

- (a) citizens of the Parties;
 - (b) refugees, within the meaning of the Convention on the Status of Refugees of July 28, 1951 and of the Protocol thereto of January 31, 1967;
 - (c) stateless persons, within the meaning of the Convention on the Status of Stateless Persons of September 28, 1954;
 - (d) other persons to the extent that they derive rights from a citizen of a Party, a refugee or a stateless person within the meaning of this Article.
2. With respect to Canada, this Convention shall also apply to any other person, without regard to nationality.

Article IV

Persons described in Article III who reside in the territory of either Party shall be subject to the obligations of the legislation of a Party and shall be eligible for its benefits under the same conditions as citizens of that Party.

Article V

1. Unless otherwise provided in this Convention, benefits acquired by persons described in Article III under the legislation of one Party shall not be subject to any reduction, modification, suspension, cancellation or confiscation by reason only of the fact that the beneficiary resides in the territory of the other Party, and they shall be payable in the territory of the other Party.
2. Benefits under the legislation of a Party shall be payable to persons described in Article III who ordinarily reside outside the territories of both Parties on the same conditions as to the citizens of the first Party who ordinarily reside outside the territories of the Parties.

PART II

APPLICABLE LEGISLATION

Article VI

1. Subject to the following provisions of this Article, an employed person who works in the territory of a Party shall, in respect of that work, be subject only to the legislation of that Party.