Blacking & Mercantile Co., Ltd., Amherst, N.S.
Dear Sirs,—We have nothing but good to say of Mathieu's Syrup and can conscientiously describe it as the most popular and successful Cough Medicine we handle. Owing to the absence of any drug store in this vicinity there is a great variety of proprietary medicine sold in the course of the year, and Mathieu's Syrup pre-eminently leads in its own class. Yours sincerely,
D. MARTIN.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

"It's a lucky thing for me," commented the shampoo lady, as she squeezed my dripping hairs over the bowl and prepared to swathe them in the towel. "That so few people seem to take much stock in the proverb about a stitch in time saving nine."

"Why, I've got all of seven heads in my care this winter that'll need maybe two years' treatment before they'll be in a really healthy condition. And there isn't one of those heads but I could put right in two or three months if the folks had come to me when the hair first began to fall out."

A week ago I went to the oculist with a swollen eyelid and a blood-shot eye.

He gave one glance at me and reached for a bottle of medicine on his desk.

"You're the ninth case of pink-eye I've had this week," he remarked as he poised the dropper above me. "Guess there's an epidemic. How long has your eye been troubling you?"

"Just since last night," I told him. My promptness in attending to my suffering member was due to no special wisdom on my part, but merely to the terrified appreciation of the value of eyes as part of my stock in trade.

"Well, I guess that means not more than two or three days for you. I've promised the others about eight or ten days, but you get off easy because you didn't let it get in a terrible state before you came to me."

And this promise proved correct both in my own case and, as I heard later, in most of the others.

"A stitch in time saves nine."

How many doctors, dentists, oculists, hair-specialists—members of every profession that has to do with the renovating of the poor, abused human bodies—get rich on the average person's refusal to take that as a working motto in the care of their bodies.

If everyone went to the dentist for an inspection once in every three or four months, instead of waiting, as the average person does, until an unendurable toothache fairly drives him to the dentist's door, there wouldn't be business enough, a dentist told me the other day, for more than half the dentists who now thrive and grow fat and set up automobiles on the dental needs of the community.

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

"A stitch in time saves nine."

"A fence at the edge of a precipice is better than a hospital at the bottom of it."

Ninety-nine out of every hundred people would say, "Of course," without ever stopping to think, if you asked them if they believed those propositions.

And yet I don't believe nine out of one hundred people really live them when it is a question of the care of their bodies.

Can you say that you belong to that nine?

Horse Distemper.

Prince Edward Farmer Sincerely Declares Nerviline is a Specific.

"After fifty years' experience in raising horses I can safely testify that no remedy gives such good results for an all-round stable illness as Nerviline." Thus opens the very earnest letter of J. J. Ewanston, who lives near Wellington, P.E. "I had a very valuable horse that took distemper a month ago, and was afraid I was going to lose him. His throat swelled and hard lumps developed. His nostrils ran and he had a terrible cough. I tried different remedies, but was unable to relieve my horse of his pain—and suffering till I started to use Nerviline. I mixed a bottle of Nerviline and sweet oil and rubbed the mixture on the throat and chest three times a day and you would scarcely believe the way that horse picked up. Nerviline cured him. I also have used Nerviline for colic in horses and cows, and earnestly recommend it to every man that is raising stock."

For strains, sprains, swellings, colic, distemper, coughs and colds, no liniment will prove so efficacious in the stable as "Nerviline"—it's good for man or beast, for internal or external use. Wherever there is pain, Nerviline will cure it. Refuse substitutes. Large bottles 25c., five for $1.00, at all dealers, or the Catarrh-ozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

From Palace to Monastery.

Prince Frederick Heinrich of Prussia, who has just entered an Italian monastery as a monk, is a cousin of the Kaiser and a son of the late Prince Albrecht, Regent of Brunswick. He comes of a family noted for its romances.

His brother, Prince Joachim, was dismissed from the German army by the Emperor because of his affection for Marie Sulzer, an actress, who previously had been married in London to the Austrian Baron von Liebenberg.

Another brother, Prince Frederick Wilhelm, was sent to Konigsberg to study and, instead, fell deeply in love with the beautiful and fascinating Countess Paula Lehndorff, the nineteen year old daughter of the famous adjutant-general to the old Emperor William. The Kaiser objected to the match and communicated his objection to the Countess's mother, with the result that the Royal student was forbidden the house and, on his declaring that he would marry the object of his choice in spite of the Emperor himself, he was exiled from the country.

