

All surveyed even-numbered sections, excepting Nos. 8 and 26, are held exclusively for free homesteads, and entry therefor to the extent of a quarter section (160 acres) can be obtained on payment of a fee of ten dollars.

The Canadian Pacific Railway traverses three of the most important divisions of Western Canada, viz., Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The prices of the Company's lands are generally $7.00 to $25.00 an acre. Grazing lands, $7.00 to $8.00 per acre. Lands suitable for grain growing and mixed farming, $8.00 to $25.00 per acre, according to quality and location.

MANITOBA is already well settled, but homesteads can still be secured in some of the outlying parts of this highly favored province. The natural resources of the country are as great as those of any other part of the North American Continent. The soil is generally a rich loam of great depth, particularly well adapted for the growth of wheat. The province is well supplied by nature with wood, hay and water. Railways, schools, churches and thriving towns are now scattered all over the country. The population is made up of Canadians, Americans, and people from every country in Europe, so that the intending settler, no matter what his nationality, can settle among his own countrymen.

SASKATCHEWAN Saskatchewan, the central province of the Northwest, has an area of 230,000 square miles, and embraces the great wheat growing district of what was formerly Eastern Assiniboia; extending westerly to the
