Q. If I were to tell you that on that military staff car, there is a slight rip on the right front fender, and that where the hole is 2' in from the right extremity of the motor there is a damaged portion, around the right front light. How could you explain the damaged portion around the right front light? How can you explain that damaged portion in there if the car had hit the chevrolet from the rear. It must have just grazed the chevrolet in order to avoid you in the centre of the road.
