OBITUARY

Patrick O'Leary.
Many friends throughout New Brunswick will hear with regret of the death of Mr. Patrick O'Leary which took place Sunday at the Hotel Dieu Hospital. Mr. O'Leary was one of Campbellton's best known citizens. The funeral was held Tuesday morning. Rev. Fr. Wallace officiating and it was very largely attended.

On Saturday evening the 1st inst. the people of Matapedia and vicinity were shocked to learn that two more victims were added to the list of railway crossing accidents and that Charles Delaney a much respected citizen of this place and his little niece Kathleen Delaney had been struck and killed while attempting to cross the railway at St. Alexis Station.

Mr. Delaney who lived near to the station about one mile distant was engaged in the management and care-taking of the fishing property of Messrs. Cobb & Coaden of New York, and had come to St. Alexis Station for his mail. He had received his mail and after chatting with the postmaster and station agent had started to drive home. The highway crosses the railway a few hundred feet from the station and in order to cross the main track one must also cross the siding which is nearly always blocked with cars with scarcely room left for horse and sleigh to pass, and on this particular night there were three cars on the siding and in order to get over the main line Mr. Delaney had to pass close around the end of these cars and in so doing was unable to see the approaching train until he was onto the main track. At the time of the accident there was a terrific snow storm raging which prevented him from hearing the train. As he came onto the main line he evidently saw and realized his danger and made an effort to escape and save his little companion as the position they were found in showed that his first thought and last effort had been the safety of the little girl and that he had died trying to save her.

He was born forty-two years ago and was just in the prime of life, highly esteemed and respected amongst his fellow men especially with those who knew him best, for seldom is one privileged to meet one endowed with so many of the virtues and so true of the voice. Mr. Delaney was married to Miss Hannah Grenelle of Montreal who survives him and who has the sincere sympathy of the whole community. His little niece who shared his hard fate was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Murray of Campbellton and four brothers, Thomas, James, Richard and George all of whom have the sincere sympathy of their many friends.

The remains were taken to the home of his brother Mr. James Delaney and there prepared for burial. The funeral and burial which was in the Roman Catholic cemetery was one of the largest ever seen in this place testifying to the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

Besides his wife he is survived by one sister Mrs. Richard Murray of Campbellton and four brothers, Thomas, James, Richard and George all of whom have the sincere sympathy of their many friends.

The deceased was the father of fourteen children, seven of whom survive him, of the seven, four, William, Dan, Edward, and Annie reside in Mann's Settlement, Jack in Flatlands, James in Matapedia and Alexander in Ontario.

The Progressive Farmer

is the one who while looking to the future learns from the past.

He does not figure that because one year is a poor year or that at one time prices have been very low that they will always be low. The past indicates that occasionally there is a year of low prices on one thing or on many things but the next year usually sees a swing the other way and the low prices of a year ago have become the high prices of the present.

The progressive farmer gets ready for the planting season before it is here. He ploughs in the fall and has his land ready for an early season. He arranges for his seeds, his tools and his fertilizer before the spring is actually upon him.

This year especially is a year for big crops. This spring season will undoubtedly be an early one and a long one and it will give the farmer a chance to do his best.

Whether it is a year of low prices or of high prices the farmer with crops to sell is the farmer who will get the best returns. The farmer who uses a liberal supply of fertilizer will have the largest crops to market at the end of the year.
