Fairbanks as Robin Hood A Motion Picture Treat

Douglas Fairbanks and Leading Lady in "Robin Hood."

Large numbers yesterday in the Opera House were transported back to the dashing times of medieval history in Old England and from the applause which greeted each climax in the big feature film, "Robin Hood," they seemed to enjoy it immensely. The story is shown in all its pomp and pageantry and carries a strong appeal from the opening to the very end. An added feature to the local showing of the picture was the incidental work of Frank T. Haezel, a St. John baritone, who sang a prelude and also a solo during the progress of the picture.

The central figure of the story, the doughty Earl of Huntingdon, afterwards Robin Hood, gives Douglas Fairbanks wonderful opportunity to display his accomplishments, and he carried the part through in excellent style.

The whole production is staged in lavish style and literally thousands of people appear in the screening. The expedition of Richard, the Lion-Hearted, with his faithful knights on their Crusade to the Holy Land, the atrocities

Quebec Resident Is Out With More Facts

Mrs. F. Moore Says Tanlac Has Been of Inestimable Benefit to Her on Two Occasions.

"It makes me eat better, feel better and work better," is what Mrs. F. Moore, 114 DuRoi St., Quebec, recently had to say of the Tanlac treatment. Such has been the public testimony of thousands of people everywhere who have realized the value of Tanlac in regaining lost appetite, weight and strength.

"For a year I was in a terribly run-down condition," said Mrs. Moore, "and at the time I got Tanlac I was so weak I could do any of my housework. My digestion was bad, I felt sick all the time, had no appetite at all and could sleep very little during the night. A friend advised me to take Tanlac, and it brought my appetite back, strengthened my stomach and built up my strength and energy just fine. I got to where I could do all my housework without overworking, and although that was two years ago, I felt good right along until last month when I commenced to feel run-down again. Knowing how Tanlac helped me before, I have now started taking it again and it is rapidly building me up. Tanlac is wonderful, and I am constantly recommending it to my friends. Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

WAS UNABLE TO EAT MEAT

Mrs. Robichaud finds relief from distressing digestive troubles in Dreo, the famous herbal remedy.

Again has Dreo proved its value as a tonic and regulator for ailing digestive systems, by restoring Mrs. Robichaud, of Woodstock Road, Fredericton, N. B., to health. Mrs. Robichaud's troubles were all traceable to the organs of digestion for which Dreo is especially prepared.

"Dreo relieved me when I had abandoned all hope of ever recovering my health," says Mrs. Robichaud. "I suffered terribly with dyspepsia. I had it for years and all the medicines which I took did not do me any good. I read about Dreo being good for all stomach troubles and disorders of digestion, so I gave it a trial.

"After taking three bottles of Dreo, I was entirely relieved of the dyspepsia, and my general health was restored. I cannot praise Dreo too highly for the wonderful help I got from it. I had a very poor appetite and was very restless and nervous at night and before taking Dreo I was unable to eat meat. I suffered terribly with heartburn and water brash. But my health has been completely restored after taking three bottles of this splendid medicine."

One secret of Dreo's effectiveness is that all the scientific skill with which it is compounded has been directed towards one object only—the production of a reliable tonic and corrective for digestive troubles. This Dreo undoubtedly is, as every user testifies. Dreo is prepared from roots, herbs, bark and leaves, whose medicinal value has been established for years. It contains no mercury, potash or habit forming drugs and may be taken with safety and certainty of result.

Dreo is being specially introduced in St. John by Ross Drug Co., 100 King Street, Moore's Drug Store, 105 Prince Edward Street; F. W. Munro, 357 Main Street, and in West St. John by Watson R. Dunlop. It is also sold in Fairville by T. H. Wilson, and by a good druggist everywhere.

Harold and Mrs. Lloyd Honeymoon at Atlantic City Minus Famous Specs

MR. AND MRS. HAROLD LLOYD (MILDRED DAVIS).

Atlantic City, N. J., July 24.—Here, ladies and gentlemen, you may discern the smiling features of two of the most prominent residents of the U. S. The young man in the picture is one of the best known young millionaires, and a keen and sagacious business man besides.

You may not recognize them at first glance, for the young Harold Lloyd, honeymooning at Atlantic City, were snapped by the photographer while they were seated decorously in a rolling-chair on the boardwalk, and Harold had left the famous specs at home.

Indeed, so matter-of-fact they appear as to suggest middle-age matrimony about to celebrate its fifty-seventh wedding anniversary, rather than bride and bridegroom.

Has the honeymoon paled, you ask? Or is the lady, wide-eyed and bright, even though another son was killed at the age of thirteen while riding on the horse striking against a post and throwing the youth to his death.

YACHT STARTS ON LONG CRUISE
Kingston, Ireland, July 24.—(A. P. By Mail)—Admired hearty cheers and escorted by a fleet of yachts, the 25-ton yacht "Scorise" recently left Kingston on a trip round the world.

The crew, composed of Conner O'Brien, owner and captain; H. S. Hodges, mate, and S. D. Lavelle, hope to complete the journey under canvas by way of New Zealand, which they anticipated reaching before Christmas. From there they will proceed by Cape Horn to several Argentine ports, and expect to reach Ireland again by September, 1924.

