

COLONIAL. RE-UNION OF THE CANADAS.

Message from the Gov. General to the Legislature. C. POLLETT THOMSON.

In pursuance of the intention expressed in his Speech from the Throne, the Governor General desires now to bring under the consideration of the Legislature, the subject of the Re-union of the Province with Lower Canada, recommended by Her Majesty in her gracious Message to both Houses of Parliament on the 31st May last.

For several years the condition of the Canadas has occupied a large portion of the attention of Parliament. That they should be contented and prosperous; that the ties which bind them to the Parent State should be strengthened; that their administration should be conducted in accordance with the wishes of the people, is the ardent desire of every British Statesman.

The events which have marked the recent history of Lower Canada, are so familiar to the Legislature, that it is unnecessary for the Governor General further to allude to them. There, the Constitution is suspended, and the powers of the government are inadequate to permit the enactment of such permanent laws as are required for the benefit of the people.

Within this Province the Finances are deranged—public improvements are suspended—private enterprise is checked—the tide of emigration, so essential to the prosperity of the country, and having increased, has ceased to flow; while by many the general system of Government is declared to be unsatisfactory.

After the most attentive and anxious consideration of the state of these Provinces, and of the difficulties under which they respectively labour, Her Majesty's Advisers come to the conclusion that, by their Re-union alone, could those difficulties be removed. During the last Session of the Imperial Legislature they, indeed, refrained from pressing immediate legislation, but their hesitation proceeded from no doubt, as to the principle, but from a desire to ascertain more fully the opinions of the Legislature of Upper Canada, and to collect information from which the details might be rendered more satisfactory to the people of both Provinces.

The time then is now arrived beyond which a settlement cannot be postponed. In Lower Canada it is indispensable to afford a safe and practicable return to a Constitutional Government; and so far as the feelings of the inhabitants can be there ascertained, the measure of the Re-union meets with approbation.

In Upper Canada it is no less necessary to enable the Province to meet her financial embarrassments, and to proceed to the development of her natural resources. There is evidently no means by which the Province of fulfilling the pecuniary obligations which have been contracted, but by a great increase in the local revenues. But so long as Lower Canada remains under her present form of Government, neither the one nor the other can be accomplished.

It will be for the Imperial Parliament, guided by their intimate knowledge of Constitutional Law, and to bifurcate, and impede, and vitiate the Government, and to unite the people within them in one common feeling of attachment to British Institutions, and British Connection, the Union is desired by Her Majesty's Government; and that measure alone, if carried out just principles, appears adequate to the occasion.

BRITISH NEWS.

From papers by the South America, at New-York, to 23d November.

Money matters in England, appeared to be getting better. The Duke of Wellington had a falling fit at Waller Castle, owing to fatigue from hunting in the morning, after fasting the day before on a crust of bread. He fainted to a degree from indulging too freely in day pastimes. He fell from his chair, and paralysis or apoplexy was apprehended. Sir Austley Cooper and Dr. Hume were in attendance. This news created a great sensation, but it turned out at last that the illness was nothing but a severe cold which he had recovered. The Standard says the Duke is 70, and is as vigorous as himself as a boy of eighteen.

The Duke of Wellington has since his appointment to the office of Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports, annually paid to the treasury, for the public service, the whole amount of the proceeds of the office.

There was no doubt of the Queen's intention to marry Prince Albert, as the marriage was taken place soon. A ministerial paper has the following paragraph upon the subject:—'The whole of the Privy Council has been summoned to attend Her Majesty's Majesty in the Council relates to an event in which the whole of Her Majesty's subjects feel the deepest interest, not only on account of the personal happiness of the Queen, but materially related to the future destinies of the Empire. We need not more distinctly allude to the important subject. A few days will enable us to speak more fully of its nature and its bearings on the interests of this great nation.'

The Court Gazette says: Her Majesty, who became Queen immediately on gaining her legal age as a minor, appears to be becoming a more and more complete ruler of her twenty-first year. The London papers announce the death of John Lander, brother and companion of Richard Lander, in his African travels, who was 53 years of age. Richard died some years ago in Africa.

The death of Professor Hamilton, of the University of Edinburgh, is announced. The examination of the persons concerned in the late disturbance at Newport, (Wales), were going forward in that town. Many arrests had been made. A letter of the 20th states that on the previous day Samuel Eberidge, formerly a printer in London, was fully committed for treason and sedition. Dr. Taylor had been arrested and admitted to bail on a charge of having delivered a seditious speech in Carlisle on the 24th August last.

The Bank of England has increased her stock of specie to upwards of £3,000,000, and may now pay France the sum of £1,000,000. Money is rather more plenty, though interest at 6 per cent. is paid by the Bank here.

Very early symptoms of winter have shown themselves in several parts of Europe. In Warsaw, the streets and roofs of the houses were covered with snow, and the roads were completely covered with snow for two days previously. In Dresden, on the 25th, the snow lay a foot deep.

their neighbourhood, afforded them in untold pursuit the course into which they had been so happily directed. These remarks were met by a very feeling response from one of the colored men, expressive of the high estimation with which he, as well as many others, regarded these important privileges, and also of that gratitude which they owed for such precious benefits. At the close of the proceedings a distribution of Tracts was made, which had been kindly presented for this purpose, by JOHN KIRKMAN, Esq., Secretary of the Religious Tract Society.

