

DIRT WILL FLY THIS FALL ON GREAT WATERWAYS RAILWAY

William R. Clarke, Promoter of Edmonton-Fort McMurray Line Returns to City Ready to Commence Work.

BIG PRICE OBTAINED FOR BONDS ON EUROPEAN MONEY MARKETS

Final Location Surveys and Twenty Miles or More of Grading Will Be Undertaken Before the Snow Flies.

Promoter to Immediately Complete Organization—Declares Railway Will Be in Operation in Four Years—Refuses to Make Any Definite Statement Concerning Location of Terminals, Stating, However, That They Will Be a Credit to the City Bonds.

Stock Sold in London, Paris and New York.

In the arrival in the city last evening of Wm. R. Clarke of Kansas City, financial manager of the Great Waterways Railway, accompanied by E. A. James, general manager, Dr. J. L. Waddell, chief engineer, and G. D. Nix, of Winnipeg, solicitor for the company, the city of Edmonton can look forward into the not very distant future to seeing an independent railway extending northward as far as Fort McMurray and having the northern terminal in Edmonton.

This is Mr. Clarke's second visit to the Alberta capital. He was here during the sitting of the Legislature last winter when he secured the charter and guarantee of bonds for an independent railway from Edmonton to tap the wonderful resources of the north country. Since then he has been engaged in the monumental task of planning the construction of the railway line. The road has been built many a time in paper but as Mr. Clarke assured the Bulletin last evening he has now got his organization in working order and is prepared to go ahead with the actual construction of the road this year.

Unassailable Financial Standing.

"How are the finances of the company?" Mr. Clarke was asked. "I have recently returned from a trip to Europe where I readily secured all the money necessary. Over fourteen million dollars have been secured of which $7,400,000 is in stock and 7,000,000 in bonds. The capital has come from France, England and the United States. It will soon be flowing into this city in the way of wages for the men employed on the construction of the road, and the money will be a credit to the city bonds."

Asked as to what figure the bonds sold at, Mr. Clarke did not wish to institute any comparisons with the bonds sold by other companies in the old country money markets, but stated that the figure was most satisfactory and that the provincial government need have no fear for the security of the bond guarantee which has been given.

On the important question of the organization of the company and the work that is expected to be done this year Mr. Clarke said that the heads of the various departments of the railway were nearly all at work and that parties will at once be put in the field to complete the preliminary investigations which have already been made. He said that some grading would be done this year probably twenty miles or so and that the work would begin from the city end, but several miles north of the city.

As to Terminals.

"What about terminals in the city, asked the Bulletin. "That is something that will have to receive attention, but I cannot give definite information regarding this now. What I can say is that when we have our station built and our yards laid out we will have something that I believe will be a credit to the city of Edmonton."

Mr. Clarke showed great interest in the events which have been transpiring since his last visit to the city. He asked about the latest news from the north and remarked on the evident trend of the tourist to the northern empire. He asked about railway construction on the G.T.P. and C.N.R. main and branch lines and was pleased to state that the most friendly relations exist between his railway and the great transcontinental lines.

Foeder for Transcontinentals. "Our line to the north will be a feeder for the G.T.P. and C.N.R. roads," said Mr. Clarke. "This will mean a great deal for the growing city of Edmonton to have the connection here. I have faith in this city and in its future as far as railway facilities are concerned."

Asked as to how long it will take to complete the Great Waterways road Mr. Clarke said it would be completed by the time the G.T.P. gets through to the coast if not before. It is the intention however to operate any part of the line as soon as it is completed.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS CASE.

Geo. Snowden, Kingston Man, Struck on Head With Bolt.

Kingston, Ont., Sept. 9.—There is a mystery surrounding the case of Geo. Snowden, who was severely injured at the locomotive works yesterday afternoon. He was struck on the head with an iron bolt and is now in the general hospital in a dangerous condition.

Two stories are given of the affair. One is Snowden had threatened another workman, McManus, whose brother interfered and that the latter took the bolt from the throat. The latter resented the assault and picked up an iron bolt and struck Snowden on the head.

This story given by the locomotive works staff is that Snowden was thrown in a fit and accidentally struck Snowden, who is suffering from a scalp wound and concussion of the brain. Early this evening the doctor held out small hope for recovery. He is a married man with one child.

USES GULLS AS MODEL.

Washington Inventor Working on New Aeroplanes.

Washington, Sept. 9.—A young first lieutenant of engineers of the United States army, whose name is not given at this time, is working on an aeroplane which he thinks will be far and away ahead of anything that has thus far been produced. The officer perfected his plans for the body of the ship after a prolonged study of sea gulls and their movements on the coast of Oregon. He had some large models fixed in the water with platforms on top of each. There every day he placed some model and from a distance watched through binoculars while the gulls came up and hovered over the food. He watched their poise and flight and got what he regards as the secret of bird flight. These ideas he will apply to an aeroplane. He is now working on the engine for his craft.

SEES FOR HIMSELF CANADA'S INVESTMENT POSSIBILITIES

Lord Northcliffe, the Empire's Most Distinguished Journalist, Owner of More Than Seventy Dailies and Weeklies, Visiting Western Canada to See Its Possibilities For Emigration and Investment.

