

Shakeresses Labeling and Wrapping the Bottles Containing Mother Seigel's Syrup, or Shaker Extract of Roots.

We Have Often Wondered Why

the people doubt that our medicines are made by the Shakers, but we suppose that it is because the country is filled with worthless articles made to deceive the public. So we must suffer for the faults of others. But to the afflicted this is a very important matter, because the sick and ailing are anxious to get genuine medicines, and they have faith in the Shaker articles. In view of this fact it is our duty to the public to inform them how to learn beyond all doubt the facts about Mother Seigel's Syrup, or Shaker Extract of Roots, and other Shaker remedies. Write to the "Shaker Community," Mount Lebanon, N. Y., and ask if Mother Seigel's Syrup, sold by A. J. White, Limited, 67 St. James Street, Montreal, and by all dealers in medicines, are not made by the Shakers, and an answer will be returned. The Shakers would not let their good name be used on the medicines if they were not genuine was born in the county of Tyrone, Ireland, and came to this country in the year 1819. At the time of his death, in 1876, he left a fortune of about $40,000,000.

A. T. STEWART (See last page of cover.)

JOHN JACOB ASTOR

was born at Walsdorf, Germany, July 17, 1763, and came to this country, landing in Baltimore, in 1788. When he died, in 1848, he was worth $25,000,000, which he made principally in the fur business. His estate is now worth in the neighborhood of $150,000,000, and is in the possession of his descendants.

GEORGE PEABODY

was born in Danvers, Massachusetts, February 18, 1795. He was a successful business man, leaving, at the time of his death, November 4, 1869, $5,000,000 to his friends and relatives. During his lifetime he gave away $8,040,000 to benevolent and charitable objects.

PETER COOPER

was born in the city of New York in 1791. He learned the coach-maker's trade, and during the war of 1812 invented and sold a machine for cloth-shearing, which earned him his first capital. He died April 4, 1883, full of years and honors. He gave $800,000 towards the erection and endowment of the school known as the Cooper Union.

COMMODORE VANDERBILT

was born on Staten Island, New York harbor, in 1794. He began life as a boatman, then advanced to be a steamboat captain, then owner, then railroad president and owner, until at the time of his death, in 1877, he had accumulated about $70,000,000, the bulk of which was left to his eldest son.