

Trusts, 118, 200.

Value, 80; connection with cost of production, 101, 105; how affected by improvements, 106, 375; value of natural wealth, 109; of products of skill, 112; of things having a joint cost, 115; governed by cost of most costly part, 206; relation of value to rent, 208; international values, 115, 337; general rise or fall of values impossible, 87, 218, 305; value not an attribute of all wealth, 46, 252 note; increase in value of natural wealth not a general gain, 50.

Wages, industrial consequences of, 77; principles governing aggregate wages, 194; individual wages, 212; equalizing tendency of competition, 215; normal and market wages, 203, 224; relation of wages to product, 196; not found by deducting profits from the product, 211; raised by improvements, 106, 374; but not by strikes, 232; not lowered by production in prisons, 248; wages and the circulation of money, 133, 198, 241; real wages depend on the relation of money-wages to prices, 34, 198, 245, 372; high profits favorable to high wages, 235, 374; free spending is not so, 236; wages advanced out of savings, 75, 242; extent of the advance, 245; fallacy of denying the advance, 247; wages of women, 224; of non-productive laborers, 226; wages differ in different countries, 220; these differences not a cause of international trade, 345. See also Money-wages.

Wealth, defined, 36; natural wealth and wealth produced by labor, 30; how natural wealth acquires value, 43, 109; production of wealth, 41, 52; value of, 80.

Waiting, an element in cost of production, 72, 95, 99, 387.