WHAT IS MY LOVE LIKE?

What is my love like? She is fair—
Fair as a tender autumn star,
Twinkling through the woodland air.
A cloven cherry in her mouth,
Her breath a breeze that wanders far
Through camphire hills in the sweet South.

And fine, and delicate, and slim
In her rich, purple-bodiced waist,
Set round with fringes, quaint and prim.
O'er her cool neck, a rosary,
Of fragrant pearls, white serried and chaste,
In one close-linked measure lie.

O, wondrous, wondrous is her hair—
A twisted wealth of golden brown,
That droops above her temples bare.
A milky shoulder, gleaming shy,
Peeps coy and blanched above her gown,
As from a pleasant nunnery.

Her hand so oft doth kiss her lips,
That half the cherry blood has flown
In ruby to her finger tips.
I will not swear me for her eyes,
For, when we meet, my lids are prone—
Supine before their witcheries.

She hath a voice, like a low brook
That crystals through a bed of gold,
By saddest lilies sun-forsook.
And her sweet laugh is soft and slow,
And wise in meanings manifold—
A viol that the spring gusts blow.

Such is my love—a phantom bright,
The vision of a summer brain
Seen half between the dark and light.
She lives within a palace fine,
And sees the moon of fancy wane,
The image and the dream are mine.

NOTES AND NEWS.

UNITED STATES.

The farmers of Texas have nearly finished planting corn. The area planted will be much greater than usual.

The leader of a great revival of religion in De Kalb County, Ill., is a boy of 14, described as "a most fluent exhorter."

Three tons of base-ball bats have been shipped by a single Vermont manufacturer to the Boston market this Winter.

It was in Collinsville, Conn., that a mighty economical old gentleman wrote 27 lines (350 words) on a single postal card.

At New Haven, Conn., Friday night, burglars plundered an Adams Express safe which had just arrived from New York.

Saturday a Westward passenger train on the Central Pacific Railroad was thrown from the track and several passenger were hurt.

Several members of the city government of Newark, N. J., are indicted for fraud in connection with street improvements.

10,000 cubic yards of obstruction have been removed at Hell Gate, near New York. They will get it open pretty soon, so they can all get in!

"He was a good man," says an Iowa paper of a deceased citizen; "but then he sometimes bet on the wrong horse, the same as the rest of us."

Mary Kane, of New Haven, before eloping with a married man, showed her filial devotion to her mother by getting her into the almshouse.

Miss Nellie Grant's Saratorious owns a farm in Wisconsin, which he tilled until the death of his brother made him heir to an English estate.

At Lawrenceburg, Ind., on the 10th, little Flora Boothold skipped a rope 351 times, fell to the ground, and the angels skipped away with her.

In Jersey City, N. J., Saturday, Joseph Freeman, who shot his mother in January, was convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to ten years in State prison.

In a South Brooklyn, N. Y., tenement house very early on Sunday Dennis Delaney, in a fit of insanity, it is supposed, fatally wounded his wife with a hatchet and cut his own throat with a razor.

That was a practical woman who wrote to Evangelist Hammond, at St. Louis, asking prayers to lift the mortgage on her farm, that she and her little 'ones may not be thrown out of a home.

A strolling minstrel was recently arrested out in Missouri for a small theft and fined two dollars. Having no money, the judge adjourned court for an hour and the minstrel gave a show, the "court" taking the fine out in trade.

"Dwellers in crystal palaces should refrain from the propulsion of irregularly shaped particles of granite formation," is the way in which a California editor puts the English proverb about stones and glass houses.

It took a Pacific express train ten hours to run forty miles the other day, albeit it had eleven locomotives "to the fore" But snowbanks as bard as ice and as high as the smoke stack of the engines obstructed the path of progress.

A very bad little by in Dubuque rubbed cayenne pepper dust all over the back of his jacket, and then did shamefully in school. The schoolma'am thrashed him briskly, but dismissed school immediately, to run to the nearest drug store for eye salve.

The dead and mangled body of Niel McLeod, a Nova Scotian, aged 34, was found lying on the railroad track in Woburn, Mass., Friday, and the crooner's jury rendered a verdict of suicide. A letter found upon the deceased indicated despairing love as the cause.

Here's a chance. Said an old gentleman to Miss Phœbe Couzins: "I wish you would give up this foolish notion of running about to lecture and settle down, have a husband and be a good housekeeper." Miss Couzins replied: "Barkis is willing; but where's your man?"

The "heathen Chinee" takes a new role. A Celestial is studying Blackstone at Truckee, Nevada, and proposes to work at half-price. The lawyers thereabout have not yet expressed their idea of prospective "Chinese cheap labor" in their particular field.

