ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
159 YONGE-STREET, TORONTO.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Present Day Marriages.

Janet Priest, the "littiest" ingenue of "School Days," which comes to the Grand next week, was formerly a writer for a Minneapolis newspaper. By request she has written her ideas of matrimony, saying:

"My opinion is that the marriages of to-day result in happiness in the same proportion that they did in any other period. Some marriages prove unhappy because too often the contracting par-des misconstrue a momentary infatuation into a lasting love and when this is the case the marriage is bound to be a miserable mistake.

"If, during the term of courtship, those interested refrain from acting, the chances for making an error in the selection of a partner for life would be greatly lessened.

"Take time to fully consider, for time so spent may lead either to everlasting happiness or the avoidance of endless troubles. Matches are made in heaven is an old saying and may be true, but I know of some splendid earth and these were marriages of people of the stage, who, contrary to common belief, make just as good and true matches as do the people in any other walk in life."

Born While Waterloo-Battle Raged.
DETROIT, Mich., March 24.—Mrs. Mary Ann Sullivan, who was born on the field of Waterloo while the battle was raging, is dead at St. Luke's Hospital, where she had lived for only past 11 years. She had been ill only a week, old age being the cause of her death. She was 94 years old. Her father was a British soldier, and her mother was one of the two women allowed to go with each company.

Public Amusements

In Bertha Kalich's initial American play, "The Unbroken Road," in which she comes to the Royal Alexandra next week, the actress laid in the capital city of a "middle west state, and the leading figures are a governor, two political bosses and an erring girl, Eva Pellonova; the theme is of truth and humanity that it assumes international importance. Politics form the background of the play, in the clash of weak and strong, good and evil, that make the drama. Seats are now on sale.

On Monday next, at the Princess Theatre, Miss Lulu Glaser will be the attraction in a new musical success, "Mile, Mischief," in which operetta she plays the title role. "Mile, Mischief" is a Viennese operetta, adapted by Sydney Rosenfeld from the original book by Kraatz and Von Sterk, with music by Carl M. Ziehrer, a composer whose music in the Australasian capital is quite as popular as that of his countryman, Franz Lehár, who wrote "The Merry Widow."

Gus Edwards' "School Days" will next Monday afternoon enter on an engagement of one week at the Grand Opera House. It is one of the novelties of the theatrical season, as much as the majority of the company, chorus and principals are youngsters, and the scenes illustrative of childhood days. Catchy music, riot of comedy, acrobatic dancing, make up the entertainment.

"For Her Children's Sake," a melodrama not unknown to local theatre-goers, will be the offering at the Majestic next week, with a matinee every day. The production is said to be given a handsome scenic equipment, and the company one of the best to be found in popular-price productions.

The ever popular "Champagne Girls" company will begin a week's engagement at the Star on next Monday matinee. The company is equipped in lavish manner in the way of talent, scenery, costumes and electrical effects. There is a large chorus of prettiest girls, and the gun drill they do is the talk of every city they visit.

Manager Shea has prepared another big show for next week, which will include Will M. Cressy and Blanche Dayne, in Cressy's latest and best comedy, entitled "The Wyoming Whoopee." Montgomery and Moore, a real vaudeville pair; La Petite Revue, a great singing novelty; Clifford and Burke; Kelly and Rose; Mattie Lockette, Kartella Bros., and the Kineograph.

Andy Lewis, one of the best comedians in burlesque, is the star at the Gayety next week.

The fertile Island of Ceylon has every requisite for growing tea of the finest quality. The excellent value, absolute cleanliness and delicious flavor of "Salada" Tea produce a beverage that is the delight of thousands.

MENUS FOR THE WEEK.

Friday.

Breakfast—Stewed prunes, cereal with milk, codfish balls, creamed potatoes, Parker House rolls, coffee.

Luncheon—Creamed halibut, potato balls, Banbury tarts, ginger snaps, tea or cocoa.

Dinner—Cream of celery soup, egg cutlets, cream sauce, mashed potatoes, escalloped peas, lettuce, French dressing, water, cheese, apple pie, coffee.

Recipe for Friday.
Egg Cutlets: Boil 2 eggs for 15 minutes, remove shells, then chop them, add 1 ounce chopped ham, and 2 chopped mushrooms. Melt 1 tablespoonful butter, stir in 1 tablespoonful flour, gradually add 1-2 gill milk, stir till boiling, then add raw yolk of egg, stir 1 minute, then add egg mixture. Remove from fire; add salt, pepper and paprika to taste, allow to cool. Shape them into cutlets, brush over with beaten egg; roll in bread crumbs and fry in smoking hot fat till golden color. Serve hot.

Ginger Snaps: Boil 1 cupful molasses and 1-4 cupful butter for 2 minutes. Add 2 teaspoonfuls salt, 1 tablespoonful ginger, 1-2 teaspoonful soda, and 3 cupfuls flour. Beat well; chill over night. Roll very thin. Cut out with cutter and bake on buttered pan in hot oven for 10 minutes.

Women's Canadian Club.

Altho a drizzling rain was falling all day it in no way interfered with the members of the Canadian Women's Club, who turned out in full force to hear the interesting lecture on "What the King Can Do" by Mr. Harold E.

Gorst, son of Sir John Gorst, formerly minister of education in Great Britain, yesterday afternoon at the Conservatory Music Hall.

In the course of his lecture Mr. Gorst gave a very accurate description of the royal life led behind the scenes and declared that very few people had any conception of the amount of work it was necessary for the King to do.

The power of the sovereign, the lecturer said, was greater than many of his subjects supposed. He can at any time, if he wants to, ride over the will of the people and they have no other alternative than to submit. He can veto any bills that are brought for him to sign, and there is no court of appeal that they can be carried to.

"One peculiar law," said Mr. Gorst, "that is not very widely known, is that the King is exempt from the law. No person can take any proceedings against him unless he consents to it. Another remarkable fact is that a servant of his household is also out of the reach of the law. He may assault you on royal property and you are powerless to have him arrested. The only way to obtain justice is to take your complaint to the board of 'green cloth,' who have charge of the household affairs."

Mr. Gorst then compared England's constitution with the States and he declared that their president was vested with more power than the King.

"The King," he declared, "cannot pledge the country by making any treaty without the cabinet's consent, while the president may make any treaty he likes."

In concluding Mr. Gorst said that the president of the States had as much power as the czar of the Russians, al-