YOUNG JOCKEYS ARE RIDING WINNING MOUNTS IN ENGLAND

London, July 24.—(Associated Press by mail)—The patter of tiny feet is making its impress on British racing history, just as it has done in American history, for the young jockeys to be seen flying around the racetracks near London are only twelve years old. Another, after having had to be satisfied with coming in second several times last year, is now reaping the fruits of his long struggle to succeed by riding winners. He is just fourteen years old.

His name is Stafford Walter Henry Ingham and he hasn't a whisker on his face, but his master has. For his master is King George. The King was watching the kid the other day when he secured the most glorious triumph of his "career," winning the famous Royal Hunt Cup on His Majesty's seven-year-old Westwren at the Ascot meet. It was the youngster's ninth victory on the turf, jockey, saddle, harness and all impediments. In the hands of Westwren weighed only ninety-six pounds.

Ingham's father, a chemist at Epsom, reared his boy to be a jockey, even though another son was killed at the age of thirteen while riding on the horse striking against a post and throwing the youth to his death.

YOUNG DAUGHTER MADE WELL

Mother Tells How Her Daughter Suffered and Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Vancouver, B. C.—"My daughter is a young girl who has been having severe pains and weak and dizzy feelings for some time and had lost her appetite. Through an older daughter who had heard of a woman who was taking it for the same trouble, we were told of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My daughter has been taking it for several months and it is quite all right now. It has done all it was represented to do and we have told a number of friends about it. I am never without a bottle of it in the house, for I myself take it for that weak, tired, worn-out feeling which sometimes comes to us all. I find it is building me up and I strongly recommend it to women who are suffering as I and my daughter have."—Mrs. J. McDonald, 2247 28th Ave. East, Vancouver, B. C.

From the age of twelve a girl needs all the care a thoughtful mother can give. Many a woman has suffered years of pain and misery—the victim of thoughtlessness or ignorance of the mother who should have guided her during this time. If she complains of headaches, pains in the back and lower limbs, or if it is a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, make life easier for her. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted for such conditions.

Only Four Games In Big Leagues

Hard Hitting Marks Yesterday's Contests — Williams Gets His 18th Homer

New York, July 24.—Only four games were played in the big leagues yesterday but the working teams made up in runs for their real rivals. The Cubs, playing in Pittsburgh, worked hard for eleven and a half innings when the score was still 3 to 3, and then got down to real business and rolled up nine runs as fast as they could get around the bases, winning 12 to 3. Meadows, who was pitching for Pittsburgh when the slaughter began, was promptly knocked out of the box, to be succeeded by Kuntz, who allowed but one hit in his third of an inning on the mound. Most of the hits were singles. In Cincinnati the Reds were trimmed by St. Louis 8 to 7, in a hard hitting battle slipping a run in their chase up the percentage ladder after the league leading Giants, who defeated the lowly Phillies in Philadelphia 8 to 4. The Reds game extended all to the Reds and was just about to be wrapped up and taken home when Rixey blew up in the seventh and St. Louis ran off six runs in a straight row.

In Philadelphia, the local team hammered McQuillan out of the box in the sixth, but Ryan stepped in and stopped the scoring while the Giants pounded six runs in the last four innings.

The Cleveland Indians insisted on hitting the Yankees in St. Louis and before the home team knew what had happened, had won the game 9 to 2.

In the fourth Williams leaned on his 18th round-tripper of the season with one on.

The Detroit game with Chicago was postponed because of rain.

Would Save Ruins of 'House Beautiful' of Pilgrim's Progress

Society for Protection of Ancient Buildings Perturbed Over Plan to Tear Down Houghton Towers.

Bedford, Eng., July 24.—The Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings in Britain is getting perturbed over the suggested demolition of Houghton Towers, the "House Beautiful" of Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress," which stands in ruins near Houghton Conquest, Bedfordshire.

The ruins are very beautiful, and since they still are considerable, consisting of the north and west loggia, the entrance porch and the towers, as well as the whole of the external walls, it is argued that the cost of removing the material would not be much less than any sum likely to be realized by the sale of the stone-work.

Apart from its association with Bunyan, Houghton Towers is a valuable example of the skill of John Thorpe and Inigo Jones, its architects. It was built for Mary, Countess of Pembroke. On the rise of the west front, dated 1604, are the porcupine of the Sidney's and the bear and ragged staff of the Dudleys. Though the work of building was started from the plans of John

STEEPLECHASE RIDER DIES.

Joseph Henshall Was a Famous Jockey a Decade Ago.

Hempstead, L. I., July 24.—Joseph Henshall, famous old-time steeplechase jockey of a decade ago, died here a few days ago. He had lived here for forty years. He was brought to this country from England, where he was born, by Pierre Lorillard to take charge of his stable. As a steeplechase jockey Henshall made a record in the sporting circles of Hempstead and Westbury.

Mrs. A. L. Stearn yesterday called Detective Biddiscombe to her home in Summer street on account of a supposed robbery. She said that, on her return to the house, she had missed $50 from her purse, which had been in the house during her absence. As far as could be learned there was no one in the house except workmen who were doing renovating work. These men were respectfully requested to search the house and Stearn was not quite sure she had lost the money so the matter dropped.

Centuries ago people contended the brain was a sponge to keep the heart cool.
