

GOSSIP.

Appreciation of one's surroundings and achievements is not incompatible with what Emerson calls the "spirit of divine unrest."

Respect and consideration for the feelings of others are virtues too often left out of the training of children in these days when we go to church to show our clothes and to business to get money "some way or other."

"May all your troubles be LITTLE ONES," was the message a wag sent a happy couple who had embarked on the sea of life together. No better wish could have been made. Those who have not little ones think they are very wise, but they do not know as much as they think they do. You can have too much of any good thing, no doubt, but those who want no children are indeed to be pitied.

"And a little child shall lead them" into pleasant paths and prevent them from falling into many pitfalls.

Trust the children, and if you can, have them trust you, and if you are worthy of that trust there can be no higher test of character.

Representative Glass, of Virginia, and Representative Sims, of Tennessee, had a discussion about a ruling by Speaker Cannon. Glass contended that the ruling was right and should be upheld by the Democrats, while Sims said he intended to vote to sustain an appeal.

"Why?" asked Glass.

"Because," said Sims, "I have been taught to do it by my observations in the House of Representatives. I remember once when a brilliant man from Georgia came here as a Representative. He knew all about parliamentary practice, and his convictions were so firm on many points that he was often moved to vote against his party when he thought the opposition was right."

"Well?" said Glass.

"He isn't in Congress now," answered Sims.

THE REAL COWBOY HAT.

The tenderfoot is abroad in the land, under the cowboy hat. You can "spot" him, invariably, by the headgear.

Time was in Montana when the stiff umbrella-like hybrid sombrero "skypiece" now known as the cowboy hat, was a necessity from the Canadian line to Idaho. But that time is past. Now only a small portion of the population "sports" the cowboy hat. Of this portion a still smaller portion is of the cowboys themselves; the remainder is the tenderfoot who desires to give the impression that he is a "ba-ad man."

Somebody imported the hats in from the East, where they are manufactured and exploited by a firm that, probably, never saw a steer or a coulee; hence the exaggerated style. They are sold by the foot, like timber. You lean over the counter and explain to the clerk the diameter desired. He saws you off a chunk of hat, and there you are.

There is the real cowboy hat and the imitation cowboy hat. Like the Panama, the real thing is seldom seen, the imitation often. The real cowboy hat is expensive, the imitation may be had at rates within the reach of all.

The original article was made for the West. It was broad because the blinding rays of the sun, either on bare prairie or snow, were unsupportable without a broad brim; it was stiff because if limp it would have flapped in the puncher's face as he rode. The tenderfoot wears the broad brim for looks and a stiff brim because it is easier taken off when you bow to a lady.

The cowboy hat is a fad, and, like all fads, will pass away. This first style, absurd in itself, will be discarded for a more sensible size. Then the novelty will wear off, and the yellow "felt" will be seen less frequently. But like all things and all fads, this has its usefulness. It enables one to distinguish the green, fresh arrival from the old-timer, who, raised in the West, or long a resident of it, sees neither novelty nor pleasure in the dress the early days demanded, but which the encroachments of civilization have made obsolete.—[Butte Inter-Mountain.]

Keep busy and keep sweet.

One thing that children are for is to make parents realize their own responsibility. Many a man has been saved from hell on earth by the thought of what he owes to the children.

You can do your children more harm by humoring their foolish whims than by firmly saying no, but be sure they are foolish before you say no.

The wise parent will say yes as often, and no as seldom as possible, but will understand the great importance of having both no and yes mean just that.

Mr. J. A. Govenlock, Forest, Ont., has recently sold to Mr. Robt. Leach, of Watford, Ont., the Hereford bull calf, Forest Hustler, said to be one of the best bred animals of the breed in Canada. Chas. W. Armour, of Kansas City, Mo., who owns his sire, Majestic, is reported to have refused $4,000 for him.

Mr. Govenlock, owner of the Forest View Farm herd of Herefords, has been very successful in prize-winning this season at the Toronto, London, Strathroy, Petrolia, Watford and Alvinston exhibitions, sweeping everything in the class at Sarnia, including the $25 medal given by the Bank of Commerce for the best herd of pure-bred beef cattle on the grounds. His prize-winning bull calf, Forest Pride, that has won the first prize at all the above fairs, kept up his good reputation by winning the special prize given by Messrs. McCallum & Lesueur, for the best bull any age or breed. In this class the first-prize junior Shorthorn calf at Toronto and Mr. Govenlock's Hereford calf came up against each other, resulting in a victory for the Hereford. Mr. Govenlock is to be congratulated, since we learn a half-sister of his famous cow, Ruby, won first prize in the cow class and grand sweepstakes of the breed at St. Louis, for the best female any age. Lambton County may well be proud of its noted Hereford breeders.

TRADE TOPIC.

EMPIRE'S WELCOME.—One of the handsomest booths in the Agricultural building at St. Louis is the World's Fair home of the Empire cream separator. It is located on the highway that leads from the statue of Roosevelt, and the dairy maid and cows, done in butter, which are a part of the model dairy opposite, all add greatly to the interesting display. Here are shown the various sizes of the Empire, and from early morning to late at night, Mr. A. T. McCargar, who is in charge of the exhibit, is kept busy with inquiries concerning the favorite cream separator of the dairy farmers. The visitors show much interest in the numerous features of construction of the Empire, as displayed at the exhibit, embracing all mechanical devices or parts employed to produce the complete machine. The exhibit of these different parts in a crude and a finished condition is, in itself, a mechanical education, designed to illustrate the scientific, yet thoroughly practical principle employed to secure the greatest element of durability combined with extreme lightness of construction. All those who stop at the booth are at once impressed by these advantageous points, and so the Empire is making still more warm friends. The Empire is at the south-east corner of Block 55, and if you don't know where that is, just look up toward the roof and you will see some huge signs with numbers on. These are the Block numbers, and they are consecutive from 1 up. Just follow them until you come to 55 where Mr. McCargar and a truly royal Empire welcome await you. We are authorized to announce that the readers of the "Farmer's Advocate" are invited to make the Empire booth their headquarters while at the Fair.
