LEONARD

STATUE TO MARK GRAVE OF
JOYCE KILMER, POET SOLDIER

New York, Feb. 3.—A monument thirty-five feet in height is to mark the grave of Sergeant Joyce Kilmer, poet soldier, who died fighting in France with the Sixty-ninth Infantry. Sergeant Kilmer was the son of Dr. and Mrs. F. B. Kilmer of College avenue, New Brunswick, N. J., and the monument is to be put in place next summer when they go abroad to visit the French cemetery where he rests.

The memorial is the work of Paolo A. Bache, famous Italian sculptor, who like Sergeant Kilmer, held membership in the Dante Society of America. The statue is called "David the Soldier."

easier than it looks. Take an old letter out of your inside pocket, jot down the shake them up for a verse, you'll soon get on the hang of it, try it and see.

MUTT AND JEFF—JEFF PUTS E. COUE'S THEORY TO A TEST

SAYS LUSITANIA SINKING WAS AN ACT OF WAR

Holds This View in Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Insurance
Case—Policy is Declared Void.

Albany, Feb. 3.—The sinking of the Lusitania was an act of war, the Court of Appeals held here recently in deciding the case of the estate of Alfred G. Vanderbilt against an insurance company.

A clause in the policy held by Mr.
Vanderbilt, who was drowned when the Lusitania was sunk, automatically nullified it in case death was caused by war. Today's verdict upheld the action of the insurance company in refusing to make payment on the policy.

So far as available records showed last night, the court of Appeals decision in the Alfred G. Vanderbilt insurance case is the first in which the sinking of the Lusitania is held to have been an act of war. The policy involved was one in the Travelers Insurance Company for $250,000. The company refused to pay on the ground that the policy was void in case death was directly or indirectly due to the war or to exposure to unnecessary danger and the executors brought suit.

On behalf of some of the 120 Americans who lost their lives when the vessel was sunk by a German submarine on May 7, 1915, suits aggregating $6, 000,000 were filed against the Cunard line, which owned the Lusitania. The Federal District Court, in an opinion delivered by Judge Julius M. Mayer on

A decision of the Appellate Division in July, 1916, awarded $40,000 insurance to the widow of Albert L. Hopkins, a Lusitania victim, although Mr.
Hopkins had signed a "rider" to his policy releasing the insurer in the event that his death should result from the European war. That decision, however, was based on technical grounds—the failure of the company to have the rider properly filed and approved by State insurance authority.
