THE ONTARIO ELECTION. Parliament was brought to a close, and the next event of importance will be the holding of conventions in the constitu-

West Huron is one of these constitu encies, for up to date no word of a nominating convention for either of the political parties has been vouchsafed. Thereappears to be an anxiety on the part of each of the political factions to know who the candidate of the ether will be before a convention for the purpose of nominating a standard-bearer is held. Many of the Reformers up to date are calculating upon Hon. A. M. Ross being still open to candidature, notwithstanding the rumors of his retirement from public life which have been prevalent of late. but there are numbers who look at his retirement as amongst the possibilities. and who have undertaken to look about for an eligible candidate in the event of his withdrawal. The Reform party is not lacking in good material for representatives even should the sitting member see fit to retire, and the party would not be without resource should the present incumbent decline to be a candidate at the forthcoming contest. It is quite true that the prestige that attaches to an old member, who has gone over the ground many a time and oft, necessarily gives him a status, but the fact of having a record, of one kind or other, is often a source of weakness rather than strength to the old member. Our own opinion is that nine times out of ten the fact that a man has occupied position and been subjected to the lurid glare of public criticism is often to his detriment. In the tenth case the man must be an exceptional man in more ways than one. Abraham Lincoln laid down the axiom, "Never swap horses crossing a stream. and if we are not going to swap horses the earliest opportunity of setting aside the rumors that have arisen regarding the probable retirement of Hon. A. M. Ross should be had. This can only be done by the immediate holding of a Convention, and the personal declaration of the Provincial Treasurer. It is believed by many that the Local election will be held in the "leafy month of June" and it is absolutely necessary that the Reform candidate should be in the Kelly. field and approved by the Convention at the earliest possible date.
