Drayton, Ont., July 18.—The Corporation Council of Drayton, Ont., held a special session this morning to consider the report of the Board of Control of the Drayton Railway Board. The matter was sent on to council to be dealt with at the meeting on Monday. The controllers all expressed their regret at the loss of such a competent official and, as Controller Hosen remarked, it will be difficult to find his equal.

NELSON IS SELECTED.

It Will Be the Terminus of the H. B. Railway.

Drayton, July 18.—It is announced that the Government has decided to build the Hudson Bay Railroad from Nelson to the Hudson Bay coast, and that work will be carried on in that direction.

We this road is being built another road will be constructed from Nelson to Nottawa, on James Bay, which will probably be ready about the same time and with a 700 mile run on Hudson Bay will make a and economic connection between Montreal and the wheat fields of Alberta and Saskatchewan. This will be built by the North Railway company of Canada, formed by a number of Montreal capitalists, with capital of $10,000,000.

It is stated that the company has been promised a Dominion subsidy of $2,000,000 for the road, which will come about 500 miles, crossing the international at Bell River. It is also stated that the Provincial Government will give a subsidy of $4,000,000 for that part north of the international, and that the 5,000 miles a mile for the 240 miles south of the Bell River may later be increased to 10,000 acres a mile, as the connection of the road will set back about a connection between Montreal and the Transcontinental.

Two hundred Italian laborers employed on the C.N.R. tunnel under Mount Royal, Montreal, quit work yesterday because they had been notified that hereafter 46 cents would be deducted every two weeks for the camp doctor's salary.

Dr. Torrence of Winnipeg, who was sent abroad to study a contagious disease somewhat prevalent among Canadian soldiers, has returned and reported that the specific bacillus has been discovered and it is expected to have the disease stamped out soon.

"MAKES DIRT RUN"

Comfort Lye is indispensable in every household where perfect cleanliness is desired. Useful for one purpose or another every day. Full directions on each can.

Large Can 10c At Grocers
Comfort Lye labels are worth three cents each when used for valuable premiums.

The company states that the project has already been financed, while 120 miles north of the Transcontinental has been surveyed, and the survey work between Bell River and Nottawa will be completed by this fall. Work at the four square points will start in the spring.

Five different survey parties are leaving for the James Bay country this week on the Boathouse—two from Ottawa, two from Quebec, and one from the North Railway Company. These will not only look into the railway location, but plan for the construction of an extensive elevator system at Port Nelson and Nottawa.

It is figured that the railway from Montreal will cost about $50,000 a mile, the road to be equal in grades to the National Transcontinental.

Two hundred Italian laborers employed on the C.N.R. tunnel under Mount Royal, Montreal, quit work yesterday because they had been notified that hereafter 46 cents would be deducted every two weeks for the camp doctor's salary.

Dr. Torrence of Winnipeg, who was sent abroad to study a contagious disease somewhat prevalent among Canadian soldiers, has returned and reported that the specific bacillus has been discovered and it is expected to have the disease stamped out soon.

The Lady's Mile

The next day was wet and dismal. A wet summer day is the most depressing of all days. Doleful organs alternated selections from the "Trovatore" with the "Old Hundredth," "Home Sweet Home," and "I'm leaving Thee in Sorrow, Annie" — with a dreadful emphasis upon the Annie—below the windows of the Brunswick Square, as Cecil sat in her drawing-room trying to occupy herself, trying not to think of the transport vessel, which was to leave Southampton that day, trying not to remember that it was just possible Hector Gordon might move one last effort to see her before he left England.

If he had called in Brunswick Square that day Cecil would have refused to see him; and yet as the day wore on, a dreary feeling took possession of her, which was something like the sense of disappointment. The inevitable dinner-hour, the inevitable evening, the disappointed scraps of information out of the "Times" newspaper, the joke that had convulsed a Westminster audience in the morning, but which sounded so flat and rapid when recorded in the evening—all the pretty common places which composed the dull routine of her married life—seemed utterly intolerable to Cecil to-day. She had lived too much with the butterflies of late; she had feasted on the intoxicating perfumes of the rose-garden.

working bee, it was scarcely strange if she found his dwelling dreary and desolate.

The day came to an end, the hopeless rain always pattering on the pavements of the square; the organ-man always droning his "Ah, che la morte," somewhere or other with his hearing. Mr. O'Boyneville came home to his substantial, commonplace dinner, and his after-dinner sleep; and sitting under the dining-room lamp, with an unread novel lying open in her lap, Cecil thought of the transport vessel which by this time must have left Southampton water and the green shores of the Wight behind her.

"Thank God he is gone!" she thought. "Can I ever be thankful enough for that?"

CHAPTER XXVI.
A Modern Love-Case.

Mr. O'Boyneville was to leave London for his circuit-work a week after the departure of the 11th Plungers; and again there was a discussion as to the disposal of Cecil's life during his absence. This time she placed herself entirely in her husband's hands.

"Perhaps you are right," she said. "and it is better for me not to stay in town while you are away." "Will you go to the Mountjoys?" you know how often Mrs. Mountjoy has asked you. I'm sure she'd be pleased if you went."
