Rest of the Field Battery Left This Morning.

The latest report with respect to the Fourth Field Battery is that the boys who would have liked to remain at home left for camp this morning. Son ago the Government cut down the estab lishment for camp, and the wise boys got their names on the pay roll. After got their names on the pay roll. Afterwards others wanted to go, but the doors were closed. When the time for leaving arrived about ten of those who had enrolled wanted to get out of it, thinking there would be plenty to fill their piaces. They, however, learned their mistake when told that they could not be replaced unless they could put up a reasonable excuse or doctor's certificate, and unless they complied with the rules they would be subject to a very undesirable prosecution.