Considering the few women who have yet attained unto the dignity of office holding, it sounds bad to hear that Miss Belle Murray, who has been acting as deputy clerk of the Circuit Court of McLean county, Illinois, is charged with embezzlement, and her trial is in progress at Bloomington.

A Western paper says that the way to kill off the poets who offer to write pieces gratuitously is to accept their efforts, hand them to the worst compositor and let the proof reader correct them according to his own ideas of prosody. This is warranted to destroy the strongest poetical fervor in three weeks.

In New York, the pledge offered for signatures of drunkards at a notorious den by temperance people, was a unique affair, it being announced that those signing could do so with a mental resolution to keep it for life, for a year, for a month, a week, or even only for ten minutes. The result of such an announcement was a rush to sign the accommodating obligation.

GENERAL.

The Panama Railroad is to constitute a neutral zone protected by Colombian national troops.

The fire in Panama the 19th ult. destroyed the central part of the city, causing a loss of over $800,000.

How happily things turn out. It is now declared that Gladstone has long been very anxious to withdraw from public life.

There are four ex-Lord Chancellors in England—Lords St. Leonards, Chelmsford, Hatherley and Selborne. Each draws a pension of £5,000.

"Grandma, why don't you keep a servant any longer?" Well, you see, child, I am getting old now, and can't take care of one, as I used to, you know."

Politeness pays: A street car conductor, who recently said, "yes, madam," to a lady, has been presented with a new overcoat, and they talk of a statue to him.

One of the Duchess of Edinburgh's handkerchiefs is worth £1000, and cost for its production five years of labor, besides the eyesight of the unfortunate workwoman.

Early on Saturday burglars stole $100,000 from the agricultural implement manufactory at Woodbridge, Canada, and then burned the building, causing an additional loss of $200,000.

The Duke of Edinburgh doesn't like the poem that Tennyson wrote in his honor. Tennyson is too old now to sympathize warmly with young people getting married. Swinburne would make a better poet-laureate for such an occasion.

An ambitious young lady was talking very loudly about her favorite authors, when a literary chap asked her if she liked Lamb. With a look of ineffable disgust she answered that she cared very little about what she ate, compared with knowledge.

An American named Johnson has been murdered in Northern Peru. Three other Americans are suspected, one of whom, named Blaisdell, has been arrested at Guayaquil. The other two, Stanley and Smith, sailed from Aspinwall for New York on the 19th ult., before the news of the murder had overtaken them.

To persons about to marry, the following stanza upon the signification of the days of the week may prove of service:

Monday for wealth,
Tuesday for health,
Wednesday the best day of all!
Thursday for crosses,
Friday for losses,
Saturday no luck at all.

Punch gives the following advice to an Amphitryon: At your banquets never allow the wives to sit opposite to their husbands. Not only flirting (i. e. fun) is rendered utterly impracticable under such conditions, but there is a Gorgonism in each other's eyes which petrifies their tongues when they catch sight of one another. Let every wife be seated on the same side as her husband, and as far from him as possible; then, although it may be mostly carried on in undertones, you will never find the conversation for a single moment cease.

The Sheriff of Kent—Mr. Girouard to be Appointed.

RICHIBUCTO, KENT, March 16.

To the Editor of the Tribune.

SIR: I have read with some degree of satisfaction and approval your critiques upon our inimitable Sheriff. His manipulation of the office he now holds, whether politically, or in the ordinary course of business, has not been such as to commend itself to the approval of right thinking men. The Government have been repeatedly urged, I understand, both before and during the sitting of the present Assembly, to make a change in the interests of litigants and professional men doing business through the office, and I am informed (it being an understood thing that a vacancy must occur) there have been quite a number of applicants for the position; some supported by prominent men in the North, and some by equally influential individuals in the South. (Kent herself, of course, has no voice in the matter at all.) A general election approaching the Government has found this question a difficult one to deal with, and M. Girouard, M. P. P., feeling insecure in Kent, has relieved them of the dilemma by consenting to "accept the situation" himself. This, probably, is one reason why the public mind is not to be relieved on this question until "All Fools' Day." In the meantime, pledged, as I am informed the Government are to M. Girouard, he still sits and votes in Parliament, a direct and plagrant violation, in my opinion, of the independence of Parliament acts. His vote, however, may be required before "All Fools Day," hence the extraordinary conduct of the Government in delaying an appointment which, in the interests of every individual interested in the office, ought to be immediately made. The present "fraud" has been long enough continued in office: the grievance has been one of long standing, to the knowledge of the Government, who have screened and who will screen him, and they will be held accountable even by their best friends should they not immediately apply the remedy.

If they can't or dare not go the extreme animal let them take the bull either by one horn or the other, and do it at once.
