Schooner Nevada Ashore.

AT STAG HARBOUR RUN.

Special Evening Telegram. SELDOM COME BY. Aug 22. The schooner Nevada, William Matthews, master, from Brandy Harbour, Labrador, for Pool's Island, with 400 quintals of fish, ran on the rocks near Stag Harbour Run narrows this morning at 3 o'clock, and at noon was still held firmly. The crew are engaged landing fish, after which it is hoped the vessel may be floated, as she is caught at the mainmast, and not making much water. The Fogots coming from Dog Bay went to her assistance, but as there was no likelihood of towing the schooner off, continued on to Indian Islands.—Daily News.

Menace to Clean Government.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir.—It is written somewhere that "blood tells." I proved it this afternoon as we sat complacently smoking our pipes by the old railroad track in full view of the beautiful slopes of Freshwater. We have two dogs—setters—respectively named "Hot" and "Grouse." "Hot" because he's after everything alive in the woods, mice, ground sparrows, etc., etc., and when I take him off on the regular "hunt" in the autumn he has to be severely licked into shape before he gets in his work properly. But "Grouse" is the personification of a well-bred, pure-blooded dog. Yesterday as we sat as I have said, with one dog tearing madly through the undergrowth, while the other lay lazily at our feet, on the alert, however, and mutely appealing to us, as it were, for reasons of his companion's wild careering, the above quotation occurred to us: "Blood Tells!" There is no place like solitude for a grand "think out." We are told that "the bracks and woods, the lakes and waterfalls, the ruins and the quiet daylight convince the heart more readily than volumes of ingenious controversy read over with aching head and weary eyes in the midnight chamber." Well, we "thought out" the late controversy over the Governor's "lapse" re the Coaker-Morison escapade. Now does "blood tell here?" If former Administrator's handled certain cases as clumsily in the past, we'd have little respect for the Motherland, not to speak of those who "rule over us."

Suppose a man was incited by a servant of the Governor to steal a coat of the Governor's from the hall of the Vice-regal residence, was found out and brought to book would there be any sympathy for him in the excuse that he "forgot" it was wrong? Now, there's the whole thing in a nut shell! Governor Williams has connived at injustice—we put it mildly—he has trailed the seal of his office in the dust; he has condoned the offence of a man who has long ago made too much out of the Colony; and if Britain has no better men to represent her, she'd better give them some kind of a job at "home" for where are we to look for British "fair play" ideals of sound statesmanship, etc., etc., if not be in the Representative of the Crown? Such acts tend to weaken the foundations of all morality and go far to strengthen Socialism and all the other "isms" that at present are a menace to all clean governments.

"WEDGE"

On Second Thought.

BY JAY E. HOUSE.
Every man follows a bellweather. Who is your bellweather? "He is the sort of man," said Eph Wiley yesterday, referring to one of his aversions, "who stands in line in front of the box office of a moving picture show." What is your favorite family argument? The favorite argument in the Gaston family is as to where the dog would sleep, if they had a dog. Eph Wiley says Doc Quigley never received the meed of praise to which he was entitled. "Doc Quigley," Mr. Wiley says, "was a fine trombone player who steadfastly refrained from giving exhibitions of his skill. We are always a little suspicious of the reformed who attempts to capitalize a hectic past. When an actor goes broke he is given a "benefit." But when you go broke you will be expected to live off your more fortunate relatives. Occasionally a lecturer loses his notes and is unable to proceed, but unfortunately, a singer never loses his music. Laura Jean Libbey holds that when a woman loves a man the fact that he wears a glass eye is unimportant. Once in a great while expert opinion and fact coincide. Every newspaper has its points. As an instance, the DeSoto Eagle Eye prints no report of the doings of the Gridiron club.

Football at St. Pierre.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Mr. Editor.—A little after five o'clock Wednesday afternoon the shrill whistle of the French tug brought together about forty of the young people, who intended to go to St. Pierre to see the much talked about match between the St. Pierre and the Grand Bank teams. Foggy weather prevented a good game but in spite of conditions a well contested one was exhibited, and much enjoyed by the large number of people who witnessed it. The Grand Bank losing the toss had the privilege of kicking with the wind, and before the whistle sounded half time, Grand Bank had notched up two goals to their credit.

