The Washburn Railroad
With its superb and magnificent train service is now acknowledged to be the most perfect railway system in America, the great winter tourist route to the south and west, including the famous Hot Springs of Arkansas, Old Mexico (the Egypt of the new world), Texas and California (the land of sunshine and flowers). Passengers going by the Washburn line reach their destination in advance of other routes. Washburn trains reach more large cities than any other railroad in the world. Detailed information will be gladly furnished by any railroad agent or J. A. Richardson, northeast corner King and Yonge streets, Toronto.

FAGGED OUT.—None but those who have become fagged out know what a depressed, miserable feeling it is! All strength has gone, and despondency has taken hold of the sufferers. They feel as though there was nothing to live for. There, however, is a cure—one box of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will do wonders in restoring health and strength. Mandrake and Dandelion are two of the articles entering into the composition of Parmelee's Pills.

—The Baconian Club held its opening meeting on Saturday night. Mr. J. A. Cottam was elected president. Mr. J. H. Price was elected secretary. Mr. A. Casey secretary. A reading by Mr. C. R. Sayer, and a digest of Bellamy's "Social Equality," by Mr. R. A. Gray, formed the programme. Rev. M. P. Talking, who has removed to Toronto, was elected an honorary member. The club refused to accept the resignation of Mr. C. G. Jarvis, one of its ablest debaters and critics.

—Russell Westman, the young lad who fell from a tree in the exhibition grounds some eight weeks ago, sustained a fracture of the arm and leg, is having a hard time of it at the general hospital. The wound was not at the time, and last week, when the plaster was taken off, it was ascertained that the bones had not been placed together at all, and a kind of slatted the youthful patient going on the operating table. The leg, when the plaster case was taken off, was extremely sore.

—Many friends of the family will regret to hear of the death of Helen Frances, relict of the late Wm. Carroll, of Dorchester, who died at her home she had resided with her son since her husband's death. Mrs. Carroll met with an accident about a year ago, and since then has been a great sufferer, as a result of severe injuries received at that time. Some two weeks ago deceased was taken to the general hospital, where, despite the best attention, she passed away on Sunday night. The funeral takes place tomorrow.

—Rev. Richard Hobbs, speaking on "Future Punishment" last night, at the Askin Street Methodist Church, said that Jesus was a man of peace, and asked if there was needed greater punishment than to be in outer darkness, with the angels and devils.

But as though God had put it on earth to refute the argument of men that there can be no eternal, yet never consuming fire, that is a kind of fire that would burn continually, yet come out of the fire, having lost none of its weight.

—Mrs. Jane H. Sparkman, the relict of Dr. Sparkman, died at her residence, London West, on Thursday last. Mrs. Sparkman was 82 years of age. She was the last of a long line of the Sparkman settlers who came to the London district more than half a century ago.

—Mrs. Sparkman was born at Landy Lane in 1815, where the famous battle was fought in 1812 between the American and British forces. Dr. Sparkman was connected with the British service, and for a long time had an extensive practice in London and surrounding districts.

—The Froebel Society, which consists of the kindergarten teachers of the city, held one of its sociable gatherings in the South London Kindergarten school Saturday evening. These gatherings, to which they invite a large number of friends, are becoming more popular and largely attended.

That on Saturday evening was a very sociable and enjoyable affair. The programme differed from those given in the past, and was a kind of "At Home," to indulge in games and amusements in accordance with Hall's suggestion.

will reside with his son, Dr. Allan McLaughlin, who has acquired a good medical practice at Berrien Springs, Mich. On Wednesday evening, about 40 members of the Iron Molders' Union—of which Mr. McLaughlin had been treasurer for eight years—met at Labor Hall, and in a social, informal way, expressed their regret at losing the companionship and good services of their esteemed comrade, at the same time presenting him with a handsome gold-mounted cane, bearing a suitable inscription. Mr. McLaughlin made a happy response, and the company adjourned to the McClary Club rooms, where supper was served, and an hour or two spent in a pleasant way. By the departure of Mr. McLaughlin the Liberal cause in London loses a life-long adherent and a courageous and zealous worker.

HAMILTON ROAD ANNIVERSARY.