Prince Frederick Heinrich also came in for the Kaiser's displeasure. Finding that his inclinations were entirely opposed to the attitude insisted on by his illustrious rank, he threw over the "pomp and circumstance" of the Court and, under the name of Herr von Roggen, went to live as a private gentleman. This reactionary decision reached the ears of the Kaiser, who ordered the Prince to return to Court or to face a life-long exile. The Prince chose exile. After wandering about in Southern Europe, he became sick at heart and sought solace in the Catholic Church. At length he decided to become a monk, and, abandoning his real name, entered the monastery as Brother Henry.

This Prince, who has tasted of every luxury, now cleans his own cell, sleeps on a plank bed, and on his ill-protected knees assists his brothers to scrub out the corridors. Long hours are spent in devotional exercises, and much time is devoted to the gardens.

In addition to this practical sympathy with the demands of the Roman Catholic Church, the Prince has made his whole fortune over to it, to be devoted solely to charitable and humane purposes. The Kaiser is greatly incensed at the Prince's conversion.

Six Perished in Fire.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, April 23.—Two bodies have been recovered, and it is believed that at least four more are in the ruins of the Hotel Thoma which was destroyed this evening. In the ruined upper story were found two bodies, both fully dressed, they evidently having been suffocated. They have not been identified.

A light which burned for six weeks in the rear of a house on Blug street, Pittsburg, excited the curiosity of neighbors and resulted in the discovery that W. R. Roblin, a wealthy man, who lived a reclusive life, had been dead for a month or more. Beside the bed in which he lay dead was found a bottle marked carbolic acid.

Aids Nature

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM—it pays better. But you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in Plain English; or, Medicine Simplified, 1008 pages, over 700 illustrations, newly revised up-to-date Edition, paper-bound, sent for 31 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing exp. Cloth-bound, 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

Use cream silver polish to clean old ivory.

Fried apples are delicious served with pork chops.

Use sour milk and salt to brighten brass candle sticks.

First wash table linen in cold water and then in hot.

Among the popular confections are crystallized lilacs.

Have a slip of unbleached muslin for your pastry board.

Mushrooms cut into small pieces make a novel filling for an omelet.

Not all canary fanciers know of the bird's love for nasturtium blossoms.

A teaspoonful of glycerine added to the rinsing water makes the flannels come out like new.

In serving hominy for breakfast, just before taking from the stove add a beaten egg.

Time and often money are saved by the use of the ready-made clothes driers now on the market.

Fill a little cheesecloth bag with chopped ice and give to the baby when cutting teeth.

Meringue used instead of pie crust as the covering of an apple pie somewhat of a change.

Use the ordinary tongs that come with boxes of candy for plucking the hulls from strawberries.

A white felt hat can be beautifully cleaned with the soft inner part of a stale loaf of wheat bread.

When the children's books have become soiled the pages can be cleaned by rubbing with powdered pumice stone.

When next making lemon jelly, add a few cloves to the mixture. The seasoning will be a pleasing addition. When coating chocolate creams the melted chocolate often becomes curdled. To remedy this add a little olive oil.

Chicken salad served in green pepper shells not only is attractive, but the season from the pepper is very pleasing.

A delicious pineapple dish is made from the fresh fruit, served with mayonnaise mixed generously with whipped cream.

Cretonne-covered shoe boxes are very handy. They come provided with pockets for as many as a dozen pair of shoes or slippers.

To clean curtain hooks place them in water in which a little ammonia has been poured and leave for a little while.

The arrangement of a mirror so that a child can see itself at play will often times prove as amusing to a child as a playmate.

When sweeping a room which has a heavy old fashioned dresser in it remove the lower drawer and sweep under with a whisk broom.

Take Care of That Bald Spot.

The time to take care of your hair is when you have it.

SALVIA will stop the hair from falling out by making the roots strong.

Cures Dandruff by killing the germ. Grows hair abundantly by feeding the roots.

A money back proposition if it fails. For sale and guaranteed, 50 cents a large bottle.—may 4.

ALAS, THE POOR BARBER!—No doubt this new law in North Dakota forbidding barbers to eat onions will arouse breathless indignation.

Run Down?

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a tonic. It does not stimulate. It does not make you feel better one day, then as bad as ever the next. There is not a drop of alcohol in it. You have the steady, even gain that comes from a strong tonic. Ask your doctor all about this.
