

What DID the SRC president do this summer?

ER 17, 1971

At the March 24 meeting of the SRC Administrative Board, it was resolved to pay Bo Poore a salary of $1,600, at th rate of $100 a week for 1 weeks from the student summe salary section of the SRC budget. The job was to involve the following responsibilities: 1) Entertainment Union Organization. 2) Orientation Co-ordinator.

3) Alumni-Student Employment Service Co-ordinator.

4) Foreign Student Program. 5) Student Housing Program.

6) Arena Financial Study. 7) Advertising soliciting for the Directory. 8) Initiation of Sub Program. 9) Organization of Alumni-

Student Leader's, Faculty and Administrative Conference Program. Poore explained how some of these projects had been undertaken or advanced since

all U.N.B. Freshmen

last April.

Since mid-July, the University of New Brunswick SRC has become a member of the Fredericton Board of Trade.

"This step had been discussed by the executive of the SRC last term," said Poore. "We're a community of 6,000 people who annually spend $5 million. Yet until now, we had no representation among local merchants." Registration with the boards costs $35 annually.

"It was felt that becoming a member of the Board of Trade would have benefits for the university.

"For one thing, and this is a point I discovered only after we had joined, the Board can help its members collect money owed by fellow members. At the moment, local merchants owe us about $4,000. Most of this debi was incurred through ads run in the Brunswickan and not paid for."

ever, the most important benefits for the university will not be this tangible. Rather, it is acceptance of the students by the city and vice versa.

"We are embarking on what may be termed a three point public relations campaign. Too many people think of all students as being irresponsible.

"To remedy this, we are planning business men's tours; conferences with members of the community, as well as the Board of Trade venture.

"The tours, scheduled to begin in October, are designed to acquaint about ten businessmen a week with more aspects of the campus.

HEARTY "HELLO"

"The monthly conferences between student leaders, faculty, administration and townspeople and councilmen are meant as a rap session about common interests. Actually, it is out of such meetings that the Board of Trade idea emerged.

"We have already taken part in 'Fredericton Good Neighbour Days', a Board of Trade endeavour. People from Rap Room, COPE, the summer garbage collection detail, interested students and myself offered help, much of it good old physical labour for the occasion."

Poore stated that probably there would be little concrete to show for improved relations with the rest of the community. "The type of situation we can hope for is that some landlord who has never in the past rented to students decides to do so, or that perhaps we can arrange for some kinds of cash dis-Poore went on to say, how- counts for students in retail outlets.

"For all of these added projects, be they campus tours hoped that there will be better or meetings with townspeople. we'll need manpower. We plan to launch a general appeal for volunteers in the near future."

> Also initiated during the summer was a Permanent Housing Committee to study the feasability of a student village housing complex. This committee is made up of faculty members, the Dean of Men, The Dean of Women, representatives of the NB Cooperative, the Accommodations Officer and students. It will discuss the possible implementation of such a program which would be independant of university or SRC subsidization.

> > to

and a Welcome Back to our friends

At the beginring of th ummer, Poore atte ded a i iference on student ffairs a: JBC. Partly from this arose plas to make the foreign student program more relevant, help depolarize foreign students and set up an international club.

"We intend to have a foreign student lounge on campus, which different groups can take over for six week periods to express their culture." The SRC has also tied in strongly with the Alumni Association which has 1,200 membership in town. In cooperation with this association, the SRC found summer employment for about 15 students this summer.

Poore said a proposal for a 3,800 seat indoor arena had been submitted. "At the moment we cannot bring in any first class entertainment or cultural activities because we do not have room in any one spot for enough people to make financially possible. We have no bargaining power. This university should grow to 12,000 people in ten years, yet there is nothing like this on the construction program."

A conference of representatives of universities east of Lennoxville is planned for UNB in October to discuss the possibility of an entertainment loop. "Letters were sent to the presidents of the SRC's in all these universities and most replied favourable. This way we could bring in some big name entertainment, hopefully in time for winter carnival."

As well as keeping up his duties of SRC president, Poore managed yearbook activities. To rumours that the yearbook would be late, he answered "The contract negotiated with the publishers stipulated October 15 as the delivery date.

"We ourselves were two weeks late in submitting it, due partly to my fault, and partly to lack of material. However, we have been assured this will make no difference in the date of delivery.

"The yearbook went $1,500 over the budget, due to color Continued on page 14

8 PIECES

to drop in and see the styles for '71

You are cordially invited

Jeans by G.W.G. & Lee Sweaters by Jantzen Belts by Currie Hickok Jackets by Craft & Utex Shirts by Forsyth & B.V.D. Warm-up Suits by White Stag

10% Discount to ALL Students & Student Wives LANG'S LTD SMART MEN'S YOUR WEAR SHOP PLAZA FREDERICTON KOMAT