FREE.RUTH CAMERON.

"He is still a slave whose limbs alone are free."—Greek Proverb.

How many kinds of slavery there are! How few people who are really free in the largest sense of the word!

"Come to walk with me," I said to my neighbor one day last week. It was a jewel day, the kind when you feel the sense of spring in your heart so poignantly that it makes your heart ache, and the pain is sweeter than any pleasure—a day when it is almost a sin to be indoors if you don't have to.

"Oh, I'd love to," she said wistfully; "but I can't. I planned to clean my pantry."

"Let it go until to-morrow."

And The Day After To-morrow It Rained.

"I can't. I plan to go to town to-morrow. Maybe I'll go with you the day after to-morrow."

The day after to-morrow it rained, a cold, miserable rain.

It usually does.

That's what I mean by slavery. That woman is a slave to her plans.

Again and again she misses things worth while because she is tied down by plans and schedules. She is never free to yield to some sudden impulse, to seize some unexpected pleasure, infinitely sweeter because it hasn't had half the taste taken out of it by exaggerated anticipation.

Other people are slaves to possessions. I know a woman who can never go away for the summer because she is afraid to shut her house up. She thinks she owns the house. As a matter of fact, the house owns her, and keeps her tied to its apron strings all the hot, lonely summer when everyone else on the street goes away.

Slaves To "They Say."

Many people are slaves to what people think. "They say" is a tyrant that makes people shape their lives to its pleasure.

Comfort slavery is another form of the most abject slavery. I think there are more people who are slaves to their own comfort and ease and convenience than to any other master.

How many compromises with their better selves people make, how many meannesses they are guilty of, how much of the finer kind of pride they sacrifice, because they or those dear to them must have their comfort and ease.

Thoreau Knew What Freedom Meant.

Thoreau knew what freedom meant. We read about his perfectly independent life and many of us envy him, but we don't dream of emulating him. How could we? Modern life has us bound fast in its shackles.

"And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." I love that verse. And this is one of the ways I like to translate it. If you can get at the real truth of the meaning of life, the truth about what is worth while and essential, you shall be free of all these shackles, you shall be free of the slavery of possessions and plans, the slavery of selfishness and all the other needless servitudes. Of course you will still have obligations—the obligations that home and friendship and love impose. But your service to them will be the service of love and free will, not bond service.

For "ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

It is a crime to willingly expose children to disease because of the belief that they will eventually fall a victim to it. The old idea that the diseases of children are doubly serious to an adult is untrue. An occasional mild case of disease in one instance may be responsible for a serious and fatal illness from this same disease if it is communicated to another.

Parents in particular will often assume the responsibility in exposing their own and other people's children which would make them shudder if they appreciated the true seriousness of it.

Measles, whooping cough and a number of the common ailments of childhood are only looked upon as inevitable by people who are ignorant of the dangers of these diseases and the possibility of avoiding them.

Stormy Weather
Hampers Fishery.

The latest fishery reports received by the Board of Trade are:—
(Salmon Cove Pt. to Collier's North Pt.)—The catch to date is 30 qtls. with 25 for last week.

Prospects are much improved since last report and there is a plentiful supply of herring and caplin. The lobster catch is fair. Codfish is scarce with hook and line.

(Twillingate to Trump Island) — There is no improvement in codfishery prospects but caplin is plentiful for bait. Owing to stormy weather the traps have been unable to fish only part of the week in sheltered places where they averaged from 1/2 to 1 brl. The hook and line men did poor also, having only a good sign part of the week.

HOT WEATHER.

You say, "Great Scott! The day is hot! The solar rays are pelting, on my old form, till I'm so warm that all my lard is melting!" And when you meet, upon the street, some other panting duffer, each has his say about the way he sizzles, sweats and suffers. The more you think you're on the blink, the more you will be fretting; when it's about and throng around, there's nothing like forgetting. We fume and cure, and pet and nurse our every punk affliction, when, if we'd smile and josh awhile, 't would leave our jurisdiction. When heat is hit, I say, "I wot, no kick of mine will change it; the weather man pursues his plan, and roars will not derange it. I did not weep when snows were deep, and in the blast I shivered, and I'll not sulk because in bulk the heat is now delivered. It does not help to howl and yelp, there is no good in snorting; I'll think of shoes and Eskimos, and polar bears cavorting."

"JITNEY TRAIN" DID NOT RUN.—Owing to the heavy downpour of rain yesterday afternoon, the jitney train service to Bowring Park was cancelled.

"MEASLES."

Hundreds of children are suffering from "Measles" at the present time, and one has to be very careful in trying to avoid the complications that often follow them.

A heavy "Cough" is very prevalent during the present epidemic, and "Pneumonia" is the great danger. Avoid this by keeping a bottle of "Stafford's Phorotone Cough Cure" on hand.

Stafford's Drug Store (Theatre Hill) is open every night from 7.30 to 9.30.

The above preparation is manufactured only by DR. F. STAFFORD & SON, St. John's, Nfld.
