The Boy Scouts Association.

Boy Scouts are organizations of boys and youths between the ages of twelve and eighteen years and upwards, which aim to develop character, to aid in furnishing equipment for a career, and to train in service for others, physical health, and efficient citizenship, by utilizing the natural activities and interests of the adolescent period.

The development of the Boy Scout movement in England is due to Lt. General Sir Robert Baden Powell, Bt., who during the siege of Mafeking, in 1899, had seen the boys, under Lord Edward Cecil's command, organized and drilled into an efficient messenger-service. When Baden-Powell returned to England, in 1902, the idea was fostered and received popular support, and a general plan of organization was adopted. The first Boy Scouts organization was formed in 1908, and a royal charter of incorporation was granted in 1912, the organization being recognized as a "non-military, public service body."

The Boy Scouts Association in Canada is non-military and non-sectarian in character, the movement being supported by Roman Catholics, Protestants and Jews alike. Of late it has also been given consideration as an educational adjunct by well-known educators, some schools adopting the Scout programme in part or as a whole, while some of the universities and leading technical schools conduct special courses for Scoutmasters and other Scout officers.

Local Associations or Troop Committees are organized to supervise and extend the movement in communities upon application by representative citizens to provincial headquarters, Dominion Bank Chambers, Bloor and Sherbourne Streets, Toronto. Such Associations and Committees become responsible both to their communities and to headquarters for the leadership of Scout troops in their area and for their encouragement and support.

The Scouts themselves are organized into patrols of eight boys, two or three or four patrols to a troop under a Scoutmaster. Scouting is now recognized as the most natural and at once the most successful type of organization for boys. Nearly 9,000 Ontario boys are now members, and many thousands more have had the benefits of Scout training during the past twelve years.

Surnames and Their Origin

PIPER
 Variation—Pipard.
 Racial Origin—English.
 Source—An occupation.
 The family name of Piper may come from either one of two sources, though that of Pipard is apparently traceable to only one.
 Undoubtedly the name of Piper is for the most part of occupational origin, that occupation being the obvious one of the player of the bagpipes. This explanation has been objected to by many on the ground that the bagpipes is to be found only in Scotland or Ireland, whereas Piper is a name most frequently met with in England.
 The fact is, however, that while the bagpipe to-day cannot be classed as an English instrument, it was once quite generally in use, particularly in Northumbria, during that period of the Middle Ages in which family names were first developed.
 In some instances Piper is merely a changed spelling of the name Pipard. This name is of Norman-French origin, developed from a sobriquet of nickname signifying clever, or "foxy." There was a Ralph Pipard at the time of Henry III. of England who won great honors for his generalship in the Scottish and Welsh wars of that period.

Millions of War Medals.

It is understood that the distribution of the 1914-15 star, the British war medal, and the Victory Medal will probably occupy about four years. Already 3,000,000 medals have been distributed to individuals or sent to overseas offices at home and to the overseas dominions and colonies for distribution. This distribution includes 1,400,000 1914-15 stars, more than 900,000 British war medals and 50,000 Victory medals.

The approximate number of British war medals required is 9,000,000, and of Victory medals 5,500,000. After deducting the medals already distributed about 12,500,000 remain for distribution, and it is estimated that these will be distributed at the rate of 3,000,000 a year.

WHAT TO DO FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

Good Advice From One Who Had Suffered Much.

Nine-tenths of all forms of indigestion or so-called stomach trouble are not due to the condition of the stomach at all, but are caused by other influences. The great contributing cause of indigestion is thin blood. Good blood and plenty of it is required by the stomach to take care of the food. If the blood is thin the stomach functions sluggish, food lies undigested, gas forms and causes pains in various parts of the body. Instead of getting nourishment from the blood the system gets poison.

Relief from this condition can be obtained by the tonic treatment which Mr. D. Shaw, Mt. Stewart, P.E.I., tried and now warmly recommends to others. Mr. Shaw says: "I suffered from indigestion for over four years, and have tried many of the well-known remedies for such troubles, but never obtained more than temporary relief. The trouble was aggravated by constipation setting in owing to the stomach failing to do its work, and laxatives only gave relief to the bowels and left the stomach in worse condition. The result was my blood was growing more and more anaemic, I did not sleep well at night and was growing despondent. I was in this wretched condition when a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I got three boxes and by the time they were finished there was some change for the better. This greatly encouraged me and I continued taking the pills for some three months, by which time my stomach was all right again, my blood good, nerves strong and life was again worth living. My advice to all who suffer from stomach trouble is to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained through any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

President's Wardrobe Cost 38 Cents.

Being President may pay the rent but it doesn't always provide the wardrobe—not in Armenia at any rate. A letter just received from Erivan, the capital of that most unfortunate republic, tells how President Ohanjanian got his winter woollens, and it wasn't a case of political graft either.

