British Periodical Literature. REPULICATION OF THE

London Quarterly, the Edinburgh, the North British, and the Westminster Reviews. and Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine.

THESE periodicals are the critical of the British scholastic and literary world. By their criticisms, they aid readers in the selection of standard valuable books; and by the epitomes which they present, often obviate the necessity of consulting works too voluminous for general examination. They fill a place which American magazines cannot supply; for they discuss topics relating more strictly to the affairs political, religious, scientific, and literary, of the continent of Europe. They are conducted by the best talent of Great Britain; and are engaged with the most important questions which interest or agitate the civilized world. Whoever subscribes to them all, may read the ablest re-presentatives of the principal parties into which the people of Great Britain are divided.

The Edinburgh Review

is the exponent of the Whig party in Great Britain, having from its commencement advocated Freedom and the rights of the people.

The London Quarterly Review

was established to counteract that influence which its powerful rival exerted against their measures. The two great political parties thus made strenuous efforts through their respective organs, for the promulgation of their respective principles; and during a long series of years, these two leading Periodicals have concentrated the labors, the talent, and the influence of the adherents of the Whig and Tory parties of Great Britain.

Among the regular contributors to the London Quarterly Review were Southey, Scott, Lockhart, (its late editor), Apperley, Fer-guson, Wordsworth, Lord Mahon, Dr. Milman (whose articles on Oriental literature have been so highly esteemed), and that wonderful woman of science, Mrs. Somerville, with many others scarcely less celebrated. Then again in the Edinburgh Review, we may mention the following distinguished names, Jeffery, Napier, Brougham, Mackintosh, and Macaulay.

The Westminster Review.

This able Journal was established under the patronage and support of the ultra-liberals, so styled, of the British House of Ommons; among whom Roebuck, Mill, Bowring Professor Long of the London University, Miss Martineau, and others whose names need not be quoted, conspicuously figured. It was for some years under the editorial supervision of Jeremy Bentham, from which fact it obtained the sobriquet of the mouth piece of Benthamism. This work has ever been especially devoted to the great topics which interest the mass of the people: its pages have been rife, it will be remembered, with a series of powerful articles, tending to the reduction of Tory and exclusive privileges, hereditary rights, kingly prerogatives, &c. It has recently been united with the Foreign Quarterly Review, the more attractive features of the two Reviews being now combined in the Westminster, and thus adding greatly to its value as a literary periodical.

The North British Review

is a work of more recent origin than those already described—but is, nevertheless, destined to occupy as prominent a place in the Republic of Letters.

The great ecclesiastical movement in Scotland led to its establishment. The bases of this Journal is the Evangelism of the Nineteenth Century; nor is it to be overlooked as one of the striking characteristics of the times, that the grand principles which Robertson, Smith, and many of the eminent men of Scotland took the field a century ago to write down is now advocated and vindicated in this able work, and in the same literary metropolis.

The names of Sir David Brewster, Drs. Hanna, Cunningham, Lorrimer, Candlish, Gordon, Buchanan, Smith, &c., are a host in themselves. Much foreign talent is also pledged to adorn and enrich its pages.

It is not to be considered strictly a Theological Review, for topics of every kind calculated to occupy and interest the well cultivated mind are introduced.

The lamented Dr. CHALMERS was the founder and principal Editor of this Review, and since his death it has been ably conducted by his son-in-law, Dr. Hanna.

Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine is less exclusive in its character than the works already noticed, its contents may be considered under the general heads of classical literature, biography, narratives, historical and fictitious, poetry, critical analyses of new works, &c., &c.

When we call to mind the names of the contributors to this sterling work, it is not surprising that such high meed of praise should be awarded it in the republic of letters. Of the eminent writers who have graced its pages, may be mentioned the following: Pro-fessor Wilson, better known as Christopher North, its renowned editor; Dr. Warren, the graphic and brilliant author of the "Diary of a late Physician." and of "Ten Thousand a year," works which have been so extensively popular in a republished form; R. P. Gillies, Anster, Lockhart, James, Lytton Bulwer, Dr. Maginn, Sydney Smith, and the author of "Tom Cringle's Log," Cruise of the Midge," &c., which have been the delight of thousands of readers.

By an arrangement with the British Publishers early sheets of the Magazine are regularly forwarded to this country so as to enable the American Publishers to issue their reprint before the original edition arrives.
