CALLS DOG MEAT GOOD AS MUTTON

Chicago Anthropologist Says There is No Reason Why Canine Steaks Should Not Be Popular.

CHICAGO, July 11.-There is not a particle of difference between eating dog and eating mutton," said Professor Starb, of the University of Chicago, after a visit to the Iglootes at an amusement park, with an expedition of forty of the girls and young men of the university.

"We shudder when the Iglootes kill a canine and eat it merely because we look on it as something like killing and eating a dear friend," he continued. "To a civilized man the dog is frequently closer than a human friend, and to a half-savage man his four-footed companion is almost another self."

Dog meat, as medicine, will be tried up on the chief of the Iglootes, who has been sick for months. The savages have not so far been allowed to eat their favorite food, and it is thought this has sickened the aged heathen.

Miss Sweeney and Miss Lillian Sweeney, who will leave Saturday on an extended visit to Boston, New York and Virginia.

FOR SALE. Dog meat, as medicine, will be tried up on the chief of the Iglootes, who has been sick for months. The savages have not so far been allowed to eat their favorite food, and it is thought this has sickened the aged heathen.
