HISTORY REPEATING ITSELF

Home-Coming of 26th and D. A. C. and Arrival of Loyalists

R. E. Armstrong, secretary of the board of trade, in a note to The Times-Star this morning says:

"In the enthusiastic welcome that was extended to the returning New Brunswick heroes on Saturday the fact was almost lost sight of that on the same day 186 years ago a shipload of Loyalist heroes from New England was slowly heaving its way up the Bay of Fundy with St. John as its objective. Very different was the welcome accorded the two groups. There were no reception committees with glad hands and welcome gifts; no bands or banners, or bunting for the latter, but the same great idea filled the hearts and souls of both—the love for the British flag, veneration for British institutions. In referring to the Loyalists, Ven. Archdeacon Raymond, writing from Toronto to the secretary of the board of trade recently, remarked:—

"Next Sunday evening the United Empire Loyalist Association of Ontario holds its anniversary service at St. James' Church Cathedral. The service is commemorative of the founding of the province of Ontario at the close of the American Revolution in 1788. The day selected is that on which the founders of St. John landed (May 18th), as being the first important migration from the Old Colonies to Canada, and also as being the 184th anniversary of the first city incorporated in the British Empire outside of Great Britain—'O fortunati quorum jam mania surgant.' It was nearly fifty years later when the next incorporation took place. St. John regards its centenary as far ahead of Halifax and Toronto. But it did not in early days elect other officers than aldermen, assistants, constables and church wardens. All civic officers, including the mayor, were appointed by the 'governor-in-council' down to 1854, when James Olive was first elected by the citizens. There were only three mayors in the first forty-two years—Ludlow, William Campbell and John Robinson."

KIDNIE ASLEEP IN SAND PILE AT 1 A. M.

While passing down Main street on Sunday morning about one o'clock Fred Garnett was surprised to see a small boy lying asleep on a sand pile near Murray street. He aroused the little fellow and learned his name was Green and that he resided in a house in the rear of Main street, with his aunt, Mrs. A. Green. He accompanied the little boy to his home, but failing to get a response to his knock, took him to the North End police station.

Sergeant Journey took him in charge and returned to his home, and after a little while was able to rouse his aunt. She was greatly surprised when she learned her nephew was found asleep in the sand. She said that he had left with the intention of visiting his father in West St. John and when he did not return, she took it for granted that he was stopping for the night with him. She explained that he frequently went to see his father and that she was not worried when he did not return home Saturday night.

THE EVERETT TEXTILE MILLS RESUME; NEW BEDFORD HAS STRIKE

Lawrence, Mass., May 10.—The Everett Mills, which have been idle since the beginning of the textile operators strike on Feb. 8, resumed operations today. Strike pickets estimated the number of employees who went to work at not more than 100 but mill officials said that approximately one-third of the usual force was at work. The company ordinarily employs from 1200 to 1500. Representatives of the United Textile Workers of America expected to submit to all the mill owners today a demand for a general wage increase of fifteen per cent. This was in conformity with the plan of the organization to demand a similar increase in all textile centres. The United Textile Workers have not taken part in the present strike.

New Bedford, Mass., May 10.—Steam engineers of the textile mills here struck today for a wage increase causing a complete shut down of plants employing 30,000 operatives. No attempt was made to operate any of the mills dependent upon their own steam power. The mill firemen are supporting the engineers in their demand for $48 weekly for engineers in charge and $37 weekly for operating engineers, with time and one half for work in excess of forty-eight hours weekly.