The writer of these observations feels himself bound in conscience to remark, that his object in this holding up this excellent and salutary Society, is not the indulgence of any supposed feeling of vanity on the part of its humble and laborious managers, but the more substantial gratification, and for the purpose of directing public attention to the happy results of those institutions under proper guidance, and especially when made the objects of devout and zealous care. 27th Dec. 1830.

It is both surprising and lamentable to observe the conduct of the apparently respectable and intelligent Young Men, who put down their names for the sanctity of the Sabbath as to be seen in our immediate neighbourhood, deserting it by the profane and dissipated.

It is surprising, first, because, in general the offenders are of a size and appearance to warrant one in supposing that they have arrived at the years of discretion, and secondly, because occurring in a land—where the Sabbath day is so generally and so ably supported, where morality and virtue are so generally maintained and encouraged.

It is surprising, secondly, because the parents, masters, and guardians of the delinquents, are so generally negligent, to approve avowedly of the practice, or to look on with an eye of indifference; thereby, I am convinced, they are doing much to encourage and sanction a course of conduct, which they ought to exert all their various powers and prerogatives.

It is surprising, thirdly, because the most proper place to enforce so just a subject as its importance would admit of, I will therefore confine myself to a few general remarks. All who are parents of the young, to restrain them from evil and to lead to good, ought in my opinion to impress upon their minds as a subject of paramount consequence, the holiness of the Lord's Day.

It is surprising, fourthly, because the most proper place to enforce so just a subject as its importance would admit of, I will therefore confine myself to a few general remarks. Levant, as well as the general interests of humanity, will be best secured by that policy in which all the other great European Powers have fixed their course and unite in support. On the 20th Nov. after a long and arduous negotiation, the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha arrived on a visit to Her Majesty in the month of March.

It is stated that Prince Albert will return about the middle of March; that he will have the title of Duke and the rank of Marshal, and the Lieut. Colonelcy of the 11th Dragoon, which are to be made honorary about the same time, until a more correct regiment is raised by the Duke of Saxe-Coburg.

It is arranged that the Duchess of Kent will take up her residence at Kensington Palace, immediately after the celebration of the Nov. nuptials, if not before. The French, of Wednesday, Nov. 23, asserts that the British Cabinet has officially communicated to the French Cabinet the intended marriage of Queen Victoria with a Prince of Cologne.

Prince George of Cambridge is to obtain the Lieut. Colonelcy of the 13th Dragoon, and to act as second Colonel under Col. Stowell. The rates of interest demanded for discounts by the banks and bankers, as well as by the Bank of England, continue to be 6 per cent. upon the first description of bills, and 7 per cent. upon the second.

We are glad to learn, that a Canadian Brother, or the Prophecy Fulfilled, is making rapid progress through the press. This production, which had been earlier published, was originally to have been dedicated to His late Majesty, it is inscribed to His Excellency Sir John Harvey. To no other officer could a Canadian edition of the work be more appropriately offered. Sir John is the only officer of rank upon the Continent of British North America, who bore a part in the various military achievements which occurred during the epoch of which it treats, and as the friend and share in the glories of the principal character in the tale—the gallant Sir Isaac Brock—it cannot but be gratifying to him, to see inscribed to himself, a work commemorating the high character and daring deeds of his noble brother in arms.—Montreal Gazette.

Confiscation of property is one of the penalties attached to the crime of High Treason, by the Criminal Law of England in force in this Province since 1764, and of which every one is presumed to be sufficiently aware. In this Province, however, and with a view to mitigate the severity of the law of treason, the rights of third parties, and particularly of the wife and her children, in the case of her being decreed before the treason committed, has been provided for in an Ordinance passed by Sir John Colborne, and the same mode of establishing these rights has been provided as in cases when property is seized at a private suit.—Quebec Gazette.

CANADA.—There was some sparring in the Upper Canada House of Assembly the other day, when it was due over the subject of the late expedition to St. John's, as an appendix to the Journal. It is an octavo of 300 pages, and the Speaker says that he ordered it printed because it was presented to him as Speaker of the House. A motion to expunge was lost, 16 to 31.—The address in answer to the Governor's Message was carried, 31 to 7.—N. Y. Dispatch.

U. S. CONGRESS.—The House of Representatives succeeded in electing a Speaker, on the eleventh ballot, on Wednesday the 19th inst. The choice fell on the Hon. Robert M. T. Hunter, of Virginia, who received 119 votes out of 232.

TRINITY CHURCH.—The excavations, which are carried back for the enlargement of the foundation of the new church, several ancient vaults, we learn, have been discovered. Among the relics were the after plate, and remains of the Countess of Clifden, interred about 150 years since, those of the Hon. Mr. —, aged seven years, and a number of others, of whose names and titles were so fine in this good loyal Province. These remains of the reposed dead are, we hear, to be deposited in new vaults to be erected.—N. Y. Evening Star.

PRESERVE IN THE COUNTRY.—The farmers are suffering under a sad pressure—their barns are pressed with grain—their barrels with beef—their flocks with butter, and their rosy cheeks daughters with young fellows wishing to get married.—How sad.—N. Y. Herald.

CHINA.—The most remarkable performance of the Celestial commissar at Canton was the addressing of a letter to the "Royal Governor of Canton, in the name of the Governor of the Province of Yunnan, and the Governor of the Province of Szechuan, and the Governor of the Province of Kweichow, and the Governor of the Province of Hunan, and the Governor of the Province of Anhui, and the Governor of the
