CLAIMS VICTORY

Says Wrangel's Force in Kaban Province Annihilated and He Now Holds Only Crimea.

London, Aug. 31.—Anti-Bolshevik forces landed in the province of Kaban, east of the Sea of Azov, by General Baron Wrangel have been "completely annihilated," says a statement issued here last night by M. Kamenoff, head of Russian Bolshevik trade delegation in this city, based on a telegram from Moscow.

"In the northern part of the government of 'Dardanelles,' he said, 'Gen. Wrangel's army is completely beaten. He now holds only the Crimea.'

Paris, Aug. 31.—(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)—General Wrangel has proposed the formation of an alliance with Gen. Petlura, Ukrainian leader, according to a prominent Ukrainian organ. It says that Gen. Wrangel expressed his readiness to recognize the independence of the Ukraine.

At Houlton there are many more horses for the races this week than usual, and more than there are chances. For a programme of thirteen races is offered, E. J. Hovey of this city, one of those associated with S. E. Rice of St. John, in the management of the meeting, is going to Houlton today to secure additional entries.

Frank J. Power of Halifax, who had been engaged as starter by the Maritime Racing Association, yesterday contracted to serve as an official at the Northern Maine Fair races at Presque Isle next week.

THE VICTORIA AND CARLETON CROPS

Fredericton, N. B., Aug. 31.—Hon. J. F. Tweeddale, minister of agriculture, said this morning that the harvesting in Victoria and Carleton counties was getting along well, the grain had in some cases been cut and already stored. It was of excellent quality and there would be a good yield.

The potatoes were in some sections injured by rust and while they were not showing any rot as yet, he did not think they would produce an average yield. Cabbages were being shipped from nearly every station in the two counties into the United States at $3 a barrel by the car. The minister said that if the weather conditions proved favorable the rest might not reach the potatoes of the later varieties which were as yet unaffected, although the tops of the plants were covered.

QUEEN SQUARE

Hoyt's Revue presented a change of programme at the Queen Square theatre last night before an audience of a size that demonstrated the popularity of the company. This was further shown by the welcoming applause that greeted the special features.

"The Scandal of Pleasure" was the title of the new bill and it was made the medium for introduction of catchy songs, attractive dance numbers and a whirl of fun. Lew Brews as When and Felix Martin had the bulk of the comedy work and much of the audience was captivated. These two with Messrs. Cahill and Sheehan, sang some quartette numbers that caught repeated applause. In fact many of the specialties drew demands for repetition. A dancing specialty by Wallace Melvin and Madeline Meredith was very pleasing. Jack Sheehan's song and those of Wallace Melvin took well as also specialties and choruses by the young women of the company. The continuing throughout was pretty, with many changes of dress.

A length of buildings and amusement booths over a stretch of 100 feet was destroyed.

HOW F. P. DOODY
MET HIS DEATH

The body of Frank P. Doody, who was killed in Falmouth, Mass., last Saturday, was brought to the city on the Royal, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Doody, his brother. The funeral will take place from Mrs. Doody's residence, 181 Union street, on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Mr. Doody told a Times reporter this afternoon that the accident in which his brother lost his life occurred while he and his three companions were returning to their hotel in Falmouth on Saturday night. The weather was foggy and it was difficult to negotiate the road. The car struck a waiting truck near the side of the road, causing it to swerve, and it crashed into a fence post, which lifted him from the car and death was almost instantaneous. The other three occupants were more or less injured, one of them suffering a fractured knee cap.

Lyric Has Both Mr. and Mrs. Charlie in Pictures.

A unique offering was witnessed at the Lyric yesterday where Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Chaplin were seen in two individual pictures, "The Floorwalker" and "The Pawnshop." These two well known players were seen to excellent advantage and seemed to please the large number present.

Although the two pictures were shown in this city some time ago, nevertheless many did not have the opportunity of seeing it, and those who did, were thoroughly satisfied in seeing it over again.

"SPEDY MEADE"

Louis Bessington Western Picture is Attraction at Unique

Louis Bessington, firmly established as the premier portrayer of western cow-boys, surpasses all his previous brilliant attainments by his remarkable characterization in his newest Bronco-wood offering, "Speedy Meade," which was the stellar western attraction at the Lyric yesterday. It is an unusual story that Speedy Meade depicts, with a plot so baffling that people were kept guessing until the very last incident. A cast of notable players headed by beautiful Katherine MacDonald surrounds the handsome hero of the plains. Miss MacDonald is seen to excellent advantage and even surpasses her previous portrayals opposite W. S. Hart.

has yet to be written, but in every family and particularly where there are children, the subject of good household remedies for the many minor ailments and injuries of everyday life always commands attention.

PERRY DAVIS' "PAINKILLER" is one of the best examples of a reliable household remedy.

In summer a teaspoonful given in a cup of sweetened water or milk affords prompt and effective treatment for acute and painful stomach and bowel attacks (summer complaint), while as a liniment it takes the pain and inflammation out of mosquito and other insect stings and reduces sprains and bruises.

In cold weather when exposure so often brings on the chilly feeling from which develop Colds, Bronchitis, La Grippe or Pneumonia, a good dose of "PAINKILLER" taken in hot water when retiring will usually ward off these dangerous consequences.

A most effective treatment for children who are inclined to headach and croupy attacks is to wring out a flannel cloth dipped into a cupful of hot water to which a teaspoonful of "PAINKILLER" has been added and wrap same around the child's neck, covering with another cloth. This applied at night whenever signs of a croupy attack appears, draws out the inflammation and the soothing warmness insures restful sleep.

PERRY DAVIS' "PAINKILLER" has been on the market for over seventy-five years. It is used in nearly every country on the globe by thousands of families of every race for the purposes described above.

Every family and every traveller will do well to have always on hand a bottle of this reliable household medicinal preparation.
