IMMIGRATION LAWS SHOWN TO BE FAULTY

Canadian Students' Humiliation Brought Up in the House.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, Feb. 4.—An innocent, who was kept in jail five years, a young returning Canadian, who was detained thirty-six hours by immigration authorities, the corps of Canadian officers, who with wives and daughters invaded Europe last summer, and the growing army of Fenian Raid veterans, today, f "nished Parliament with four topics for talk.

Gerolmio Fattari, a young Italian, five years ago was sentenced to fifteen years for attempting murder. The confession of another Italian recently proved the innocence of Fatzari and secured his freedom by pardon. Hon. Mr. Lemieux told the Covernment that the man had come to freedom penniless, and among strangers, his wife and children gone, and that there should be some financial compensation. The Minister of Justice replied that the King had done this wrong, through the justice auothorities of Quebec, and that any compensation would have to come from that province. The Federal Government had no power to give it.

Canadian Suffered Indignities. Gustavus A. Colpitts, when a student of Mount Allison University, Sackville, New Brunswick, three years ago, went to Europe to further his educa-tion by travel. He went as cheaply as possible, owing to circumstances, which compelled the student to practice economy and for the same reason, returned third-class. Immigration authorities, acting on regulations, declined to allow him to land at Rimouski, where he could catch an Intercolonial train and reach home in the most expeditious and economical manner. First and second cabin passengers, whether Canadian or not. were allowed to land, but all steerage travellers were held for immigration inspection at Quebec. Mr. Colpitts occupies a Canadian pulpit now. Like his distinguished namesake, Gustavus Adolphus, he is a tenacious man, and cannot forget the inconvenience and humiliation he was subjected to on September 28, 1911, when returning for the first time to the land of his birth.

Sir Wilfrid Interested. His case was stated to Parliament by Hon. H. R. Emmerson. It was heard with sympathy, and the regulation may be changed. "Canada cannot permit any such discrimination, said Sir Wilfrid Laurler. "A young citizen of New Brunswick who, apparently because he was not the son of a millionaire or a millionaire himself, and had been travelling for his education as cheaply as possible, is discriminated against because he is a third-class passenger. Fortunately there is no political consideration, for when the incident occurred the prevlous Government was still in office. But responsibility lests upon all to see that no such discrimination under Canadian regulation is permitted Canadian regulation against any Canadian citizen."

Premier Borden doubted not that the officers of the Government had acted in good faith. It would be difficult to identify returning Canadians among steerage passengers. A passport from the department of external affairs, if obtained before such travellers as Mr. Colpitts left Canada, would serve as identification on their return, and avert such unfortunate happenings. The Premier pledged himself and his ministers to look into this

Mr. Hazen Not Concerned. Mr. Hazen thought that Colpitts had suffered no serious damage, and that as far as his department was concerned there was nothing in the fact that Mr. Colpitts was a third-class and not a first-class passenger.

Hon. Dr. Reid said that this difference in class made a good deal of difference, for first and second-class passengers were permitted to land at Rimouski under a partial clearance, but the privilege did not extend to steerage passengers who had to go on to Quebec by ship. He thought that where vessels stopped at Rimouski, it would be an easy matter to have a number of quarantine officers board there, and let off as many passengers of all classes as wished to take the train at that point.

Sir Wilfrid cosed the incident with a declaration that Canadian citizens should be exempt from the law which was applied to immigrants.

Fenian Raid on the Treasury.

The Fenian Raid on the treasury is growing, and the Government proposes to help it by extending the time in which applications for the $100 may be made. The Minister of Milita made the announcement and added that veterans when the act was passed, are entitled to $100 each.

When the bounty act was passed Parliament was assured that there were only ten thousand men called for service and that not more than six thou. sand of them were still alive. Yesterday, Sand of them were still alive. Jesteroay. Col. Hughes stated that there had been 166,572 men called for service to resist Fenian raiders, that the bonus had already been given 16,470 of them, and a few days ago he declared that there were some four thousand more appli-cations undealt with. The movement ap-parently is just in its infancy, for the whole adult male population of Nova Scotia was called to arms in the two raids, and it is now ruled that every man is entitled to the bounty. Mr. Hughes, of Prince Edward Island, was told that the department has no record of any island corps having been called out.

The Raid Out of Canada.

So much for the ancient raid into Canada; now for the modern raid out of Canada. To questions, the Minister of Militia stated that last summer he took to England 21 militia officers, two orderlies, a secretary and her assistant, and that the wives and daughters went at the expense of their husbands and fathers. The expenses of the party paid by the country totalled $24,262. The officers received pay according to their rank, and it amounted to $3,984. For expenses, they were allowed $10 per day. The officers saw the French, Swiss and British manoeuvres, while Col. Hughes had a special view of the German manoeuvres and at the Dutch and Belgian defences.

Sir Ian Hamilton's Picture.

Mr. Proulx, asked if the Minister of Militia had accompanied Gen. Sir Ian Hamilton to the political picnic of Ward Four Conservative Association of Toronto at Queenston Heights, in July last, wearing a badge inscribed "Borden and Our Empire," and was so photographed. Col. Hughes said that he was there with Sir Ian as his guest on the day in question, inspecting Queenston Heights from a military point of view; that there were a great many picnics going on; that he wore a badge showing "A stalwart young Canadian grasping across the Atlantic the hand of John Bull"; that the minister and Sir Ian were photographed some score of times that day "with a lot of fine people" and "doubtless many of them, apparently intelligent, belonged to the Conservative Association.

boat in a heavy snowstorm hit a rock, sinking in half an hour, in 170 fathoms. Twenty-six persons on board were all saved, reaching here today by the steamship Venture. Captain ichardson' story of the sinking is that the Vadso struck in a wild storm when it was still dark. The steamer immediately began to fill. Many of the crew were in their bunks, and had only time to get a few personal effects, and lower away small boats. All the freight, including a big fur shipment, was lost. The survivors reached Arandal Cannery, where they were picked up by
