To those who contemplate investing their money in some of these lots, a brief description of the town of Morris may be interesting. The original town site was surveyed out in No. 1 that time the only buildings here were a few small houses. Since then it has steadily grown, till now it claims to be the fourth largest town in the Province. Morris is stuated on the west bank of Red River, midway between the international boundary line and the city of Winnipeg. Its location is high, and is surrounded by pictaresque stuated on the west bank of Red River, midway between the international boundary line and the city of Winnipeg. Its location is high, and is surrounded by pictaresque scenery. The town is thoroughly drained by the Red and Morris (or Scratching) Rivers, both of which run through and alongside the town site. In the immediate vicinity of the town is plenty of sand, linestone, and first-class clay for brick miking. At the present time the following businesses and influstries are represented here: A flour and grist mill, town is plenty of stone; a large saw mill, capable of turaing out 2 0.00 test of ok k lum per per day; four general stores, a wholesale liquor store, a boot and shoe shop, a with four run of stones; a large saw mill, capable of turaing out 2 0.00 test of ok k lum per per day; four general stores, a through soles, two blacksmith and carriage merchant tailor, a weekly newspaper and job printing office, two physicians, a harness shop, a tin and hardware store, stationery and fancy goods store, two blacksmith and carriage shops, two lumber yards, four builders and contractors. Ine buildings here are all substantially built, a number of them being of solid brick walls. During the past year new buildings were erected and improvements made to old ones to the amount of over $75,000. Morris is so favorably located that the Government has chosen it as the county seat of Morris County, and has selected it for the office of the County Court. Next year a registry office will be established here.

The country surrounding Morris is thickly settled by industrious and thrifty farmers. The land is the best, and not surpassed by any other part of the world for the growing

COMMUNICATIONS.

At the present time this town is without railway communication, but we have every confidence that within the next year a line running through this town-s Manitoba. Central-will be under contract, and the work of construction commenced, which line will give us communication with the north, west and south, and in all probability to the east, connecting with the South-western. Northern Pacific and Canada Pacific Railway. The Pembina Mountain branch of the C. P. R. passes to the west of Morris about five miles. During the navigation season, boats stop here on their way from Winnipeg to West Lynne, also on the return trip. The present winter a boat is to be built by a Morris firm, and be put on Red River next season.

Notwithstanding that we have, as yet, no railway facilities, influential capitalists feel so confident of the future of Morris that they have invested considerable of their money in real estate in the town. The price of town lots have risen in proportion, and those that could have been purchased at from $18 to $25 two years ago are now held at $50 to readily at from $400 to $600 each. Other lots have risen in proportion, and those that could have been purchased at from $18 to $25 two years ago are now held at $50 to $100. Next year, we venture to predict and feel confilent that our hopes will be realized, property in Morris will advance 100 per cent. above present value. If any doubting Thomas is suspicious as to the correctness of our statement in regard to the value of property here, they are at liberty to refer to any of the following gentle-men, residents of Winnipeg, who will give an uninterested opinion : Col W. N. Kennedy, Registrar of Selkirk ; S. Mulvey, Collector of Inland Revenue; Capt. D. H. Mc-men, residents of Winnipeg, who will give an uninterested opinion : Col W. N.
