

a large extent. We have used lysol for some years, and are now using cresoline to a limited extent. Professor Amyot, of Toronto University, conducted a series of experiments for us last winter, and found that the germicidal powers of lysol and cresoline were strong. They are both commercial preparations, somewhat similar in nature, being saponified cresol mixtures.

In fixing a time limit after the Dublin fashion, we do not mean that in all cases the operator should wait for two or three hours after complete dilatation before applying the forceps, but we do mean that he should never wait longer.

Our chief aim in making rules as to certain time records is to secure uniformity in methods of procedure. For instance, we don't want a muscular and strenuous house physician to pull the head over the pelvic floor and through the vulva in five minutes. We don't want him to guess as to time, but use his watch, or the clock on the wall beside him, so as to know what progress he is making in a given time.—A. H. W.
