SUPERIOUS fifty-cent pieces have made their appearance. They are made from a mould, and while a little thicker and lighter than the coins struck off in the mint, are an excellent counterfeit, having a good ring and appearance. They have been carefully prepared and are silver-plated, and would readily deceive the average person.

XMAS decorations of all kinds at MCCLAREN'S.

A WOODSTOCK dispatch dated Dec. 13 says—James Bryson, who came to Woodstock about three years ago from Watford, died at his residence this morning. He was well known to East End residents, and was employed at Hay & Co's factory. Left to mourn are his wife, and one married daughter, living in the West. The funeral will take place on Tuesday to the Methodist Cemetery.

MOVING picture shows are exhibiting a film purporting to be the sinking of the Lusitania. The Film Company bought a boat and took it with 150 expert swimmers. The boat was torpedoed by a pretended submarine and everybody fled. So the public are flocking to picture shows to see the faked sinking of the Lusitania.

We have a few dinner and tea sets that are worth more money than we are asking for them. What about one for Christ's sake?

MISS NESBITT will have her display of Christmas goods in Harper Bros. store, and will open Wednesday, Dec. 8th. A picture makes a handsome and useful gift. In my display of art work you will find it easy to choose a picture that suits your taste and purse, and in turn just as surely please the recipient. Also Christmas cards and dainty little novelties hand made and hand decorated. I kindly invite your inspection. n25-5t

THE willing workers of the Epworth League will hold a bazaar in Mr. Ross's vacant store on main street on Friday and Saturday of this week. They will offer for sale many beautiful and cheap articles suitable for Christmas presents, such as silk hand bags, pin cushions, yokes and centre pieces in tatting and crochet, boy's mitts, aprons, caps etc., call and see for yourself. Bazaar on Friday afternoon and evening. Home-made cooking sale on Saturday after-

SOME people have a hard time raising money for Christmas presents, others get them on credit and never pay, while others use someone else's money for the purpose. One of the latter class went on a still hunt for the needful on Saturday night between 9 and 10 o'clock. They paid Mrs. Ferguson's house a visit, and seeing her handbag borrowed a few dollars from it without leaving an I.O.U. or promissory note for the money. Probably they intend buying a handsome present for Mrs. Ferguson and will present it on Christmas day, but the good lady would rather spend the money herself if the thief will kindly return it.

TAGS and seals, gold and silver cord, cards, calendars and booklets at MCCLAREN'S.

THE appointment of a new Colonel for the 149th Battalion will no doubt be taken up by the Militia Department at once. Colonel F. Kenward, a former commander of the 27th Regt., would make a popular commander both with the officers and men of the new unit and also with the general public, and would have the respect and support of all parties. If the position is offered to him by the authorities he will no doubt accept. At a meeting of officers here the other evening all agreed that Col. Kenward would be very acceptable as a commanding officer should the Minister of Militia set fit to appoint him. Col. Kenward has had long experience in military matters having served in the 27th from the ranks to the command, and is a man of considerable executive ability. It is to be hoped that the militia authorities will not overlook the name of Col. Kenward when considering the naming of a new commander for Lambton's unit.

GREEK raisins 12½c, California seed ed raisins 12½c, 15c, Nabob black currants 15c, choice peels 30c, shelled walnuts 60c, almonds 60c. Everything for Christmas baking at usual prices. We bought early and give you the benefit of the saving.—HOWDEN EST.

TURKEYS 21 cents.

"MURPHY'S SQUAD" will give a good account of itself when it gets to the front. DR. BRAITHWAITE will occupy the pulpit of the Cong'l churches next Sunday.

OPEN evenings from Saturday 18th to $1.50 at SWIFTS'.

CHRISTMAS falls on Saturday this year. It is always a fine thing when Sunday is "the day after."

THE flag at the Armory has been at half mast all week owing to the death of Lieut.-Col. Kelly, O. C. 149th Batt.

SURE, your neighbor may not object to loaning you his paper, but is it nice to be a borrower, even of a newspaper?

THEY say that Germany has invented pills to keep up the courage of the Teuton soldiers. More pink pills for pale people.

VACUUM CLEANERS $6.50; carpet sweepers $3.00 and $4.00; O-cedar mops $7.50 to $1.50 at HOWDEN'S.

PTE. HARRY WHITSTY slipped quietly into town on Wednesday. If he had let us know he was coming the people who would have met him and given him a welcome.

REV. R. W. KELLY, of Toronto, who occupied the pulpit of the Watford Baptist Church last Lord's day evening, will be the preacher at the evening service next Sunday.

