CANADA'S RAILWAYS

(Times Special Correspondence.)
London, June 30—Canadians are so often accused of being unduly optimistic regarding the performance and future of the dominion that it is refreshing to find that much of the praise of Canada and Canadian undertakings comes from competent observers from other countries who cannot be accused of that form of patriotism.

In Canada, too, he says, are most efficient, and the rates are not as a rule higher than those of the Australian governments, whose service is, however, of such a character that one can only apologize for it.

It is the same with telegraphs in Australia, which are all government owned, and recently the hours at which a telegram could be sent were reduced by two and the offices are now open only from nine to six. Altogether, according to this authority, Canadians may feel that they are a great deal better off than the Australians.

A coffin, a box of brass funeral furniture and fittings, and a small parcel of plates were sold by auction at Buckingham market to a pensioner postman for 10s.

Meat May Be Injurious and Is Expensive!

Some people may eat lots of meat without injury to their health, but it's hard on their pockets. Others should avoid meat almost entirely, yet they eat it daily—these pay in both health and purse.

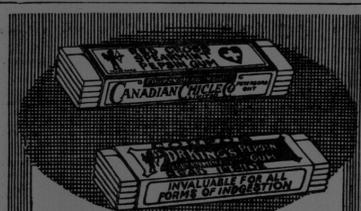

Either class will benefit by eating less meat and more Kellogg's Toasted Corn Flakes.

It gives much more nourishment than its cost in meat, is infinitely more easy to digest—consequently better for you.

IN FRENCH LINES

A French model, it can be reproduced for about $1.50.

Very good quality French linens may be bought for 25 cents a yard. If it is 28 inches wide 4 1/2 yards will be needed for this design. It is trimmed entirely with its own material.

The dress is made without a lining and requires but a short time to put together. First the under-arm seam is closed; then the shoulder seam, taking care to match the notches perfectly. The center of the front is indicated by large "O" perforations.

Gather lower edge of waist between double "T" perforations. Sew Japanese collar to neck edge and standing collar to shield as notched. Adjust shield, corresponding large "O" perforations in shield and in front even. Close out with a notched, saw to sleeve as notched, seams even.

For the skirt, slash to left of center-front to double "O" perforations for opening. Close center-back seam. Turn hem at lower edge on double "O" perforations. First, creating a line of slot perforations, bring folded edges to corresponding lines of small "O" perforations and bring folded edge near center-back to center; press pleats. Sew to lower edge of waist centers even, large "O" perforation at under-arm seams.

Trim with a fabric of the same material and fancy buttons.

English Clothing Firm Offers Man's Suit For $4.50

A well-known English clothing company, T. Thomas & Co., 142, Gray's Inn Road, London, W. C., Eng., seem bound to become as highly popular in the dominion as they are in Great Britain. Everybody knows H. Thomas & Co. in England for the remarkable prices they quote in gents' wear. On page 14 readers should note the firm's advertisement "Gents' Suit (Jacket, Vest and Trousers), $4.50 delivered free to you, no more to pay." Look up the advertisement on page 14 and write for free patterns and fashions to their Toronto branch.

LONG-LINED RUSSIAN TUNIC REPLACES TUNIC SKIRT IN FASHION'S FAVOR

(By Maybelle Mortimer.)
It is astonishing to see how the skirt tunic has disappeared from milady's wardrobe. Every one is wearing the long Russian tunic and they seem very becoming to both the lady who is fat, fair and forty and the girl who is just sixteen. Underskirts are still very narrow, but the tunic grows wider each week.
For summer fabrics it is made of accordion or side pleats but for the heavier materials it is slightly gathered at the waist line.
The "set-in" sleeve has come to stay, but the comfortable and artistic blouse is on the wane.
High collars are trying hard to encircle the modish woman's throat but as yet she will have none of them. Perhaps when the winter winds do blow she will change her mind.

Hints for the Cook

Suet Pudding.

One cup chopped suet, one cup sour milk, one teaspoon soda, two eggs, two cups raisins, currants or berries, one teaspoon salt, two teaspoons cinnamon, one ground nutmeg, quarter cup molasses, half cup brown sugar and flour to make stiff. Steam four hours. Served in slices with hard sauce or cream. This can be steamed one hour and then put into a fireless cooker for four hours.

Cream Sponge Cake.

Beat two eggs five minutes by the clock, add one cup of sugar and beat again, add one cup sifted flour, in which has been sifted one teaspoon baking powder and one teaspoon salt. Mix well and beat. Add half cup hot milk, stir in well and add a teaspoon of vanilla.

Cherry Charlotte.
Stone the ripe fruit and stew, using for each quart a pound of brown sugar and a little water. Cut slices of bread and butter thin, then lay in a china dish or bowl—round sides and on bottom—and pour the stewed fruit, boiling hot, over the buttered bread. Cover the dish and set where its contents will gradually cool. When quite cold, serve with sweet cream. A simple but a good warm weather dessert to make while fresh, ripe cherries are in season.

Collects All The Dust

from everywhere and holds and neutralizes it. That's what the

WHEN Baby cannot have the natural Food, i. e. healthy mother's milk, great care should be taken in selecting a true substitute. No starchy or farinaceous food should be given to an infant under six months of age. It is not only useless, for the young infant cannot digest starch, but is a frequent cause of illness and rickets. The food given to an infant from birth to 3 months of age should correspond in all respects with human milk. From the beginning of the fourth month to the end of the sixth month, the child requires a more developed food for the building up of brain, nerve, bone and muscle. After the sixth month, baby is growing stronger and more active, and once again a food must be provided to satisfy the increasing demands of nature.
