

I cannot think that Sir Arthur Currie was not sincere when he wrote these words.

Naturally Milner is most awfully disappointed at not being given a chance to save his country, but I suppose there are thousands of others in the same position, but should the time come when he is needed, they will find him willing ready to serve, & to give to his country to the very limit of his strength.

Thanking you again for your interest in Milner.

Yours sincerely

Constance Matheson

J 28026