HOW TO PREVENT ACID STOMACH

AND FOOD FERMENTATION

By a Stomach Specialist.
As a specialist who has spent many years in the study and treatment of stomach troubles, I have been forced to the conclusion that most people who complain of stomach trouble possess stomachs that are absolutely healthy and normal. The real trouble, that which causes all the pain and difficulty, is excessive acid in the stomach. Hyper-acidity irritates the delicate lining of the stomach and food fermentation causes wind which distends the stomach abnormally, causing that full and bloated feeling. Thus both acid and fermentation interfere with the process of digestion. The stomach is usually healthy and normal, but it is irritated almost entirely by the presence of these two elements—acid and wind. In all such cases—and they comprise over 90 per cent. of all stomach difficulties—the first and only step necessary is to neutralize the acid and stop the fermentation by taking, in a little warm or cold water immediately after eating, from one to two teaspoonfuls of bicarbonate of soda. This is doubtless the best and only really effective remedy. The acid and food fermentation will be neutralized and the fermentation stopped almost instantly, and your stomach will at once proceed to digest the food in a healthy, normal manner. Be sure to ask your druggist for the bicarbonate of soda. I have seen other forms utterly lacking in the peculiarly valuable properties of this.

WORD OF NAZARENE WILL GOVERN WORLD

C. Smith, K.C., Delivered Eloquent Address at Canadian Club Yesterday.

TWO ALTERNATIVES

Germany Had to Face Absolute Ruin if Not World
Power.

Before the Canadian Club at Dun-gung's yesterday R. G. Smith, K.C., professor of commercial law at Mc-Gill University, Montreal, and former member of the Montreal bar, delivered an extremely eloquent address, in which he fixed the direct responsibility of the war upon the Kaiser. Quoting extracts from Nietzsche, he showed that that writer's doctrine repudiated the idea that the German success of 1870 was a victory for German "Kultur" as preached by the Prussian expansion of righteousness.
He went on to quote from Bernhardi, whose philosophy the Kaiser was fond of quoting, to the effect that Germany faced two alternatives, world power or absolute ruin, and he showed how closely it assimilated the ancient teachings of Machiavelli, whose name was the synonym who believed that war was an ordinance set by God and a biological necessity as provided for by nature, and that the end-all and be-all of the state was
power.

Believes Conscience.
"I am not a preacher," he declared,
"but I believe in my conscience that the words of the humble Nazarene will govern this world when the Kaiser will be forgotten in the ages of contemptible oblivion."
He referred with pleasure to the bill which is to be introduced at Ottawa to give the Home Guards organized throughout Canada their proper military status. Referring to the McCreoch doctrine, he said Canada would welcome the assistance of her great neighbor to the south, but no thinking Canadian could for one moment rely upon it as it implied no protectorate, and if there ever was, it would involve a change in Canadian politics and a new flag.