The second half opened up with a determination on the part of the French boys to try and make things hard for Grand Bank. A hard struggle continued all through this half and many fine chances to score on both sides were lost owing to the ball being in a very greasy condition. About ten minutes from the finish Grand Bank got possession of the leather and made a pretty dash down field, a neat pass from the left wing was driven through by the centre. Great excitement prevailed until the whistle sounded full time, leaving the Grand Bank team victorious—3 goals to nil.

We heartily congratulate the St. Pierre team, they certainly played a good game, and a better one is expected on the return match. Hagan played a star game and is the life of their team. The full backs and goal keeper also played well for St. Pierre team. A banquet was served at 6 o'clock and all the Grand Bank young ladies together with both teams were invited. We would like to give a more detailed account of this banquet but we are afraid we will be intruding too much on your space. We would like to thank our French friends for the way in which they so loyally entertained the Grand Bank team while at St. Pierre.

The true spirit was exhibited by the flying of the Tricolor and the Union Jack from the flag poles. We hope to make them feel at home when they come to play the return match. We heartily congratulate Mr. Nicholle, the captain, on the success of his team and for the good one he has selected. Much praise is also due to Mr. Tibbo who so successfully got off this excursion without a hitch.

Mr. English Replies.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir.—I have read in your issue of 13th. inst. the latest effusion of that Great Unknown(?) Fair Play, and it has but confirmed my opinion regarding the gray matter in his brainpan. His adulatory eloquence is certainly overwhelming. I notice, however, that he has begun to wriggle in his contentions, and he now puts forward another objection to the Branch supervisor. Others, too, of his superficial remarks disclose the fact that your correspondent is a very pusillanimous reptile. With regard to the exsiccative propensities of Fair Play's puerile bombast, I may say that the inclination is a minus quantity. Perhaps he has handed me the wrong decoction, and has taken the correct one himself. If so, I shall expect to see him again as the exact counterpart of an adjusted Egyptian mummy. He whose conscience is so corrupted with injustice should write under a different signature. I have never had the presumption to write to a newspaper without sending my name, neither have I had the audacity to interfere with the appointment of supervisors. This is my last letter on the subject and if Fair Play wants to get me out once more, he must come along some night, and essay one of his spasms near my house. I shall leave in a few days for a place "situated between two grim headlands," and as there is no "king's man" there, we may arrange for a contest to decide if Fair Play is capable or not of bullying me into oblivion. One more point there is before I go. I would advise Fair Play to purchase, if he has any money left after the "snakes," a small volume entitled Outlines of English Grammar, and in his spare moments, to note the importance of the correct uses of tenses and the proper position of qualifying words and phrases. Yours truly,
L. E. F. ENGLISH, A.A.,

Garden Party at Job's Cove.

A garden party was held at Job's Cove on the 15th inst., under the patronage of the Rev. J. Lynch. There was a large attendance and the weather was all that could be desired. The football teams of Broad Cove, Western Bay and Job's Cove were present and added much to the interesting programme of sports. In the ear test A. Woodfine was the winner. J. English came in first in the quarter mile, covering the distance in excellent time. In the football five Broad Cove won from Job's Cove by one corner. The final event in the field sports was a football game between Western Bay and Job's Cove. The former team were several men short, but their positions were filled by Broad Cove players. This aggregation proved too strong for the Job's Cove eleven, though in the first half it seemed as if victory would fall to the later. At half time the score stood Job's Cove, one; Western Bay, nil. In the second half play was fast and exciting. Western Bay tied the score, and eventually secured the winning goal. After the match the teams were held in the school. A sociable was held in the night and the younger people thoroughly enjoyed the tripping of the light fantastic. The proceeds, which are substantial, go to the building fund of the new church at Northern Bay. Great praise is due those ladies who so successfully carried out the good work.

Wedding Bells.

On Wednesday afternoon at the groom's residence, at Carbonare, the wedding of Miss Josephine Penny, third daughter of Capt. J. Penny, J. P., and Mr. James Pike, took place. The bride was handsomely costumed and was attended by her sisters, Misses Grace and Emma Penny, whilst the groom's brother, Mr. F. Pike, supported the groom. After the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. J. Picoock, a brief reception was held in which only the immediate friends of the parties were present. The happy couple then joined the train for St. John's and took passage by the City of Sydney en route to Camrose, Alberta, where Mr. Pike is Manager of the Merchants' Bank of Canada. Congratulations!
