The expected has happened in the cast end. When the Somervilles, winners in the league last year, sprung that retirement gag, everybody looked on the alleys of each team. wise-and felt wiser. They tumbled into the fold like little lambs last night and all is once more serene. It's now up to the City League to get busy.

The Toronto Telegram comments as follows:

The defection of Peterboro from the amateur ranks does not come as any rude shock. It has been understood for some time back that some of their players were imbued with commercial instincts, and that they were looking for some encouragement to cross the bourne from which no amateur e'er returns-at least not since the C. A. A. U. has come forward to the penitent form. However, if Peterboro thought they were going to deal any knockout blow to the O. H. A. by their action, they have just one more think on the table. It's themselves they have knocked out.

Now that Ottawas are down and out, they talk of donning Victoria shirts and winning the Federal League championship. This would, of course, entitle them to challenge for the Stanley cup, giving them a trip west and another walloping as well. But doesn't it show hockey in beautiful shape in the east? It's as professional as baseball, but has been made that way by a lot of incompetents, who knew not what they did and failed to provide rules that would regulate a professional game. And yet it has been said that the wise men come out of the east.

August Hermann, chairman of the national board, is now working out plan for the proposed fund for the protection of old ball players in distress The members of both leagues seem favorable to the idea. President Bar Johnson says that a fund of several hundred thousand dollars can be raised in a year, as the lovers of the sport will take enthusiastically to the proposit tion. At the big baseball banquet in Philadelphia last Thursday night Man ager Mack said it would be a simple matter for all the clubs to name on day each year for a benefit game. President Johnson says that the America League would start the ball rolling when the proper time came with a check for $25,000. It will now be up to August Herrmann to produce the plans t

No longer will the smiling face of Lou Drill, the Tigers' gallant backstop, be seen behind a baseball mask. Nay, likewise nit. Mr. Drill has discovered an easier method of scooping in good American shekels. Lou is now a lawyer, and reports say that the dough is fairly coming into the exbaseball player's strong-box in large, juicy bunches. "There are more ways to have five teams in the league the and shot off a match at 25 blue rocks with than one to skin the public."

It is very evident that Bob Edgren, sporting editor and cartoonist of the New York World, has but little time for Battling Nelson and his windy manager, Nolan. He says: "So Battling Nelson is home again. No doubt Bat will tell us how he 'killed 'em dead' in old England-i. e., bored 'em to death with a 'monologue.'

"If he didn't, Bill Nolan nearly talked them to death, so the effect was about the same. From all accounts in the English papers, Bill offered to have Nelson fight everybody in sight, talked grandiloquently of tens of thousands of pounds and with extreme agility sidestepped all offers of fights with side bets attached. Nelson was challenged, among others, by one Tileing Lost After Hard Race Stratford and Lindsay Play at Practically the Same Team Summers, a 126-pound boy, and Summers backers offered to bet £1,000 ($5,-000) on their man. "Nolan wouldn't bet a dollar on Nelson in a fight with any good man, English or American, in England. And the plain reason is that he knows Nelson would lose."
