

SACHEL OF THE SATELLITE

This was regular April fool weather all right.

O. L. Lewis, Crown Attorney, will look very nice in print.

Who'll secretary the Grits to defeat now that W. A. Thrasher has gone?

Our East Branch correspondent tells us that the warm weather has caught a cold.

Kind of mess of the weatherman to cut off all Easter military display last Sunday.

Between ourselves, wouldn't Victoria avenue be a good place to put that new library building?

Is it Easter music or Easter military that takes so many people to church on Easter Sunday?

Why is Eriean to W. H. Harper like throat is to a dog? Because that is where both keep their barks.

Had the Library Board chosen a different site last Thursday night, I would have said they were gifted with second site.

Perhaps the reason why the School Board left blackboard out of their specifications was because lumber is so high just now.

I just guess that those soldiers who don't attend drill and mark time do time over at the jail, and I am not very good at guessing either.

When those London people hear that we watched and chained W. A. Thrasher and then gave him real money, they will think we wanted to get rid of him.

If, everywhere, they have as much trouble over the site as here, then Carnegie must get a powerful lot of free advertising. He should sell patent medicine.

I am grieved to see my agile contemporary waxing wrathily over the late opening of the Opera House. If the curtain rose sooner, half the patrons would miss half the show.

I wonder if that Dr. Chase who advertised himself in my amiable contemporary is the same Dr. Chase whose advertisement of patent medicine appears in another column of this G. H. J.

Citizens who have occasion to traverse the west side of Forsyth street after dark should be posted. There are three tree posts close to the sidewalk that must be avoided and should be removed.

If that man who is writing those anonymous letters letters claiming that he killed Quirk at Brantford would only come out and show himself, I'll bet that he wasn't within a hundred miles of Brantford at the time of the murder.

Dear Satellite, I desire to call your attention to something concerning the five corners on one of which the new library may be built. When that time comes the five corners may then be styled as follows:—

- I. Legislation and Taxation.
- II. Salvation, Donation and Oratorical.
- III. Education and Animation.
- IV. Recreation and Education.
- V. Operation and Amputation.

Yours truly,
F. S.—I got this idea from Toronto. A. Y.

FATE.

It is very convenient to attribute the disasters which overtake us to fate. But for the most part man is the author of his own fortunes. Business men are struck down suddenly as by lightning. The verdict is generally "heart failure." "His heart was weak. It was fate for him to meet this end." But if we went behind the "weak" heart we should find a "weak" stomach, probably, and back of the weak stomach is careless eating at irregular hours.

When the stomach is diseased the organs depending on the stomach for nutrition are starved. Starvation means weakness of the body and its organs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. When these organs are cured, diseases of heart, liver, lungs and kidneys, caused by the diseased stomach, are cured also.

"In the fall of 1897 I was taken with smothering spells, palpitation of the heart, and a distressed feeling in my stomach," writes Mr. H. W. Kinney, of Knight, Doddridge Co., West Va. "I consulted a doctor and he said I had organic heart trouble. He gave me some medicine, but it did me no good. I then tried different kinds of patent medicines, but they only helped me a little. I then sent and got five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Before the first bottle was gone I felt a change. When the five bottles were gone I began to work. I had not worked any for a year before."

"I am well and can eat anything now with the exception of pork and greasy food."

Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness.

When those London people hear that we watched and chained W. A. Thrasher and then gave him real money, they will think we wanted to get rid of him.

Theatrical

"Laugh and be merry," is an old English phrase that aptly expresses the condition of affairs during a performance of "The Telephone Girl," which comes to the Grand to-night. "The Telephone Girl" is a clean, laughable and attractive musical comedy by Hugh Morton and Gustave Kerker, also authors of "The Lady Slavery," "The Belle of New York," and other New York Casino successes. The humor of the piece is contagious and continuous, while the music is undoubtedly the best and most tuneful ever written by the prolific Gustave Kerker.

Nothing more pleasing in musical comedy line can be seen than "The Telephone Girl," that popular and pleasing emanation from the New York Casino. Pretty girls, catchy music, clever comedians, beautiful costumes and handsome scenery form nucleus of an entertainment that never fails to win the heartiest approval from all lovers of this style of entertainment.

"SIDE-TRACKED."

Theatre-goers at large will no doubt be glad to hear that our old friend, the funny tramp, Horatio Irving Booth, will stop in his peregrinations and lay over for a rest, the freight car in which he travels being "Side-Track" at the Grand on Thursday.

The comedy is one particularly free from disagreeable suggestions and its episodes and incidents create laughter that is almost continuous. Bright and clever specialties are introduced at appropriate moments during the action of the play and the musical numbers, freely interspersed, lend an attractiveness to this entertainment that few plays of this nature possess.

The company engaged by Manager Seamon is composed wholly of actors and actresses especially qualified to portray each character with finesse and precision.

The performance in this city can be depended upon to prove among the best of the season and the audience is sure to feel eager for more attractions of equal merit to "Side-Track" when the curtain falls on the final picture.

Reserved seats for this engagement are on sale at the usual place.
