VENERABLE BROTHER. HEALTH we have so much at heart, end it for the members to continue to devo themselves to this wors as they her been doing—that is, with the greate ciligence and the mobilest enthusias DICTION.

We who, when we were Patriarch of Venice, blessed the pious Society of St. Jerome and formed good wishes for it, looking at it now after a few years from the Supreme Chair of the Church, and satisfaction in seeing how it has made so much progress in a thort me and has been the instrument of so many signal altranges. For the Society of St. Jerome has not only circulated its edition of the Gospels throughout thatly, founding in the Poinsula three centres of action in order to carry out it intention made effectively, but has help the Society.

Ring the Belles.

Military men have found that mared men are braver than bachelors. This is not surprising. They would not be married if they were not brave. Only the brave deserve the fair.

Most bachelors hope, some day, to be brave. They hope to grow less selfish. They hope to overcome declaration that he will never marry is like a woman's No. He has another guess coming; and he is glad of it Like one of the characters in , Shakes peare, he has an explanation in re-"When I said I would die a bachelog, I never thought I would live to be married."

His possibility of remaking into a narried man is the most interesting thing about a bachelor-often, the only interesting thing. However, he should not wait until this interest is uperseded by pity.

much colibacy of the unsanctified kind. There is an anadequate amount of that sort of lay co-operation that every pastor would warmly welcome; -to-wit, the ringing of the parish belles.

"When Grack meets Grock, then the tag of war," said a young of a not or of famous sayings that are mist, ored always. It is from Nathaniel toe, and its right reading is, "When Gracks joined Greeks then was the tag of war."

Another misquotation is 'It's an ill wind that blows nobody any good,' This is from Ihomas Tasser, a sixteenth century worthy, and it should run, 'It's an ill wind that turn none to good."

"Out of sight, out of mind,' is from Lord Brooke, but it was 'Out of mind as soon as out of sight,' as Lord Brooke wrote it.

"First in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen' should run, 'First in war, first in peace hardship, evades no rack, flees from no anguish; it has laughed at lock smiths since the beginning of time Heroic spirits quail, hearts sink with feer; and strength is over matched; but this delicate and fragile spirit from heaven remains when all other possessions are wrecked and survives when all else has perished.—By Ham-ilton Wright Mabie in the Columbian.

Pilgrimage to Rome.

If any of our readers or their families are contemplating a trip to Europe this coming summer, why not encourage and patronize the one conducted by McGrane's Catholic Tour, 167 B'way, N. Y. City.

You would be sure of an audience with our Holy Father, see Europe in a substantial manner, be in good company, and save money as against traveling independently.
