady Says.

Tate for Exaggerating Indian

Practices — What the Lady Says.

The Victoria, B. C., Colonist of a recent date contains the following: "The Colonist yesterday morning published a highly sensational story of the manners and customs of the Indians of British Columbia, told to the people of the Eastern Provinces by Mrs. C. M. Tate, wife of Rev. Mr. Tate, formerly of Chilliwhack. The account selescribed the natives of the Province as living in the vilest barbarism, and was calculated to create surprise, especially here, where the facts of the case are well known." The paper then goes on to relate an interview with a gentleman, purporting to have been a resident in the Province for the last 30 years, and during the entire period, thrown in close contact with the Indian opulation. Among other things he said: "The reporter must have misunderston Mrs. Tate, and made her say traditions of the past were recent occurrences. I never heard of any cannibalism at any time, cannibalism, as I understand it, being the killing of people for the sake of eating them. The nearest approach to it was a practice at the medicine feasts, more than 40 years ago, and never since, of killing slave or exhuming a corpse and using it in the savage religious ceremony. An arm or some other member would be torn out, and the pretense made of, eating it, though in reality it was never devoured. This practice prevailed among all the tribes of the coast, from Cape Mudge up to the Alaskan boundary. I could safely take my oath that Mrs. Tate did not, as she has stated, see the orgies she has described. They were simply legends given a modern date.

Mrs. Tate has been in this city for the past week, as a delegate to the annual meeting of the Women's Methodist Mission Society, and was rather surprised when shown the above by an Adventisem reporter. She said she had spoken in Toronto and Hamilton, describing the customs of native Indians of British Columbia. Eight years age she had seen the cannibal feast-spoken of on the Cokuk island. The Indians would w the influence of civilization. The custom of beating old women to death with the "decil's club" was practiced by the triber

The interview of the Colonist concludes as follows: "What seems strangest to me is that in all the 25 years that Mr. and Mrs. Tate have been in the Province they have never told any of their wonderful dis coveries to the Indian Department, reserving them for the astonishment of caster audiences." Mrs. Tate, on reading this said the Indian Department would naturally report back denying the truth of any statement made of such atrocities. She was prepared to stand by what she had said, and her remarks applied to the present as well as the past although in the former case the heathenish orgies were perpetrated where civilization had little restraint on the natives. Of course in the parts inhabited by whites the condition of affairs was entirely different.

affairs was entirely different.

A London Citizen Honored.

Mr. Wm. C. Coo, official court reporter and principal of the Western Ontario Shorthand Academy, was called upon yesterday by Mr. L. C. Smith, of Syracuse, the inventor and manufacturer of the world-renowned Smith Premier Typewriter. Although this machine has been in use on the other side for a number of years, no agent has been appointed in Canada, the demand being so great the manufacturers could not supply the home market. Additions have been lately made to the works, and Mr. Smith is now in Canada appointing agents. A glance at Mr. Coo's establishment at once convinced Mr. Smith that he was the right man to handle the best typewriter in the world, and he got the agency. Our official stenographer feels proud over the appointment. In conversation with our representative he stated he would not have been called upon by Mr. Smith had it not been for the influence of one of his graduates who occupies an important position in Syracuse, and who put in a good word for the Western Ontario Shorthand Academy. Mr. Smith thought a school that could send out such a elever graduate must necessarily have a competent stenograper and typewriter expert at the academy, will take great pleasure in exhibiting the Smith Premier to anyone whe takes an interest in typewriters.—Advt.
