VOLUME LXIII.

Defending Emperor

Count von Bulow on the Kaiser's Late Visit to Great Britain.

Fails to See Why Friendship Should Not Exist Between the Countries.

An Answer to the Germans Who Criticise Wilhelm's Recent Actions.

Berlin, March 5 .- During the debate on the foreign office estimates to-day, Herr Schnaedier asserted that dissatisaction was rife in Germany, and that ing the political significance of the Em-befor merely had hastened to the death-bed of his grandmother.

The Chancellor laid emphasis on the noble impulse actuating the Emperor in this matter, and the desire of the Ger-man government that it might be vouch-safed to Germany and Great Britain to work in peace and for peace.

"I observed two months ago," said
the Chancellor, "and I repeat it to-day, that nothing is changed in our relations with Great Britain since I dethat nothing is changed in our read tions with Great Britain since I declared in the reichstag that we were ready and willing to live in peace, friendship and unity with Great Britain, on the basis of mutual consideration and absolute equality. If, therefore, the Emperor by his presence and demeanor in England opened the way for a continuance of such normal good relations, it is advantageous to the two countries. No doubt there are many sore points between the two countries; but at the same time there are numerous and nematically the same manner, although there was no further actual resistance. Six policemen sufficed for each with the exception of Mr. Flavin, who is a big correctly and the independence of our own country."

The Chancellor proceeded to remark that if he directed his course in accordance with foreign customs, he would not imply a friendship, but vassalage. He continued: "Our foreign policy, now, as formerly, is determined neither by love nor hate, and neither by dynastic consideration nor ties of relationship, but solely by calm, deliberate consideration of the interests of the state. He little knows the Emperor who thinks that other motives sway him than those prompted by conscientious solicitude for the walfare.

and high level of civilization."

The Chancellor insisted that the government must endeavor with the co-operation of the reichstag, to reconcile the existing sharp conflict of interest in regard to the commercial treaties upon which depended the whose economic future. In view of the agricultural distress, an increase of the duties upon wheat and rice was indispensable. Those increases, however, were limited by the capacity of the country's industry for production and export, as well as regard for the more favorable conditions of life for German workers, for whose welfare the government was as anxious as the Social Democrats. The remark was called forth by interruptions on the part of the Social Democrats.

The Chancellor concluded with saying the bundesrath had not yet decided the extent of the proposed increases, but the government wished to regain a more acceptable basis of tariff agreement with other states. Any increased revenues derived from tariff reform, especially from duties on food products, would be applied to the establishment of benevolent institutions.

At the conclusion of his speech, Chan-

London, March 5.—Arrangements had been made for the simultaneous launching to-day of the four new warships, the Montagu, first class battleship of 14,000 tons; the Albemarle, first class battleship of 14,000 tons; the Drake, armored cruiser of 14,000 tons, and the Kent, armored cruiser of 9,800 tons, at the four principal ports of the United Kingdom, but owing to the unfavorable weather at Portsmouth the launching of the Kent had to be postposed. The four vessels aggregate a displacement of about 42,000 tons, which makes a total of 22,000 tons added to the navy afloat since the accession of King Edward. The Montagu was launched at Devouport, the Albemarle at Chatham and the Drake at Pembroke.

> KILLED THIRTY MEN. Horrible Result of Russian Railway Engineer Being Drunk.

London, March 6.—The Moscow correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "During the recent heavy storms fifty men were sent to clear snow out of a railway deep cut near Wolovio, on the Riax-an-Ural line. They were just leaving the cut when the train came down a: full speed and crushed about thirty men into shapeless masses, their clothing men into shapeless masses, their clothing clogging the axles and stopping the train. Inquiry shows that the engine driver and all the guards were drunk."

chief at Pretoria, and no London paper publishes a statement that he is there, but it is reasonably certain that Gen. Botha is in either personal or very close touch with Lord Kitchener.

To-day Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman will endeavor to extract some intormation from the government on the subject of the House of Commons.

The Associated Press is informed that Sir Affred Milner has gone in with the object of assisting Lord Kitchener in these negotiations, the length of which appears to be due to Gen. Botha's desire to consult with acting and to make terms applying to the whole Boer forces. Against this is Lord Kitchener's doubt as to Gen. Botha's ability to control Gen. Dewet and other leaders, as well as the internal opposition Gen. Botha is encountering. One of the best informed South African authorities said to a representative of the Associated Press last evening: "We have picked it up. It is impossible for the King's champion to steal away. Washington, March 6 .- After routine usiness had been transacted in the Senate to-day, Senator Morgan (Democrat, Alabama), addressed the Senate upon his resolution declaring the Clayton-Bulwer treaty abrogated. He said he would exclude from his argument any consideration of the Panama canarch 6.—The seconds of M. aldee and M. Andre Bufett to discuss the question of the real commission. The only prospect of the construction of the Nicaragua canal now by the United States rested upon the protocols which had been entered into between this country and the governments of Nicaragua and Costa Rica. He challenged any senator to point to a single proposition which Great Britain had made for a modification of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty as would admit of the canal. No such action, he said, had ever been taken by Great Britain between the protocols which had been entered into between this country and the governments of Nicaragua and Costa Rica. He challenged any senator to point to a single proposition which Great Britain had made for a modification of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty as would admit of the canal. No such action, he said, had ever been taken by Great Britain because the reconstruction of the canal, Great Britain had preserved a "profound and golden silence." He called the silence golden because, he asserted, Great Britain through Liverpool, which was the commercial centre of the World, was being enriched, and the United States, because of the lack of the Nicaragua canal, was contributing to the enrichment of Great Britain.
