"Bill and Dan." (Toronto Saturday Night). Canadian Northern railway magnates are again sitting around the Ottawa free lunch. Just how much they will be able to bite off is still an open question. Some say the chunk will be large—of course it will be if they have their way—and others are equally certain that the West-ern contingent, headed by R. B. Bennett, of Calgary, are going to raise ructions if Bill and Dan get any more jam on their bread. Last week Bill spent a good deal of his precious time in front of the lunch at Ottawa, not with the idea of taking an immediate bite, oh, my, no! He merely wished to size up the grib and ascertain from which vantage point the reaching was beet. However, some mem-bers are not taking any chances, so have placed glass covers over the ple.
