MISTAKEN ORDER.

The Boers Say it Caused Their Retreat from LadysmithGet off in Good Shape, However, with Very Little Railroad Assistance.

Boer Camp, Biggarsburg, Saturday.
March 6. The Federals have fallen back on the Biggarsburg chain, crossing Natal south of Dundee. The retreat from Ladysmith was due to the mistake of a certain Commandant in ordering his men to retire from the key of the position without any reason for the movement.

On receipt of the bad news from the Modder River, Wednesday, it was resolved to send the wagons back to Biggarsburg, and soon long strings of ox wagons lined the roads. Over a thousand wagons took the westerly route to the larger south-west of Ladysmith. Another convoy was sent to the foot of the Drakensberg. A large number of tents captured from the British at Dundee and also the ammunition were abandoned. The chief difficulty was in dismounting "Long Tom."

The Boers were independent of the railways, as was shown by the fact that not one of their 2,000 wagons went by rail. All travelled by road, together with the field batteries. Only the heavy guns, the infantry and the last train had left Ladysmith. A workmen's train followed, carefully blowing up every bridge and culvert between Ladysmith and Glencairn, and when this had been done, setting fire to the British with Natal's southernmost collieries in their hands, are unable to draw supplies therefrom. Under cover of night, and with the collieries sending lurid flames to heaven, the bullock wagons wound over the hills, making roads where none before existed, and the four months' siege of Ladysmith was raised. It is impossible as yet to give the burgher casualties, owing to the disorganization of the ambulances and the consequences of the retreat.

New Note Paper of Royal Blue.

The girl who likes to be called individual chooses one kind of note paper and sticks to it through life, but for the girl who likes to be first in the field when it comes to a new fad, the very latest novelty in note paper is "Royal Blue." It well deserves its name on account of its rich dark color, but between you and me and the ink-stand, before using I should advise hunting up the blackest kind of ink and the stubbiest pen you possess.

A Nice Toilet Soap.

Cut in very small shavings one-half pound pure imported castile soap.
Place in a porcelain vessel and pour on two quarts of boiling water. Let it simmer, stirring it gently, till every particle of soap is dissolved. When this is done it should have the consistency of thin cream.

It thickens add more warm water.
Stir in one-quarter of a pint of alcohol and set aside in a warm room for several days. All the impurities will settle in the bottom and the lotion will be as clear as crystal. Pour off, being careful not to disturb the settled portion. Add one-quarter ounce essence of verbena, and you have the nicest, most harmless soap possible.

A "Komahia" Writing Set.

"Komahia" was, imported straight from Paris, has just made its appearance. An exquisite set for a writing desk of bird's eye maple, consisting of tray, inkstand and penholder, was of pale blue china inlaid with an open scroll work of silver, and would be a pretty addition to a girl's room.

If God's place in the soul is empty, nothing else can ever fill it.

SHED SKIN
20 TIMES

Little Boy's Terrible Eczema. Mass of Sores from Head to Foot.
Not an Inch of Body Unaffected.
Skin Came off with Bandages.
Screams Were Heart-Breaking.
3 Doctors & Institute no Avail.
CURED BY CUTICURA.

My little boy began with an itching skin.
I tried three doctors and medical college, but he kept getting worse. There was not one square inch of skin on his whole body unaffected. He was one mass of sores, and the stomach was frightful. At the time I was induced to try CUTICURA because he was so bad that I had to cut his hair all off, and put the CUTICURA (ointment) on his poor head, as it was his only hope. I removed the bandages they would take the skin with them, and the poor child's screams were heart-breaking. After the second application of CUTICURA (ointment) I saw signs of improvement, and the sores began to dry up.
His skin peeled off every time, but now he is entirely cured. I used CUTICURA (ointment) for his blood, and a stronger and healthier boy never saw than he is now.

CUTICURA
Begins with the Blood and Ends with The Skin and Soap.

