

Oct. he would have entered the 53rd year of his membership in Knox Church, Blinbrook, elected an elder, under the ministry of the late Mr. Cheyne he served thirty five years with wisdom and fidelity, he was intensely attached to the church of his fathers thoroughly read in its history, and though liberal in his views of its theology and polity he was impatient of all innovations having a worldward tendency.

In Knox congregation his word was mighty. Broad in his Scotch in conversation, in prayer his language was graceful, pure, eloquent, devout. He was a fine type of that grand old Scottish Presbyterianism which believed in life long pastorates and loyalty to pastors. One day he said to me "I have no patience with those who excuse themselves from waiting on ordinances, because their horses are needful of a rest, I gave mine a half days rest on Saturday that they might be fresh on Sabbath." He was married to Jane Menzie on the 18th day of February 1846. Member of a family of Cameronians an amiable and affectionate lady, she was a true helpmeet. His family of twelve, eight sons and four daughters, and his widow survive him. In closing a sermon the Rev. Mr. Wallen said "His was a long life, a good, a useful life. Of the great principles of the Christian religion he had a clear, a firm grasp, and could express these in lucid language. He made no parade of his religion, but he lived it, and that is best. To my predecessor and myself he was a true friend, I have been thinking how best I might seem up his Christian character. One sentence appears to my mind as just "He was honest, sober, just godly" mark thou the perfect and behold the upright the end of that man is peace." "The memory of the just is blessed." W. P. W.

A Farmer's Advice.

He Tells the People to Shun Imitations.

He Had Been Imposed Upon by an Unscrupulous Dealer With the Result that It Nearly Cost The Life of a Loved Member of His Family.

From the Woodstock, N.E. Sentinel.

A reporter of the Sentinel recently dropped into the Victoria Hotel looking for general news and to scan the register for arrivals. Among those present he noticed a well dressed farmer sitting reading a small pamphlet. The reporter asked the landlord if there was anything new, and being answered in the negative the farmer turned and addressed him. "Looking for news, eh? Well, sit down and I'll give you something worth publishing." The reporter was at once on the alert and the farmer continued, "You see this little book I hold in my hand? Well the title of it is 'Five Prize Stories' and there is more good sense in it than in half of the philosophical work of the day, and it don't lay in any of the stores either. Well about a year ago I got hold of another little book by the same authors entitled 'Four Generations' which I read carefully through and one very important thing I read in it was beware of imitations, just as I read in this little book. Now I wish to show how I had been taken in (deceived) and how I found it out and how near it came to costing me the dearest member of my household. Well to begin at the beginning, My name is Shepherd Banks, I reside 11½ miles from the village of Bristol, Carleton Co., N. B., and am a well-to-do farmer. For several years my wife was troubled with pains in the back and weakness of the kidneys. About two years ago she was taken very ill, the trouble taking the form of acute rheumatism. We consulted no less than three different doctors who, however, failed to help her. She continued to grow weaker and weaker, and the pains she endured were something terrible. For over a year she was unable to do a single thing about the house, and she had fallen away in weight from 180 to 130 pounds, and we despaired of her recovery. I happened to notice in one of the newspapers a testimonial of a similar cure through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I immediately got a couple of boxes. My wife began taking them, and by the time she had used these she began to gain appetite and her pains were much eased, and we began to have great hopes of an ultimate cure. I then went for another supply of the pills. This time I purchased them in bulk, paying 39 cents for 100 pills, which were taken from a large glass bottle. I took them home and my wife began their use. Soon after she began to grow worse again; the old pains returned severer than ever. We still continued the use of the pills until about a third of them were gone. About this time I got through the mail, along with my neighbors, the book entitled, "Four Generations," issued by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co. On reading it it did not take me long to find out that the pills I had bought in bulk were a fraud, as Dr. Williams Pink Pills are not sold in bulk, but in boxes with the trade mark on the wrapper. I went to the cupboard and taking down the box in which the pills were thrown it and its contents into the stove. I then went and procured a half dozen boxes of the genuine Pink Pills, and from the time my wife began their use there was an improvement in her condition. She used about twelve boxes altogether, and to-day there is no heartier or healthier woman in the neighborhood, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the standard medicine in our home. Publish this? Yes, it may do some other sufferer good. We are all thankful for what Pink Pills have done for us, but be sure you caution your readers against those vile imitations." The warning uttered by Mr. Banks is one that the public will do well to heed, for some unscrupulous dealers in different parts of the country try to impose upon the public by trashy imitations colored to present the appearance of the genuine Pink Pills. The public can always protect themselves by bearing in mind that the genuine pills are never sold by the dozen, hundred or ounce. They are always put up in boxes around which will be found full directions for their use, the whole enclosed in a label bearing the full trade mark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." If you want a medicine that will cure all diseases due to poor or watery blood, or shattered nerves, ask for the genuine Pink Pills, and take nothing else, no matter what some interested dealer who is looking for a larger profit may say.

Not an Evil.

"When it comes to choosing the least of two evils we generally choose the one we like best. There are no evils to decide between in sound life insurance, but one might choose the company he likes best. Do it."

"Yes, patience is a specific for many troubles, but there is no specific for family poverty that can anywhere near equal a good life insurance policy. This specific should be in every moral medicine chest everywhere. Is it a part of your cabinet of things needed in emergencies?"

The compound investment plan of that successful company, the North American Life, whose ratio of assets to liabilities and consequently of net surplus to liabilities exceeds that of any other Canadian company, is admirably adapted to meet the requirements of all classes of intending insurers.

Full particulars regarding this and its other advantageous plans of life insurance can be had by addressing Wm. McCabe, Managing Director, Toronto, Ont., or any of the company's agents.
