vear after harvest.

And give you facts regarding successful Farmers that will surprise you. The Canada Northwest has the most productive soil in the world. Its wheat fetches the highest price; its live cattle are admitted to the English markets, while United States cattle are not. There is a market for the farmer at every station; and there are schools and churches wherever there are settlers. It is not subject to drought nor floods, to grasshoppers or to cyclones or tornadoes. Ask any Canadian Pacific Railway agent for books and maps concerning it; ask for "Farming and Ranching in Western Canada," or the "Free Farms" map, or "Actual Experience," and read the testimony of men who have gone there from Eastern Canada. Young women are in great demand; they find occupation as domestics directly they arrive, and readily get married to prosperous young farmers. Young men or young women can start life there almost without money. They make the money there; an independence is gained in a very few years by the thrifty. The old settlers of New Brunswick should use their influence with the young men who intend emigrating to keep them within the Dominion, where there are "officied better advantages than in the United States and they do not lose their nationality. MELISSA proofed coats or other garments are just what the Inventor and Manufacturers them to be, neither more nor less. They are both rain-proof, porous and odorless, there-fore perfectly healthful and comfortable. They fore perfectly healthful and comfortable. They are common sense garments and should be treat-ed in a common sense manner. Although rain-proof, they are not waterproof in the sense that a water cushion or bottle made of rubber is waterproof. Being porous, water can be forced through them, either by heavy pressure or by squeezing with the fingers. If they were absolute-ly waterproof they would be absolutely air-tight and therefore no better than rubber. Herein lies the peculiar value of the invention. Sensible and therefore no better than rubber. Herein lies the peculiar value of the invention. Sensible people do not buy rainproof garments for the purpose of forcing water through them or for carrying water in them, neither do they take shelter under a water spout, nor sit in a peol for pleasure. They buy rainproof garments to wear for the purpose of protecting themselves from the weather, and a Melissa coat or mantle will offectually protect the means for means how means in effectually protect the wearer for mante will a heavy rain or snow storm.
