WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form. Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat it as a disease by enriching your blood with the cod-liver oil in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building-up tonic, free from any harmful drugs. Try it.

An Open Letter

To D. B. Oakes, Esq., President of the Kings County Liberal Association: Sir—I have before me the Halifax Morning Chronicle of December 10th, last, in which we have a report of the annual meeting of the Kings County Liberal Association held at Kentville the previous day, and in this report we are told that two resolutions were passed.

With the first one, referring to Sir Frederick Borden and the promotion of Liberal principles, I am in hearty accord. With regard to the second resolution I have somewhat to say. Why was it necessary to bring the subject of temperance before this meeting? Heretofore it always seemed to me that the association tried to avoid this subject.

Now, Dr. Oakes, is that resolution true or false? Is the illegal sale of intoxicating liquor in the County being lessened by my dismission and the appointment of additional magistrates? I will leave it with those who are acquainted with the truth or falsity of this statement.

I am taking my commission from me without an investigation, which was asked for, I believe Premier Murray did something that was against his better judgment. His hand was forced by our representatives and it is your duty to see that the incident of my dismission is closed by the passing of this resolution, you are much mistaken.

Notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Wickwire in his place in the house, under cover of relationship and personal and political friendship, "knifed me under the belt."

Now I wish to say, that I was not dismission because my judgment in the Rand case was wrong. No Government would dismiss an official for a wrong decision in a suit, and it has not been decided by any court that my decision in this case was wrong.

Those who voted for that resolution "hold up their hands in holy horror" at the thought that respectable conservatives should think of supporting Mr. deWitt Foster after, as they say, he had taken graft in connection with the purchase of horses for war purposes, and yet uphold men who attempt to injure one's reputation, and on such evidence as was used in my case. Which deserves the most condemnation? I would ask you and those who voted for that resolution to put yourselves in my place and imagine how you would feel to have been treated as I have been.

Perhaps there is no better way of judging rightly in a matter than by putting oneself in the other fellow's place.

EDWARD M. BRCKWITH, Crossing, April 3, '16.

From the Front

The following is a letter received by Miss Harriet Nowlin, of Swan, Mass., who is visiting at her old home at Gasperau, from her brother, Mr. John Nowlin, of the 6th Canadian Mounted Rifles, now at the front in France:

France, March 12th, 1916. DEAR HARRY—Received your last letter dated Feb. 22nd, last night so that I can answer at once. Really you should not imagine your poor old brother Jack as being set on by Old Fritz in anything else, for outside the risk that has to be faced at this time, Jack Nowlin has too much to look forward to to take any unnecessary risks, so don't worry and in God's good time we'll be "top of the world" boys any morning we will be victors, and then Canada for those who remain.

I have had no mail from Canada for some time but only a very scarce one twice a month. We have had dirty weather the last week or so and rain with freezing at night but it's about all gone now. I would like to see some other part of France besides this mangle of F. Fritz that is half under water and the other half in sand bags before I go home to kick out for good!

Well, it isn't finished this and that mail as I don't have a chance again soon for we'll be leaving this place any time. The weather now is like May at home. The few warm fine days we have had have dried the roads and the farmers are doing spring work. I certainly would like to be at home this spring but, though Fritz is getting straggled in good shape at Verdun and where ever else he performs any of his funny stunts, it will take some time to wait the 24, up to suit the allies, but Kaiser Bill and his pals must go under before long.

Hutchinson and I got passes to go to town yesterday and it just changed to be the day that French and Canadian soldiers were being decorated with all sorts of French and English medals. It was a great sight and I wouldn't have missed it for anything. The French soldiers and band formed two sides of a square and our fellows the other two sides, while all around us were a mass of soldiers and civilians as dense as those to be decorated. Inside the square those to be decorated were lined up and in front were the generals. Directly behind them was the French standard surrounded by the guard. A French general was decorating some of the Canadians when we arrived. He would pin the medal on, then kiss the fellow on both cheeks, the soldier would salute, the MILK & CREAM.

TO THE CONSUMER.—Have you ever taken the precaution to look into the conditions under which your milk and cream are produced? Does your milkman provide the 300 cubic feet of air space and 6 square feet of glass per cow, considered essential by the best authorities?

Milk produced in dark, badly ventilated stables is unclean food, especially for young children. Do you get milk from cows that shed the winter's accumulation of dirt and dead skin with their coat of old hair in the spring, or are they regularly caulked and brushed and their hair clipped short on the flanks and under?

It costs more to produce milk under ideal conditions, but my prices are no higher in spite of this greater first cost. Visit the premises of your present milkman, and if you are not satisfied with his stables and surroundings, write or phone me.

Production and Thrift CANADA from her abundance can help supply the Empire's needs, and this must be a comforting thought for those upon whom the heavy burden of directing the Empire's affairs has been laid. Gain or no gain the course before the farmers of Canada is as clear as it was last year—they must produce abundantly in order to meet the demands that may be made and I believe this to be especially true in regard to wool. The woolly staple which must be particularly affected in this vast struggle. Strain and strain may yet be in store for us all before this tragic conflict is over, but not one of us doubts the issue, and Canadians will do their duty in the highest sense of that great word.—HON. MARTIN BURELL, Minister of Agriculture.
