Ottawa Halves' Mistakes Offset by Stonewall Resistance of Wing Line.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, Dec. 6.—Rolling up the largest score that has been registered in eastern Canadian senior rugby this eeason, Ottawa Senators flung back a decisive negative answer to the west's est score that has been registered in challenge for dominion supremacy at Lansdowne park yesterday afternoon, when they defeated the Winnipeg when they defeated the Winnipeg Tigers by 24 to 1 and won the national title. Played before a crowd of 5,000 persons on a field that was much better than was hoped for, the game was an impressive demonstration of the right of the capital city team to hold the highest Canadian gridiron laurels for the 1925 season.

of the capital city team to hold the highest Canadian gridiron laurels for the 1925 season.

From soon after the commencement From soon after the commencement there was little doubt as to the outcome. The champions were too strong along the line for the Winnipeg players, and asserted their superiority with a touchdown against the strong wind in the first quarter. To rugby students it was a disappointment. The westerners undoubtedly had the individual ability and showed prowess that was well worthy of commendation, but as a team they could not cope with the machine-like smoothness of the minners. McCann's team played a careful, steady game, piling up a safe margin by the time the half-uay mark mas reached.

Playing right back to their form of a week ago, when they smothered the Queens team in the Eastern Canada final, the Ottawa line turned in a polished display. They repeatedly rammed their way through the lighter Tiger line for yards and except in the third period held the western champions poweriess on their excursions through the front rank. The Senators got the first counter when Connell fell on a bounding ball for a touchdown. The first period ended 5 to 0. A touchdown by Mulroney and a rouge brought the score to 11 to 0 at half-time. Two more points were added to Ottawa's total by kicks in the third, and the Tigers got one by the same route. Victoria Curlers Introduce Roarin' Game To Artificial Ice

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Dec. 6.—Yesterday in Toronto was the climax to a week of drizzle and dull weather, fogs and mist gathering off Lake Ontario and shutting out the sun. It rained most of the day, and in the afternoon became a lownpot r. with sodden streets and skidding motor cars. It was, in fact, by contrast, a fitting day of inauguration for an epoch in Canada in the "roarin' game" of stane and besom," for it marked the informal opening of the artificial curling rink of the Victoria club on Huron street where also, marvellously a great milk-white sheet of ice presented the familiar midwinter ardent curlers, their strange warwhoops and their spectacular business.

Unlike their brethren in Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa and the prairie west, its devotees in Toronto have had to fight the elements—it has always been a matter of luck whether any curling was possible before Christmas, while the season was likewise liable to interruption and frustration. But the curling spirit is stout stuff, and yesterday's demonstration opens for it a quite new prospect in Toronto and other Ontario cities.

It was, of course, an important occa-ion in Canadian sport, for this is the irst artificial curling rink in Canada, loubtless destined to be the fore-unner of many more—there is one in betroit. But it also had a spiritual

Toronto. Dec. 6.—St. Patricks' rugged

Amateur Athletic association rugby team Saturday earned the right to meet Regina Pats, western junior champions, for the Canadian junior title when they defeated Toronto Argonauts, 12 to 3, in the eastern Canada final. With the exception of 1922 when the Ontario winners defaulted to M. A. A. A. it was the first time in many years that a junior rugby title has come to Montreal.

Toronto. Dec. 6.—St. Patricks rugged aggressiveness, with individual and two-man piays, bucked up by a grim determination to win, proved too good for the smooth-working combination of the New York team, and the Irishmen won the National hockey league fix-ture here last night. The final score was 5 to 3. A capacity crowd saw the local squad break into the win column St. Patricks and Hamilton were old rivals, and this rivalry has not diminished now that most of Hamilton's former team are playing in the colorful sweaters of New York.

It was a hard-checking game throughout, with a dashing combination by the visitors in the first two periods, when they had the best of he argument. One goal behind, the locals went into the final period ready to give all they had to avoid a third defeat in so many starts.

Adams, who was his old self at center, scored two counts in quick succession, and Neville, a sub, who played a wonderful game, put St. Patricks two up two minutes later. Shorty Green poked one under Roach for a New York counter as St. Patricks' goalie lay on the ice, and McCaffery added another for the locals before the game ended. added another for the seam ended.

SENATORS TAKE LEAD.

SENATORS TAKE LEAD.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, Dec. 6.—Defeating the Pittsburg Pirates here last night by 1 to 0. Ottawa Senators scored their third consecutive victory and went into undisputed leadership of the National hockey league. In their third game on home ice this season, the Senators were extended to the limit to defeat the Smoky City sextet, who uncovered one of the smartest exhibition of teamplay that local fans have seen for some time. The game was just as close as the score indicates, and there was little advantage either way in the matter of general play.

Slightly more than half the final period had elapsed before Captain George Boucher notched the tally that settled the issue. After two scoreless frames, both teams were throwing their all into the final twenty minutes, with the result that the spectators were in a continual uproar as the rival goalers, in turn, held the opposition at bay when scores seemed certain. Following a dangerous rush by Drury Boucher broke from behind the Ottawa net and sped up the center tricking his way through the Pirate forwards. Coming into the defence, he teadied himself and blazed a terrific ankle-high shot between Conacher and Roger Smith. Worters saw the disc too late, and although he lunged the fully width of the net, his outstretched foot failed to reach the rubber, and the net sagged, while the crowd went into veritable pandemonium.

As an exhibition of hockey, the game was one of the best seen here in years. Pittsburg, one of the newest entries to professional company, showed that they be a team worthy of serious consideration. They displayed commination and teamwork that was a treat to see, and, with Worters playing phenomenally in their net, the result was indeed in doubt until the final beaus and rung.