It was in a Near East Relief old clothes warehouse and the charming young worker was dispensing second-hand clothing to a long line of ragged applicants who offered, in exchange their thanks, or at least a few cents. Bending over her bundle of "cents' furnishings," she was suddenly startled by the sound of a suave and unusually musical voice inquiring in English for a suit of underwear, of the largest size on hand. She looked up and beheld a very tall and very dignified gentleman arrayed in a greenish black, rather frayed Prince Albert. It was rather difficult to associate so impressive a figure with anything so unromantic as a request for woollen underwear, but since such had unmistakably been what he asked for, she made all haste to supply him with the largest outfit in stock.

To her surprise, he offered her in payment the equivalent of thirty-eight cents in Canadian money. Involuntarily she protested but he reassured her in his gracious tones: "Really, madam, I have plenty, you know. You forget I receive the quite remarkable salary of twenty dollars a month."

Tractors in France Easily Become Tanks.

Every French farm will become a potential artillery depot, if the suggestion made by prominent farm tractor manufacturers to the Chamber of Deputies is carried out, as now seems possible, says a Paris despatch. They contend that certain tractors constructed at moderate expense can be transformed without difficulty into powerful tanks with armor clad turrets to be constructed according to the Government design and supplied throughout the border areas to reliable owners of suitable machines.

The details of supplying these tanks with ammunition are still to be worked out by the military officials, who are showing such interest in the plan that special films are being prepared for presentation before the Chamber of Deputies. Prominent military critics are said to have urged the acceptance of the scheme, declaring that if eastern France had been equipped thus in 1914 the massed advance of the German army could have been stopped in the Vosges foothills.

A Pessimist.

Jim Brown says, says he to me, Life ain't what it used to be, Everything is money mad, Things are going to the bad, Politics is shameful now, Preachers ain't as good somehow, As they were when he was young, Even Gospel hymns ain't sung As they used to be, says Jim—Least that's how it seems to him.

Jim Brown says, says he, that men All were honest back then, Merchants all were kinder too, Trusted more than what they do, Women didn't nag the way Most of 'em take on to-day, Everything is worse, says he, Than it was in ninety-three.

Jim hangs round the corner store, Hasn't worked for months and more, From the last job where he hired, Out of work he soon was fired, Mrs. Jim though, sews and sews, Just to keep her kids in clothes, It's about all that she can do, To buy shoes and feed 'em too, Since Jim spends his time in fretting 'Bout how bad the world is getting.

Home Land.

There are worlds, I'm told, 'mid the silent stars, There are lands far across the sea; But where'er I roam comes the dream of home, With the faces so dear to me, When the shadows fall loving voices call.

While the red sun sinks in the west; Then big tears rise to my longing eyes For the land that I love the best.

When the night winds sigh, and the seabirds fly Far away o'er the trackless foam, Then my heart flies, too, o'er the ocean blue;

Love has wings that can bear me home, Other worlds are fair, but they'll ne'er compare, Though you search 'mid the stars above,

To the world I know, where the blue-bells grow— My dear homeland of peace and love.

Food for Explorers.

Men experienced in Arctic exploration are of opinion that, if the frozen wilds of the north are to be invaded by balloons and airplanes—Alaska being particularly in mind where the use of the latter is concerned—they should take with them supplies of food in the form of pemmican.

Pemmican is concentrated nourishment, of small bulk and light weight relative to its food value, and especially adapted for the support of life in cold latitudes by reason of the fat it contains. In old times it was prepared from buffalo meat, but some Indian tribes to-day make it with beef or the flesh of other animals.

The original process of making pemmican began with slicing buffalo meat into slabs an-inch or less in thickness and hanging these over frames to dry in the sun. Flies were kept off by building a small fire beneath. When thoroughly dried the meat had shrunk more than two-thirds in bulk. Then it was roasted slightly to make it brittle and was reduced to a fine powder by pounding it with flails.

Then the hide of a buffalo was cut and sewn into a sack, which was filled with as much of the minced meat as it could hold, fat being finally poured in scalding hot so as to fill every crevice. Bags of pemmican thus prepared were so solid that at one time a quantity of them were used to build a redoubt which the Hudson Bay fur traders used during their conflicts with the Northwest Co.

The pemmican manufactured in this way could be converted into shape for eating by simply chopping it up with a hatchet. However, it was better in soup, called "rub-a-boo," or fried in its own fat. Cooked in the latter fashion, it was said to taste remarkably like a superior quality of tallow candles.

A notable advantage of pemmican is that it will keep good and wholesome for years.

Unappreciated Help.
 A Philadelphia physician had been called in to treat the spoiled child of a certain family. After his departure the mother returned to the room and told the youngster that the doctor had complained that the child had been very rude to him.
 "Why, mother," replied the kiddie, "he's just an old fog, that's all! He got mad just because I put out my tongue before he told me to."

Had High Authority.
 The young man who had been calling so frequently on Helen at last came to see Helen's father. Finally, the suitor made this announcement: "It's a mere formality, I know, sir, this asking for your daughter's hand, but we thought it would be pleasing to you if it were observed."
 Helen's father stiffened. "And may I inquire," he said, "who suggested that asking my consent to Helen's marriage was a mere formality?"
 "Yes, sir," replied the young man. "It was Helen's mother."