That is why CUTICURA (ointment) purifies the blood and cures the skin. It is a warm bath with CUTICURA Soap and gentle soaping with CUTICURA (ointment), a great oil-soluble skin cure, cleanses the skin and scalp of crusts and scales, dandruff, itching, burning, and inflammation, soothes and heals. This is exactly, permanently, and economically cured the most torturing, disfiguring humors of the skin, scalp, and blood, with one of hair, when the best physicians and all other remedies fail.

Gentlemen,—In January last, Francis Richards, of the lumber woods, had a tree fall on him, crushing him awfully. He was, when found, placed grave fears were entertained for his and his body turned black from his wounds. We used McCall's LINIMENT on his feet, and to deaden the pain, and with the use of three bottles he was completely cured and able to return to his work.

FARM
AND GARDEN

CONCERNING ALFALFA.

Soils That Suit—Preparing the Land.
Time to Sow.

Professor Thomas Shaw, the well known authority on forage crops, treats the subject of alfalfa very thoroughly in Orange Judd Farmer, where, among many practical items, occur the following:

The soil best suited to alfalfa will be measurably dependent on the moisture that can be furnished to it in the form of rain through surface irrigation or from a subterranean source. Loosely sandy loam soils rich in certain elements of plant food, particularly lime, phosphoric acid and potash, are usually regarded as the most suitable for alfalfa. These soils should be deep in character and should lie on sandy or gravelly subsoils—that is to say, sub-soils which consist of fine gravel intermixed with sand. Such soils are eminently adapted for growing alfalfa when water is plentifully supplied from the clouds, from irrigating ditches or from the water table in the subsoil. This water table must not be too near the surface, or the root growth will be hindered, to the great injury of the plants, nor must it be too far from the surface, or it will fail to reach the plants in sufficient quantity. When water cannot be supplied from ditches or from a subterranean source and when the summer climate is dry in character, it will be found that alfalfa will grow best in soils that are underlaid with mild, porous clay subsoils, which the roots can easily penetrate.
If grown under these conditions, if the subsoil were sand or gravel, the plants would not obtain sufficient moisture.

The best soils for alfalfa in the United States for growing alfalfa when amply supplied with water are the volcanic ash soils, alluvial in character, that are found in the valleys west and southwest of the Missouri river. The sandy soils of the states south and southeast of the Ohio are not usually rich enough to produce maximum crops without being fertilized. The soils of the upper Mississippi basin, with exceptions somewhat numerous, do not seem to have the proper food elements. In other localities, particularly in states north and east of the Ohio, are stretches of hardpan subsoil which forbid the growth of alfalfa.
In all soils where the water table comes near the surface at any time in the year alfalfa cannot be successfully grown.

When alfalfa is to be laid down for a term of years, it is important that the land on which it is sown shall first be well cleaned, either by summer fallowing it or, what would be better, by growing some crop on it that is given clean cultivation. It is also important that the ground shall be plowed deeply in preparing it for the alfalfa or, what would be better perhaps, in preparing it for the cultivated crop that is to precede the alfalfa.

Subsiding the land will usually be found a good investment. But this should never be done by running the ordinary plow twice in the same furrow, except in soils that are as rich in available plant food as are rich in water. In the upper one. Otherwise the plants from the new sown alfalfa may not be able to get food enough to produce a vigorous growth when they are young. But when alfalfa is sown along with other plants to provide pasture it is not so necessary to have the land in such a perfect condition of preparation, owing to the limited period during which it will be grown.

The time for sowing alfalfa varies much with the locality. It should not be sown in the winter or in the summer. In the northern half of the republic it is usually sown in the early spring, as soon as the ground has become warm and the danger from severe frosts is past. In the southern half thereof it is sown in the autumn and also in the spring. When sown in the autumn, sufficient time should be given to the young plants to make enough growth to enable them to pass the winter safely, with its frequent periods of trying temperatures.

From the Ohio Station.

