LOOKS PAD FOR NEW YORK POLICE

Certain Members Suspected And Important Arrests Are Expected Soon

"The Trail Leads Where I Thought it Did," Says District Attorney Whitman, Who Writes Strong Letter to Commissioner Waldo—Mayor Takes a Hand.

New York, July 15.—"The trail leads where I thought it did," remarked District Attorney Whitman today. "This was just after he had heard the statement of 'Jack' Rose, the friend of Police Lieut. Charles Becker and the man who hid the grey automobile in which the slayer of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, drove to the spot where their victim met his fate early last Tuesday morning."

Little by little the involved skein of motives and personalities behind the killing is being unravelled and tonight it seemed probable that other important arrests would follow speedily. Rose surrendered and his confession that he was the man who hid the "murder car," although declaring that he was not in it at the time of the shooting, was the big event of the day in the pursuit of the band who shot down the man who had accused members of the police force with being in partnership with gamblers. Other developments of interest and significance were not lacking, however.

Mayor Takes Hand.

Charles Becker took a personal hand in the investigation, sending for Lieutenant Becker, against whom Rosenthal's first specific charges were made, and three other policemen. He was ordered to go long time with them in company with Police Commissioner Waldo. The outcome of the consultation was not made known, but the mayor took occasion to give out a letter he sent yesterday to the commissioner asking that Becker and the other officers be brought before him.

Caused Him Surprises.

The mayor's letter concluded with an expression of surprise that Lieut. Becker should sit down to dinner with a man of Rosenthal's character. "That he did so was admitted," the mayor commented. District Attorney Whitman had his say in a letter which he wrote to Commissioner Waldo today, relating to the commissioner's request for an immediate complete investigation of allegations of partnership between policeman and gambler. "When you asked this thing," wrote Mr. Whitman, "I was surprised to find that you had made the charge, was alive. I had proceeded so far that he was to appear before the grand jury and give details and names of other gamblers to substantiate his charge. On the night preceding the day fixed he was assassinated evidently by a man who feared his testimony or threatened to reveal the truth. The unwillingness of the police to do this, I am sure, is not to be excused. It is my duty to demand that you proceed without further delay. You are to do so to the satisfaction of the 10,000 policemen. Their real desire rest with the unravelling of this mystery and you have under your direction a small army of detectives and a fund of money applicable to detective work."

BOW BARDIER KNOCKS OUT TOM KENNEDY

Has Best of One of the Fastest Fights Ever Seen in New York—Defeated Man Hard to Conquer.

New York, July 15.—Bombardier Wells, heavyweight champion of England, knocked out Tom Kennedy, of New York, after two minutes and forty-four seconds of fighting in the eighth round of their bout here tonight.

The knockout came as the culmination of the fastest fight that has been seen here since the days of the Horton law. The deciding blow was a right smash to the jaw which sent Kennedy down, his head banging over the lower rope. The referee counted Kennedy out and his seconds carried him to his corner. One hour before in the round Kennedy had gone down for a count of nine seconds when Wells hooked his left to the face and sent his right across the jaw.

Wells was by far the quicker of the two throughout the fight and his idea of direction was excellent. The Englishman forced the fight toward the beginning and worked so hard that he was visibly tired before the fight was half over. Kennedy, in some of the rounds, accepted enough punishment to knock out an ordinary man, but he stuck to his work and although he was outclassed and outboxed all the way, he made a plucky fight. Wells, while he outmaneuvered Kennedy, was not able to get Kennedy under control until the middle of the eighth round.