MISS MARY MCKENZIE, sister of Capt. McKenzie, and Mrs. R. Caldwell, wife of Capt. R. Caldwell, of Petrolia, have left for England. Captains Caldwell and McKenzie are officers of the 149th Battalion which is now in England.

AFTER considerable delay the Grand Trunk Railway Co. has decided to proceed with the building of a new steel bridge over the track on Main street and also to assume all responsibilities that may arise from the work.

COMMENCING January 1st, of next year, tourists travelling from the United States into Canada in automobiles will be allowed to stay ten days without giving bond for their cars, instead of seven days as under the regulation in effect during the last few years.

HANDKERCHIEFS at SWIFTS' from one to fifty for a dollar.

As the imposition of a heavy postal rate necessitates the payment in advance of all American subscriptions at this time of the year we direct the attention of our American readers to the Address Labels on their Guide Advocate and ask them kindly to see that their subscriptions are paid in advance.

CORRESPONDENTS will please remember that Resolutions of Condolence come under the head of advertising and must be paid for by the line. Such items are only of interest to a limited number of people and not to the general public. The same rule applies to obituary notices.

POCKET KNIVES and razors bought before the price advances. Table cutlery and carving sets worth the money at HOWDEN'S.

All advance notices for entertainments of any kind published in the Guide-Advocate, whether an admission fee is charged or a collection taken up, are charged for at the rate of five cents per line. Six words make a line. Committees sending in such notices will kindly state who is responsible for payment.

At the last regular meeting of the Watford Chosen Friends held here on Tuesday evening of this week a resolution of heartfelt sympathy was unanimously passed for Mrs. R. G. C. Kelly and her family in this their present deep bereavement. The late Dr. Kelly was started his machine, and went back into the house. He complained to his wife about feeling dizzy, but he returned to the garage.

At 1.30 o'clock, the farmer who had called Dr. Kelly came into Watford to see what the delay was. He went to the garage and saw Col. Kelly lying beside the car. He called Lieut. Stapleford, who lives next door, and the two investigated. Dr. Newell, Dr. Siddall, and Rev. S. P. Irwin were called, but life was extinct before they arrived. The body was found lying alongside the car. From the fact that the colonel was lying on his back with his cap folded beneath his head it is thought that he felt death coming and from his medical experience knew there was not time to get to the house so lay down beside the car to die.

The late Col. Kelly was born in Brooke township and was educated in the Watford High School. He taught school for several years, but left the profession to study medicine. He graduated from the Western Medical School in 1898, and had been practicing to Watford ever since.

He was married June 27th, 1906, to Miss Florence Wishart, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wishart, at the church of St. James the Apostle in Montreal. He is survived by his wife and four small children, Gordon, Dorris, Constance and a baby in arms. Two brothers, Frederick and William at Imperial, Saskatchewan, and two sisters, Misses Grace and Lillian, also in the West, survive also.

He was greatly interested in military matters, and for some years commanded the Watford company in the 27th Regt. On the resignation of Lieut.-Col. Towers three years ago, Col. Kelly was placed in command. He was in charge at the time of his death. A few weeks ago he was offered the command of the 149th Battalion and accepted.

It is thought that the burden of responsibility shortened his life. His large practice consumed much of his time, and with the added responsibility of the battalion, he overtaxed his strength. He was capable and well thought of. His death was a decided shock to the community.

The late Col. Kelly came from fighting stock. His grandfather, Col. Campbell, was for many years in command of the 27th Regiment, and his uncle, Major Kelly, was also prominent in Ontario and in the West in military matters.

The Colonel was a man of sterling qualities, firm and gentlemanly, his

SUDDEN DEATH OF LIEUT.-COL. KELLY

The Popular Commander of the 149th Battalion Succumbs to Apoplexy

WATFORD AND DISTRICT DEEPLY SHOCKED AND GRIEVED BY HIS DEATH

Military Funeral Befitting A Colonel's Rank on Friday

The community was deeply shocked on Sunday morning when it became known that Lieut.-Col. R. G. C. Kelly, M.D., officer commanding the 149th Lambton Overseas Battalion had been found dead in his garage. Dr. Newell who was called on discovery of the body pronounced death due to apoplexy.

Dr. Kelly, who had an extensive medical practice, recently agreed to take over the command of the County of Lambton Battalion. For the past two weeks he has been attending numerous recruiting meetings.

On Friday evening he attended the memorial service in Strathroy and on Saturday he addressed a recruiting meeting in Petrolia and returned in his motor. He had no sleep, Friday night. On Saturday evening he went to the armory, and left shortly after 11 o'clock with Lieut. Stapleford for his home. He retired, but shortly after midnight a call came for him from the township and he got up and went to the garage. He started his machine, and went back into the house. He complained to his wife about feeling dizzy, but he returned to the garage.