In view of the great difficulty in securing a good stand of beets in 1897 and 1898 by the late planting that late seed distribution made necessary, it has been suggested to try planting the beets much earlier. It is hoped in this manner to get the beets started before the dashing rains and hot sun of May and June. It seems to be advisable to try planting late in March and in April.
Just as soon as the ground can be well worked after fall or winter plowing and subsoiling. With the sugar beet it is advised to follow the custom of onion growers and aim to secure germination before the crusting of the soil by the rain and sun which is so liable later. It is not believed that frost danger is greater with due care than the danger just stated for late planting.
The Ohio experiment station is now ready to receive applications for sugar beet seed intended for planting in 1900.
It is the purpose to send out the best seed in March, 1900. The amount sent any person will be limited to 12 pounds.

ster, O."

To Tan Coon and Cat Skins.

Soak the skin thoroughly and spread alum and salt thickly on flesh side and roll up and lay away for a week and then clean off and rub dry with corn bran or wheat bran; then dress with carbolized vaseline. If you want the hair off, soak in lime water until it slips; rub and treat as before, says Farm and Ranch.

Evolution of a Snail.

All the differences.

An English traveler once met a companion sitting in a state of the most woful despair, and apparently near the last agonies by the side of one of the mountain lakes of Switzerland. He inquired the cause of his sufferings.
"Oh," said the latter, "I was very hot and thirsty, and took a large draught of the clear water of the lake, and then sat down on this stone to consult my guidebook. To my astonishment, I found that the water of this lake is very poisonous! Oh! I am a lost man—I feel it running all over me. I only have a few minutes to live. Remember me to—"

"Let me see the guidebook," said his friend.

Turning to the passage he found,
"L'eau du lac est bien poissonneuse."
"The water of this lake abounds in fish."
"Is that the meaning of it?"
"Certainly."

The dying man looked up with a radiant countenance.
"What would have become of you," said his friend, "if I had not met you?"
"I should have died of imperfect knowledge of the French language."

she has never accepted a position. It

ACCURACY.

Now, said the client, taking out his pocketbook, how much are your services worth?
That has nothing to do with the case, answered the professional man.
Of fine distinctions. What you ought to have asked is merely how much I am going to charge you.

THE FIRST IN THE WORLD.

Merrill's System Tonic is the first medicine to combine the tonic with the reconstructive treatment in the case of disease. The blood is purified, new blood is made, the nerves, muscles and tissues of the heart, stomach, liver and kidney are toned and strengthened, and then nature is enabled to throw off the disease which has been ravaging the body. For Constipation, Catarrh, Chronic Rheumatism, System Tonic is a positive cure. Sold at 50c. per bottle, by the Central Drug Store.

TOO HONORABLE.

"Angry Father—How dare you show your face here again, sir.
Nervy Suitor—I might have worn a mask, that's true; but that would have been deceitful.

THE LIVER AT THE BOTTOM.

The liver is usually at the bottom of a great many diseases. It is the liver which obstructs the bile. It is the bile which enters chemically into the composition of the digestive ferments, and also acts as a cathartic.
Merrill's System Tonic makes a strong, healthy, active liver, hence is a positive cure for Dyspepsia, Constipation and Nervous Trouble. 50c. per bottle—take doses 50c. Sold at the Central Drug Store. Descriptive pamphlet free.

Wright—How much did the editor give you for your poem?
"Is that all? Why, he gave me more than that for a lost dog last

In the Jaw of a Lion.

The gallant Major Swaine tells of being knocked senseless by a lion that knew his arm. His thrilling escape from the jaws of death is only equalled by Dr. King's New Discovery thousands from desperate Throat and Lung troubles. "All doctors said my wife would soon die of Consumption," writes L. G. Overstreet, of Elgin, Tenn., "but your wonderful medicine completely cured her, and saved her life." Satisfaction is guaranteed by A.

I. McCall & Co., who give trial bottles free. Large bottles 50c. and $1.

28 GALLONS OF BLOOD pass every hour through the heart, liver and kidneys. How vastly important it is that these important organs are not irritated. And also how important it is that each of these organs should be strong and healthy so that their work may be thoroughly accomplished. Merrill's System Tonic is not only a powerful blood purifier but a reconstructive tonic for these important organs. 50c. per bottle, price 50c., at
