The Education of the Farmer.

(By Rev. Henry How, B. A., Rector of St. Luke's Annapolis Royal.)

Many common words are frequently misused. Education is an unfinished process.

Education is the gradual refinement of an ideal man from the rudimentary faculties and talents given.

It is the drawing out of powers which without proper development had better never have been received.

Education is not the cramming of the brain with odds and ends of useful knowledge.

This would make the brain somewhat like a rag basket. Education is the gradual refinement of an ideal man from the rudimentary faculties and talents given.

from a very recent copy of the "Quarterly Review" this concluding statement of 1888 to 1890, 1891 and 1892 has been from 18,000 to 236,000.

This is an enlargement of 85,000 acres. Allowing only two barrels of apples from 40 trees to the acre, we have an increased yield of over seven million barrels.

Do we think that John Bull is not about to wake up and partially denude the outgoing tide of gold paid for Canadian apples?

During a shorter period, there has been an increase of acreage small fruit gardens of 36,000 in the year 1892.

We talk about the fruit area. We are not alone in this process. The market of the dear old Motherland will scarcely ever be better than it is today.

Do not, therefore, depend too much on specialists. What about our horses? Who has any suitable farm horses for sale?

I met a friend a few days ago, on his way to a sister province to buy for the American Lumbering Co., of Walton, Hants Co., several spans of suitable horses.

This is not creditable to this province or valley. I rebel at constantly giving well-earned certificates to ambitious boys and girls starting for the United States market.

We should like to see more factories in this valley for the consumption of our easily produced butter, eggs, cheese, fruit, bacon, beef, etc.

Why might not Lawrence town become the site for a good woolen mill, manufacturing the wool from the two thousand of "golden-fleeced sheep" that could graze on or about our N. and S. Mountains?

Who of this student is waiting school, or desiring to make of Nova Scotia raw materials? We need technical education to run these paying industries, and enterprise to draw our surplus monies deposited in our local banks at 3 per cent, and which will probably never see the light of day until the Judge of Probate declares the pro rata apportionment.

We have the men to build; we can raise the funds for the operation; we need technical schools to vitalize the hidden capital of the Province—the undeveloped mines and possibilities.

The proposal to increase schoolable numbers, if you will pardon the expression, our pasturage is poor.

This humid climate yields roots in abundance. We could furnish luxurious herbage. We need improved, permanent pastures. P. W. Hodson, Dominion Commissioner of Agriculture, writes that a deep crust of manure, and add the whitts as a meringue.

APPLE CUSTARD PIE. Beat the yolks of two eggs and mix with one-half cup of sugar until light and foamy, then beat in two cups of apple sauce, which has been strained through a fine strainer, and season with lemon extract. Bake with an under crust in a quick oven. Make a meringue of the whites of the egg, spread it over the pie as soon as it is done and brown lightly.

PUBBING SAUCE. Mix one tablespoonful of flour with half a cup of sugar, add half a pint of boiling water, boil a moment, and pour while hot over one egg well beaten, season with lemon or vanilla, and it will be ready to use.

CHAP PUDDING. One of the nicest cheap puddings is made by chopping fine half a pound of dates and two ounces of beef suet. Mix with the suet half a cup of raisins, and a quarter of a cup of currants, a tablespoonful of cinnamon, the juice and rind of grated lemon; add half a teaspoonful of soda to two tablespoonfuls of molasses. Stir the mixture into half a cup of molasses; add three well beaten eggs and a glass of fruit, well floured. Put in a greased pudding-mould and boil or steam continuously for two hours.

Stomach Troubles. A disordered stomach may cause a good deal of trouble. When the stomach fails to perform its functions the bowels become deranged, causing numerous diseases, the most fatal of which are cholera, typhoid fever, and dysentery. The important thing is to restore the stomach and liver to healthy conditions. For this purpose no better preparation can be had than Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. For sale by S. N. Some Savory Puddings. FIG PUDDING. Chop half a pound of figs and mix with a teaspoon of grated bread crumbs, a teaspoon of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, four beaten eggs and five ounces of candied orange and lemon peel; turn into a greased mould; steam two hours and a half. Serve with pudding sauce.

ORANGE PUDDING. Grate the rind of three oranges; squeeze over the juice of one lemon and the orange; mix with a pound of butter and the beaten yolks of half a dozen eggs; pour into a deep pudding dish and set in a hot oven to bake for fifteen minutes. Take out, spread with meringue, set back in the oven for one minute. Serve with lemon sauce.

LEMON PUDDING. Beat four yolks, beat the yolks of six eggs add to the lemon with two cups of sugar and half a cup of butter. Lick the bottom of a deep pudding dish with slices of stale cake; pour the mixture over and set in the oven to bake for twenty minutes. Take out; cover with meringue made of the whites of the eggs and a teaspoon of powdered sugar; together set in the oven to brown slightly, and serve with sauce.

TRANSPARENT PUDDING. Cream a pound of butter and sugar together; add eight well-beaten eggs; flavor the mixture with nutmeg. Line a pudding dish with this puff paste; pour the mixture in the dish and set in a hot oven for ten minutes. Serve without sauce.

ANGEL'S PUDDING. Beat four ounces of sugar and two ounces of butter together; add four ounces of sifted flour, a pint of thick cream and the beaten whites of four eggs; flavor with vanilla; bake in tart pans and cover with very stiff meringue.

Dislocated Her Shoulder.

Mrs. Johanna Soderholm, of Fergus Falls, Minn., fell and dislocated her right shoulder. She had a surgeon get it back in place as soon as possible, but it was quite sore and she was very much in pain. Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised for such cases, and she asked him to buy her a bottle of it, which he did. It quickly relieved her pain and enabled her to sleep, which she had not done for several days. For sale by S. N. Wears.

Household Discoveries. If women would adopt the fashion of wearing perfectly flat-soled shoes while they are performing their household labor, seven-eighths of their back pain would be relieved. Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised for such cases, and she asked him to buy her a bottle of it, which he did. It quickly relieved her pain and enabled her to sleep, which she had not done for several days. For sale by S. N. Wears.