The Hamilton Road Methodist Church held their anniversary services yesterday, and they were the most successful in the history of the church. Rev. R. Warner, principal of Alma College, St. Thomas, preached morning and evening. Morning subject, "The Gospel and the Poor"; evening, "The Good Fight of Faith." Each discourse was well received, and was full of inspiration and encouragement. Rev. E. B. Lancelotti preached in the afternoon on "Development and Growth of Christianity." All three services were well attended, especially that of the evening, when the ushers were dressed in place chairs in the aisles. The collections were large, and will greatly help in lifting the mortgage from the church, which the officials expect to do this week. The pastor, Rev. J. G. Fallis, since his arrival last July, has been constantly growing in popularity in that community, and at the rate the congregation is increasing the trustees should soon see their way clear to pull down the present structure and erect a large and more up-to-date church. A good time is expected tonight at their old-fashioned test meeting, at which a splendid programme will be rendered.

Dedication Services.

First Worship in the Wortley Road Baptist Church.

The Beautiful Edifice Crowded to Overflowing—Sermons by Chancellor Wallace and Rev. J. G. Stuart, B. A.

The new Wortley Road Baptist Church was opened yesterday with interesting services, at which of which the beautiful building was crowded. All available space was occupied, and at both morning and evening services many were obliged to turn away, unable to gain admittance. It was an auspicious occasion. General admiration was expressed regarding the architectural beauty of the edifice and the appearance and convenience of the church interior. During the evening service the pastor, Rev. W. M. Walker, voiced the satisfaction which the gifted professor delivered earnest and appropriate sermons. At the special service in the afternoon, Rev. J. G. Stuart, B.A., of Knox Presbyterian Church, delivered an able discourse, thoroughly in keeping with the occasion.

Rev. O. C. S. Wallace, chancellor of McMaster University, occupied the pulpit yesterday morning and evening, and the gifted professor delivered earnest and appropriate sermons. At the special service in the afternoon, Rev. J. G. Stuart, B.A., of Knox Presbyterian Church, delivered an able discourse, thoroughly in keeping with the occasion.

Rev. Mr. Walker, of Tavistock, father of the pastor, delivered the dedicatory prayer. In the morning Rev. Mr. Wallace chose as his text Acts II, 1 to 4. After describing the meeting of the disciples in the upper room at Jerusalem on the day of Pentecost and the descent of the Holy Spirit, manifesting himself in a rushing wind and tongue-shaped flames, the speaker pointed out that the baptism of the Holy Spirit adapted them and gave them power for the great work to which the Lord had called them. In discussing the subject he spoke first of a people prepared, then of a people expectant. In the preparation of this the elements of the Christian faith were conspicuous—love, faith and obedience. There could be no lasting or saving faith, no grateful or self-denying love, without its basis self-surrender and obedience. The faith of the disciples was in a person rather than in a doctrine. Not that they understood Christ's teachings, nor the path he would lead them. But they were ready to obey his word and to continue their journey in his power, and love. They were not only obedient and true, but also expectant. Faith holds on, hope leads on. Both under the new and old dispensations believers have been taught to expect blessings to come. The ancient prophets were full of expectation. Christians have been supported in all ages and times of doubt and darkness by the expectation of the second coming of Christ. That which is true in the large is true also in the less. Every Christian should live attuned to the song "It is better farther on." What is true of the church and individual life should be true of the individual church. The equipment of these disciples came from the baptism of the Holy Spirit. It was this which gave them power not competent to be witnesses for him. When given, they were enabled to meet all responsibilities and seize opportunities for work. Each individual was qualified. The symbol of this was the tongue-shaped flame which rested on each of them. They were also equipped collectively by baptism, the breaking of bread and prayer. And they were equipped for a service which the Gallaecians were able to speak in other tongues as the Spirit gave them utterance, thus bringing the gospel to those about them. In those days, said the speaker, the method by which the Spirit was manifested differed from that of the present time, but the effect was the same. In closing, he expressed the hope that this church might be like the upper room in Jerusalem—a place where the Holy Spirit would reveal himself to an expectant people, equipping them for service in the community in which they lived and in communities more remote.

The building fund was considerably swelled by liberal collections. Tonight and tomorrow night evangelistic services, to which all are cordially invited, will be conducted by Rev. W. W. Weekes, the talented pastor of Walmer Road Baptist Church, Toronto. The regular services next Sunday will be in charge of Rev. M. McKay, the first pastor of the old Wortley Road Church, and Rev. Ira Smith, of the Talbot Street Baptist Church.
