

all the peoples of Southern Africa can live in peace, prosperity and security."

Noting that personal visits are essential for deeper understanding of national viewpoints, I invited the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs to visit Canada at a time convenient to him. Lt. Col. Baah accepted the invitation with pleasure, and in turn, on behalf of the National Redemption Council, requested me to convey to the Prime Minister of Canada, the Right Honourable Pierre Elliot Trudeau, an invitation to visit Ghana at a mutually convenient time in 1976, as guest of the Government of Ghana.