Edmonton today is honored by a visit from one of the Empire's most distinguished newspapermen, Lord Northcliffe, or, as he is called, Lord Northcliffe. He is the principal owner of the London Times, England's greatest moulder of public opinion; the Daily Mail, with a daily circulation of over a million, and many others of the greatest publications in the old country. Accompanied by Lord Northcliffe, Mr. Charles Furse, wife of a famous artist; C. F. Moberly Bell, managing director of the Times; Evelyn Wren, editor of the Overland Mail; and F. A. MacKenzie, special correspondent of the London Daily Mail, he arrived by special train at midnight without a moment's delay.

In the morning His Lordship was taken for an auto ride around the city by Ex-Mayor McDougall, and his time has been spent in the morning in the city of Edmonton. In the party from Winnipeg was also Hon. Frank Oliver, minister of the Interior. From now until October 3rd, when he reaches Grand Falls, Newfoundland, where he will open his immense pulp mill, every day of his time has been provided for. He is travelling on a definitely arranged schedule.

Object of Western Visit.

"My object in visiting Western Canada is to see how far I am justified in recommending in my newspapers English investment and English emigration."

Thus briefly, in his own words, did Lord Northcliffe state to the Bulletin, at his private call this morning, his mission to Western Canada. Judging from the interview which he gave, his most favorable impression was the buffalo herd at Watrous, and his recommendation in the seventy odd dailies and weeklies which he controls.

Much Impressed With Buffalo.

One of the most impressive sights to the distinguished journalist on his trip to Edmonton over the G.T.P. railway was the buffalo herd at Watrous. "You have an invaluable possession," he said, "in those buffalo, and you are well advised to keep them across the continent to see. It was a great investment for the Dominion when they secured possession of this herd."

His Lordship is deeply interested in emigration to Canada and will urge the terming of Canada's shores as the prosperous, aggressive young men, full of energy and ambition, who find in the old land but a limited scope for their ability and ambition.

Wrong Kind of Emigrants.

"A good many Englishmen I meet in Canada are of the wrong kind to go anywhere and some of them are the worst kind of emigrants. They are London, with its seven millions, Glasgow, Liverpool and elsewhere. Others who come over here are the character you will find in the old land, when you have two or three generations of prosperity—idle sons of the moneyed classes—the remittance men."

"There is only one thing on which this country depends," he continued, "and the thoughts of the interviewer at once turned to wheat, the great staple of the West."

"I would make the suggestion, with all respect, to you who are investing your money and your labor in building railroads and in building grain elevators that you keep your eye on European affairs a little and begin to figure out why it is that the shipping yards in Germany are busy constructing rapid and first-class battleships, and why it is Krupp's works have increased their hands to over one hundred thousand, and exactly what would be the effect on your farms, your railroads, your Fort William and your city if, about harvest time, a change in France in 1870, you read a cable in the papers that all your staff had been held up on the Atlantic?"

"You have a prosperous country, but," said Lord Northcliffe, "it is not ensured. It is protected only in so far as the navy of Great Britain can protect it, and it would appear that the time is not remote when British navy might have all that it can do at home. Your country is prosperous, but its property is not protected."

Germany Knows Canada.

"Were you ever in Germany?"

few people there travel less than the Canadians. You tell me that Germany is never been in Germany, but Germans are travelling in large numbers through your country every year. They know it accurately your wealth and your weakness. There is in Austria and Germany a population of 119,000,000 people. The motive of their young men is 'Battleships and business'."

"Continuing, the visitor indicated how completely the German people were preparing for war and to how slight an extent the general public appreciated the extent of their preparations. Numerous instances were cited when great wars had broken out without clear warning. In Canada there were hundreds of thousands of Americans who, until the Fort Sumter affair, did not believe war was imminent. Similarly people today are sleeping on a volcano and did not know it. 'Canadians would do well to make a clear study of the trend of affairs in their chief market—Europe.'"

Superiority of Canadian Route.

"I was much impressed," he said, "touching on another subject, 'with the superiority of the Canadian route over traveling from London to the old land to the West. One is only out of sight of land four days, the last two days you are always in smooth water, and on account of your examination is held on board the boat. When you arrive you walk off a little wiser, a little more half a day or longer, as in New York. It is a good lesson to the lines running into New York, for no reason why they should not do the same. Yours is a route that especially appeals to lady travellers for their beauty and comfort. It is only being four days really at sea."

More Communication Needed.

"The trip has become one of the easiest in the world. It is surprising how few Englishmen come to Canada and how few Canadians visit England. Consequently there is a lack of communication between the two countries. There is nothing like the intercourse between Canada and the United Kingdom and Canada and Great Britain and South Africa, or some of the South American countries. If you compare your news figures of England and Canada and of England and Argentina you will be surprised. I do not know why there should be such a difference, unless it is the lack of communication between the two countries. Canadian business has not been sufficiently pushed in England. However, there is no reason why it should not be."

Taking another tack he continued, "Canadians do not realize sometimes how widely spread English investments are. You do not realize the many new markets we have acquired in the last few years. There was a time when the world was a very small place. The development of the rubber industry and of the tea business of the world, the development of the oil business, the development of the sugar business, the development of the cotton business, the
